[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 15.—An all-night meeting here today attended by Mayor H. R. Albee and members of the Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club, resolutions were passed inviting the Seattle agents of the Royal Mail liner Glengyle [illegible] that vessel to Portland with the assurance that she would be furnished with men to discharge her cargo. Police protection was promised.

The meeting was the result of a call of longshoremen here to strike because efforts were made to unload the ships in Portland.

"Business men will rustle workmen in case of a strike," said the [illegible] "and we will give all possible protection that could be expected under the circumstances."

ACTRESS ACCUSED OF ALTERING PRESCRIPTION TO GET SOME MORPHINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 15.—Dorothy Russell, the daughter of Lillian Russell, was locked up in the West Forty-seventh-street police station tonight for altering a physician's prescription. The alteration consisted in writing in the word "morphine." It was clumsily done. She collapsed in her cell, and an ambulance was called. Arthur B. Taylor, an Arverne life saver, was arrested for presenting the prescription at a drug store.

"I was about to go to the hospital for an operation," she told Lieut. Sackett. "As it turned out, I did not go, but I needed the drug. I had to have it. You can't imagine my suffering. No physician was available. I did not think it wrong, in my extremity, to write what I did. Mr. Taylor had no knowledge of my intention."

COMMENT ON SITUATION.

By far the most serious development of the war affecting us was yesterday's order in council of the British government whereby, it is said, it will be next to impossible for the United States to conduct foreign trade of any kind with any nation. We haven't heard the last of it, either. The Dresden has been sunk by the British and Kitchener has told the House of Lords how the labor unions are delaying the progress of British arms.

The Mexican dispatches last night, especially the news of Mexico bearing the Washington date line, indicate that President Wilson has set himself to the task of "doing something." But there is no hint of how or when he is going to do it. We all know he wants to bring order out of chaos in Mexico—but when and how? There are enough bald heads already.

Coming Event.

THAW'S DAY IS TODAY.

Coveted Liberty May Be His.

Sheriff has an Automobile at High Gear to Rush Man to New Hampshire.

Seriously Expects an Order of Court that Virtually Means Freedom.

Serious Clash with Hospital Authorities Within Range of Probability.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 15.—Sheriff Grifenhagen made preparations today to take Harry K. Thaw back to New Hampshire by automobile tomorrow. He made these preparations because he seriously expects Justice Page will tomorrow make an order for Thaw's return to New Hampshire in compliance with the motion argued before him today by Thaw's lawyers.

The vigor with which the Thaw attorneys fought for their action and the seriousness with which the court listened to their contentions came as a surprise. It had been thought that the motion had been made chiefly to gain delay while the new habeas corpus proceedings could be got ready. Sheriff Grifenhagen took under advisement today the matter of holding Thaw in Ludlow-street jail or in quarters in a hotel, as he is now a civil prisoner. However, renewed reports were brought to his attention of what was described as a plan by Capt. John Lanyon, head detective for the prosecution, to seize Thaw forcibly the instant the court hands down its ruling should Thaw pass from the protection of the court.

Mr. Kennedy's remarks in his argument that the State had a right to abduct Thaw forcibly and take him back to Matteawan, gave the Sheriff pause, and he decided to keep him locked up in the Tombs for the present.

"Thaw is in my custody and I have some pretty good men," he said. "Any effort to seize him will be repelled with force."

It brought to a focus again the feud between the Sheriff and Lanyon in court on Saturday, which broke out in a fist fight. Grifenhagen said the reports of Lanyon's activities in having his men and waiting automobiles at the Criminal Courts building to rush Thaw to Matteawan accounted for the Sheriff's presence in court continually during the last hours of the trial.

"If we are ordered to take him back to New Hampshire, I shall take him there," said Sheriff Grifenhagen. "I shall take him to the border, drop him, and let him take care of himself."

LIFE THREATENED IN THAW CASE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—The supply of threatening letters, usual in all trials attracting wide attention, has begun trickling in to officials connected with the case of Harry Kendall Thaw, it was learned today. Although Thaw was acquitted Saturday in his trial for conspiracy, Deputy Attorney-General Cook, who has been aiding the prosecution, received today a letter with a Boston postmark threatening his life unless Thaw is released. Similar letters have been received by Special Deputy Attorney-General Kennedy.

Justice Page, in the Supreme Court, reserved decision today in the appeal of Thaw's counsel to have him returned to New Hampshire, whence he was extradited, to stand trial. Counsel for the State wishes him put back in Matteawan Hospital for the Criminal Insane, from which he escaped last summer.

MARIE BUSCH TO WED ATHLETE.

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED TO DRUMMOND JONES, FAMOUS TENNIS STAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—The engagement has been announced of Miss Marie Busch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch and granddaughter of the late Adolphus Busch, millionaire brewer, to Drummond Jones. Five months ago Jones, who is 27 years old went to work in the Busch family's engine plant to learn the business from the ground up.

Jones admitted today that he had made good and that the wedding would take place some time in April at the Busch home on Grant Farm, one of the show places of St. Louis county. Jones is a local tennis star and for six years was champion in doubles and singles in the Central States championship tournaments.

Miss Busch, who is 22 years old, is considered one of the handsomest of the St. Louis society girls and has traveled widely. She was presented to society three years ago at one of the most elaborate balls ever given in the city.

Anxious for His Freedom.

Harry K. Thaw,

A prisoner in New York this morning, but, who, before the day is over, may be well on his way to New Hampshire in the custody of the Sheriff of New York. The Sheriff has promised to return Thaw to New Hampshire whence he was extradited on an indictment for conspiracy to escape from Matteawan insane asylum, in the event the court orders his release today. He has been absolved of the charge of conspiracy to escape.

Tragedy.

TWO DEAD, FIVE HURT IN A MIDNIGHT BLAZE.

Fire Sweeps Through Apartment House and Traps Sleepers—Woman, Forced From Window Ledge, Jumps Three Stories Down to Net; May Die—Lieutenant Injured in Gallant Rescue of Fireman.

TRAPPED by flames that rushed through the Woodbury apartments, a three-story frame building at No. 214 North Olive street, early this morning, two women were killed and five persons injured, one perhaps fatally. The dead:

MRS. M. M. RICHARDSON, 70 years old, who lived in apartment No. 22.

AN UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN OF MIDDLE AGE.

The injured are:

Mrs. H. F. Avery, No. 336 Tenth street, in the harbor district, severe burns about the head, chest and arms; injured in jumping; probably will not recover.

T. J. Cox, railway clerk, No. 214 North Olive street, head, face and feet burned; overcome by smoke.

Lieut. H. J. Griffin, fireman, right wrist severely cut.

Frank Monahan, fireman, overcome by smoke.

Unidentified man, severely burned and overcome by smoke.

All were taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Shortly after midnight crossed wires started a blaze in the rear of the third floor and in a few moments the house was a furnace.

Trapped in a room on the second floor Mrs. Avery, scantily clad, climbed to the window ledge. The flames appeared behind her. Repeatedly she seemed on the point of jumping, but no life net was on hand and an excited crowd below roared again and again: "Hang on! Hang on!" Down the hill, fire apparatus bearing a life net, was stalled. Men with the net rushed forward and the crowd shouted again and again at the frantic woman. Flames puffed out of a window below and she drew back from the fiery blast. The room behind her became a seething furnace. Then the net appeared and she let go. Though caught by the net, she was injured by her fall, in addition to her terrible burns.

The dead were overcome by smoke and burned, and died soon after reaching the hospital.

Mr. Cox, on the same floor, was overcome by the smoke and found and carried out in the nick of time.

GALLANT RESCUE.

As the building began to crumble, the maddened crowd outside saw Lieut. Griffin dash into the building to hunt Monahan, who had gone in and not come out. Lieut. Griffin made his way to the second floor, battling against sooty, choking smoke, and with difficulty, found Monahan helpless, unconscious on the floor, enwrapped by poisonous fumes. He shouldered the limp body and, handicapped by a gashed wrist, bore Monahan to safety.

The fire was seen first by William Burback of No. 506 West Temple street, who turned in an alarm, then rushed back and helped rouse the sleeping occupants. He climbed a telegraph pole when he saw Mrs. Avery at a window, and from a point not many feet away from her, shouted encouragement till the net appeared and she jumped.

Among the first roused were the janitor, Augusto Dietz, and his wife, and with Patrolman Roeder, in face of danger and difficulty, they rushed through the halls, rousing the sleepers and steering the hysterical to safety.

WOMAN DARES DEATH.

The fire spread to a small house at the rear, No. 214½ North Olive street, where Mrs. C. H. Baker and a family named Freiche lived. Mrs. Baker became hysterical and rushed back into the burning building to rescue a canary bird. She was dragged away from certain death by policemen.

The Woodbury apartments were owned by Miss Isabella Wood. The loss to the building and contents is estimated at something less than $10,000.

Those who lived in the house are: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wilton, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hammersmith, Miss Helen Gray, Mrs. Martha McCormick and her son, Joe C.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Crew, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Darlington and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Varney.

In the midst of tragedy Mr. McCormick created some amusement when he would not budge from his apartment till he had secured his wooden leg.

Mr. Richardson's body was identified by a daughter, Mrs. O. A. Valla of No. 101 South Bunker Hill street.

Mrs. Avery, according to Mrs. Frye of No. 247 Crocker street, came to the city yesterday with her baby and left the infant with Mrs. Frye. Mrs. Avery has a husband living in the harbor district.

"Orders in Council."

LAYS A HEAVY EMBARGO ON OUR COMMERCE.

British Retaliation Against the Germans Practically Stops Foreign Trade.

Wilson's Mind Made up to Lodge the Strongest Protest that Ever Went from Washington to London. But if the English Pay no Attention to it, What are the People of the United States to do, is Asked.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 15.—President Wilson and high officials realize that the United States has cause for grave concern in the British orders in council issued today.

Those orders and their effect upon American commerce and industry are being studied with the greatest care with a view to making the most emphatic protest of which the United States is capable.

Simultaneously with the receipt of these orders the department was advised of notes from Sir Edward Grey, the British Minister for Foreign Affairs:

(1.) Formally rejecting the unofficial proposals made by Secretary Bryan contemplating the cancellation by Germany of the Berlin decree, establishing a "war zone" about the British Isles, provided Great Britain raises the blockade on foodstuffs consigned to Germany.

(2.) Informing the United States that the orders in council constitute the British reply to the "inquiries" addressed by Secretary Bryan to London with reference to the scope of the retaliatory policy proposed several weeks ago by the British Premier.

WILSON INFORMED.

The President did not have to read the notes to find that the British policy remained unaltered in spite of American objection. The orders in council were the most effective reply that could be made. As announced last Monday the British government declined to enter into any bargain with Germany as proposed by Secretary Bryan because she felt she could not trust Germany; secondly, because the German submarine blockade was regarded by her as illegal and ineffective, and, third, because she had no guarantee from the United States that the Berlin government after receiving an ample supply of foodstuffs might not re-establish the "war zone" decree, repeal of which was conditioned on the free entrance of food into Germany.

In view of the British orders, it may be expected that Germany under the conditions will not abandon her "war zone" about the British Isles. She issued that decree as an answer to the policy of her enemy to starve her into submission. Now that that policy has been formally expressed, she will seek by every means in her power to make the British people suffer as they are endeavoring to make her suffer. She may even retaliate further by declaring "good prize" every neutral ship touching at an allied port.

A BAD SITUATION.

The situation today is as bad as it can be. Neutral trade will be menaced if not completely destroyed by German submarines and German mines on the one hand and by British, French, Russian and Japanese cruisers on the other.

The government war risk insurance bureau, aware of what Great Britain proposed to do and of Germany's purpose to adhere to the Berlin decree, announced today that ordinary insurance would be denied the vessels and cargoes proceeding to the United Kingdom and on the continent of Europe north of the French port of Bordeaux and south of Christiania; to all ports on the Kattegat, the Baltic Sea and adjacent waters; to all ports on the Adriatic Sea, Black Sea and Bosporus, and to the port of Smyrna

BLAMES UNION LABOR FOR HAMPERING BRITISH.

Kitchener's Statement in House of Lords—Emphasizes the Great Problem of Keeping the Army in the Field Well Supplied — Worry on the Part of Authorities. A Remarkable Situation.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 15.—Earl Kitchener, Secretary for War, in a speech in the House of Lords, today referred optimistically to the military situation in general from the allies' standpoint, but he complained of the slowness with which munitions of war are being turned out. He emphasized what is worrying the war authorities more than any other phase of the task of throwing an army into the field—the great problem of keeping the British allied armies supplied with the vast amount of ammunition that the guns devour, an amount which will perhaps treble if the generally expected spring advance comes.

Blaming trade-unionism, with its restrictions, for some of the delay, he added: "I have heard rumors that the workmen in some of the factories have an idea the war is going so well that there is no necessity for them to work their hardest. I can only say that the supply of war material at the present moment and for the next two or three months is causing me very serious anxiety. The output of every round of ammunition has a large influence on the operations in the field."

TRENCH FIGHTING.

Kitchener said that only trench fighting had been possible for many weeks past, but that this had not affected the morale of the British troops. Recent occurences in the fight around Neuve Chapelle and Epinette showed how successfully the British troops have been able to take the offensive. He referred to the gallantry shown by the soldiers of India and he spoke eulogistically of the French army, which, he said, had made important progress at various points along the line, especially in Champagne. The situation in the Dardanelles was well in hand, the speaker declared, but he was unable to say more than has appeared in the press.

WILSON PUTS BACKBONE IN HIS MEXICAN POLICY.

Passive Observation Gives Way to Energetic Insistence and Notice is Sent that All Rival Factions will be Compelled Hereafter to Respect Foreigners and Their Property and Keep Communication Open.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—President Wilson has determined that all the rival factions in Mexico shall be compelled, if necessary, not only to respect the lives and property of foreigners, but to insure freedom of commercial communication between the United States and its southern neighbor.

This policy, enunciated in the last two notes sent to Gen. Carranza concerning the situation at Mexico City, was further developed by the dispatch of a communication informing the Mexican chief that unless the gunboat Zaragoza was recalled from its attempted blockade of the port of Progreso, the President of the United States "would be constrained to issue instructions" to the commander of the cruiser Des Moines "to prevent any interference" with American ships going to or from that port.

The purpose of this note apparently was achieved before it reached Vera Cruz, for the Navy Department received word today that the Zaragoza had put back to Vera Cruz "on account of the stress of the weather." The opinion of officials is that there would be no further attempt to blockade.

The American note was couched in terms as emphatic as the warning concerning conditions in Mexico City, relieved by the evacuation of Obregon. It set forth that if the American cruiser found it necessary to take steps to prevent interference with American ships, such a policy should not be interpreted as having any relation to "internal affairs in Mexico," but "in the interest of peace and amity" between the two countries.

Diplomatists who by instruction of their governments have been discussing Mexican affairs with the Washington government, interpret the latest developments as a change from a policy of passive observation to one of energetic insistence on the protection of foreign interests.

RESUME OF WAR FROM FRENCH STANDPOINT.

First Six Months of the Struggle Gives Confidence in Final Issue.

Plans of Gen. Joffre are Set Forth in the Statement, Explanations Given How and Why They Could not Always be Followed and in What Manner They Were Successful.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, March 15.—The Associated Press has received a historical review, emanating from French official sources, of the operations in the western theater of war, from its beginning up to the end of January—the first six months of the war. It is long, detailed and in some respects technical in the military sense; but it contains matter of absorbing interest, both for the layman and the expert.

The plans of Gen. Joffre are set forth and explanations given as to how and why they could not always be carried out, how they were modified from time to time, and in what manner they were successful.

The review closes with a resonant note of satisfaction at the results achieved and of the perfect confidence in the final issue.

The papers are too long to permit of their being given otherwise than in installments, which will be continued from time to time.

It would be understood that the narrative is made purely from the French standpoint. The first of the installments of the document is as follows:

CHAPTER I.

FRENCH SETBACK IN AUGUST.

The first month of the campaign began with successes and finished with defeat for the French troops.

Under what circumstances did these come about?

THE OPERATIONS IN ALSACE.

Our plan of concentration had foreseen the possibility of two principal actions—the one on the right between the Vosges and the Moselle, the other on the left to the north of Verdun-Toul line—this double possibility involving the eventual variation of our transports. On August 2, owing to the Germans passing through Belgium, our concentration was substantially modified by Gen. Joffre, in order that our principal effort might be directed to the north.

From the first week in August it was apparent that the length of time required for the British army to begin to move would delay our action in connection with it. This delay is one of the reasons which explain our failures at the end of August.

Awaiting the moment when operations in the north could begin and to prepare for it by retaining in Alsace the greatest possible number of German forces, the general-in-chief ordered our troops to occupy Mulhausen, to cut the bridges of the Rhine at Huningue and below, and then to flank the attack of our troops operating in Lorraine. This operation was badly carried out by a leader who was at once relieved of his command. Our troops, after having carried Mulhausen lost it and were thrown back on Belfort. The work, had, therefore, to be recommenced afresh, and this was done from August 14, under a new command.

Mulhausen was taken on the 19th, after a brilliant fight at Dornach. Twenty-four guns were captured from the enemy. On the 20th we held the approaches to Colmar, both by the Plain and by the Vosges. The enemy had undergone enormous losses and abandoned great stores of shells and forage; prevented us from carrying our successes further, for our troops in Alsace were needed elsewhere. On August 28 the Alsace army was broken up, only a small part remaining to hold the region of Thann and the Vosges.

THE OPERATIONS IN LORRAINE.

The purpose of the operations in Alsace was, namely, to retain a large part of the enemy's forces far from the northern theater of operations; it was for our offensive in Lorraine to pursue still more directly by holding before it the German army corps operating to the south of Metz. This offensive began brilliantly on August 14. On the 19th we had reached the region of Saarburg and that of the Etangs (lakes;) we held Dieuze, Morhange, Delme and Chateau Salins.

On the 20th our success was stopped. The cause is to be found in the strong organization of the region in the power of the enemy's artillery, operating over ground which had been minutely surveyed and, finally, in the default of certain units. On the 22nd, in spite of the splendid behavior of several of our army corps, and notably that of Nancy, our troops were brought back on to the Grand Couronne, while on the 23rd and 24th the Germans concentrated reinforcements—three army corps at least—in the region of Luneville, and forced us to retire to the south.

This retreat, however, was only momentary. On the 25th, after two vigorous attacks, one from south to north, and the other from west to east, the enemy had to fall back. From that time, between the Germans and ourselves, a sort of balance was established on this terrain. Maintained for fifteen days, it was afterward, as will be seen, modified to our advantage.

THE OPERATIONS IN BELGIAN LUXEMBURG.

There remained the principal business—the battle of the north—postponed owing to the necessity of waiting for the British army. On August 20, the concentration of our lines was finished and the general-in-chief gave orders for our center and our left to take the offensive. Our center comprised two armies, our left consisted of a third army, reinforced to the extent of two army corps, a corps of cavalry, the reserve divisions, the British army and the Belgian army, which had already been engaged for the previous three weeks at Liege, Namur and Louvain.

The German plan on that date was as follows:

From seven to eight army corps and four cavalry divisions were endeavoring to pass between Givet and Brussels, and even to prolong their movements more to the west. Our object was, therefore, in the first place, to hold and dispose of the enemy's center and afterward to throw ourselves with all available forces on the left flank of the German grouping of troops in the north.

On August 21st our offensive in the center began with ten army corps. On August 22 it failed and this reverse appeared serious. The reasons for it are complex. There were in this affair individual and collective failures, imprudences committed under the fire of the enemy, divisions ill-engaged, rash deployments, precipitate retreats, a premature waste of men, and finally the inadequacy of certain of our troops and their leaders, both as regards the use of infantry and artillery. In consequence of these lapses, the enemy, turning to account the difficult terrain, was able to secure the maximum of profit from the advantages which the superiority of his subaltern complements gave him.

In spite of this defeat our maneuver had still a chance of success, if our left and the British army secured a decisive result. This was unfortunately not the case. On August 23, at the cost of great losses, the enemy succeeded in crossing the Sambre, and our left army fell back the 24th upon Beaumont-Givet, being perturbed by the belief that the enemy was threatening its right.

On this same day, the 24th, the British army fell back after a German attack upon the Maubeuge-Valenciennes line. On the 25th and 26th, its retreat became more hurried. After Landrecies and Lecatean it fell back southward by forced marches. It could not from this time keep its hold until after crossing the Marne.

HOW TO SEE "THE EXPOSITION BEAUTIFUL."

The next excursion under the auspices of The Times management to the Panama-California Exposition leaves Los Angeles at 8:00 o'clock Saturday morning, March 20th, leaving San Diego on return trip at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

New attractions at no increase in price have been added to the excursion features. An enjoyable two days' outing, sightseeing at the Southland's Beautiful Fair. Boat-riding in San Diego waters. Admission to the Santa Fe's Painted Desert—a real Indian village. Admission to the Panama Canal exhibit; admission to the Hawaiian village. Concerts by inspiring bands and the mammoth outdoor organ. Meals at Levy's Cristobal Cafe on the grounds. Accommodation at hotel, street car fares to and from fair grounds, transportation on train, in fact, every necessary expense for ten dollars.

Read what one lady said of the last Times excursion: "The excursion trip was 'the best ever' and we sure had our money's worth and then some."

Take a party of friends and have an enjoyable outing. Make your reservations at once! Take the ladies, they'll be delighted. We can only take a limited number and reserve the right to refund all money collected for the purposed excursion.

For further information write, telephone or call on the Manager of the Times Excursion Department, First and Broadway. Phone Main 8200; 10391. Might just as well "do it now!"

BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville, L. I.) March 15.—Among items given out today for publication by the Overseas News Agency were the following:

"Constantinople reports that eight British warships have been damaged and a great number of the allies have been wounded in the fighting in the Dardanelles and taken to Malta. There are no enemy soldiers along the Dardanelles. The attacks on Smyrna have failed. The bombardment ceased two days ago.

"According to the Copenhagen Politiken a dispatch from Athens reports the losses to the British fleet in the Dardanelles fighting as two torpedo boat destroyers and three minesweepers sunk and four battleships disabled and 700 men of landing parties and 450 men of the ships' crews killed or wounded.

"The Austrian press agency at headquarters reports that the new Russian offensive in the Carpathians has completely failed and that the Russian losses have been very heavy. The Lemberg garrison has been weakened by the defensive in the Carpathians and the army besieging Przemysl considerably reduced.

"The Bulgarian government has ordered its frontier closed to travelers from Servia on account of the danger of a spread of the typhus fever epidemic.

"Rotterdam says four more British shipping firms have ceased their services in the fear of submarine attacks on their vessels."

Despite Precautions.

SAW HUGE SUBMARINES IN A GERMAN HARBOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Extraordinary precautions adopted by German port authorities to prevent foreigners learning anything about their coast defenses or havens of the German navy are described in a communication which Washington officials have just received from an officer of an American steamer.

The officer says that before entering the port of Bremerhaven his vessel was boarded by about sixty Germans, who took complete command of the ship, sending the captain and every one of the officers and crew down below, where they were shut in with closed ports until the vessel was at its berth.

The movements of both officers and crew afterwards were closely restricted as long as they were in port. Nevertheless, this officer speaks of the extraordinary number of submarines he saw, some of them very much larger than anything he had ever seen in this country. He says he was told also that the Germans were turning out these vessels at the rate of one a day.

RETALIATION THEY CALL IT.

But it Hurts America About as Much as Germany.

Text of the Order in Council Issued by the British.

Decision that may Give Our Commerce Dry Rot.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 15, 1:30 p.m.—The British order in council decreeing retaliatory measures on the part of the government to meet the declaration of the Germans that the waters surrounding the United Kingdom are a military area, was made public today.

The text of the order in council follows:

"Whereas the German government has issued certain orders which in violation of the usages of war purport to declare that the waters surrounding the United Kingdom are a military area in which all British and allied merchant vessels would be destroyed irrespective of the safety and the lives of the passengers and the crews and in which neutral shipping will be exposed to similar danger in view of the uncertainties of naval warfare;

"And whereas in the memorandum accompanying the said orders, neutrals are warned against entrusting crew, passengers, or goods to British or allied ships,

"And whereas such attempts on the part of the enemy give to His Majesty an unquestionable right of retaliation,

"And whereas His Majesty, therefore, has deferred to adopt further measures in order to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany, although such measures will be enforced without risk to neutral ships or to neutral or to noncombatant life, and in strict observance of the dictates of humanity,

"And whereas the allies of His Majesty are associated with him in the steps now to be announced for restricting further the commerce of Germany, His Majesty is, therefore, pleased by and with the advice of his Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows:

"First, no merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after March 1, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage to any German port. Unless this vessel receives a pass enabling her to proceed to some neutral or allied port to be named in the pass, the goods on board any such vessel must be discharged in a British port and placed in custody of the marshal of the prize court. Goods so discharged, if not contraband of war, shall if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, be restored by order of the court and upon such terms as the court may in the circumstances deem to be just to the persons entitled thereto.

"Second, no merchant vessel which was sailed from any German port after March 1, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage with any goods on board laden at such port. All goods laden at such ports must be discharged in a British or allied port. Goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the marshal of the prize court, and if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, shall be detained or sold under the direction of the prize court.

"The proceeds of the goods so sold shall be paid into the court and dealt with in such a manner as the court may in the circumstances deem to be just, provided that no proceeds of the sale of such goods shall be paid out of the court until the conclusion of peace, except on the application of a proper officer of the crown, unless it be shown that the goods had become neutral property before the issuance of this order and provided also that nothing herein shall prevent the release of neutral property laden at such enemy port on the application of the proper officer of the crown.

"Third, every merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after March 1, 1915, on her way to a port other than a German port and carrying goods with an enemy destination, on which are enemy property may be required to discharge such goods in a British or allied port. Any goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the marshal of the prize court, and unless they are contraband of war, shall, if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, be restored by an order of court upon such terms as the court may, in the circumstances, deem to be justified to the person entitled thereto, and provided that this article shall not apply in any case falling within articles two or four of this order.

"Fourth, every merchant vessel which sailed from a port other than a German port after March 1, 1915, and having on board goods which are of enemy origin, or are enemy property, may be required to discharge such goods in a British or allied port. Goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the marshal of the prize court and if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, shall be detained or sold under the direction of the prize court. The proceeds of the goods so sold shall be paid into the court, and be dealt with in such a manner as the court may in the circumstances deem to be just, provided that no proceeds of the sale of such goods shall be paid out of the court until the conclusion of peace except on the application of a proper officer of the crown, unless it be shown that the goods had become neutral property before the issue of this order and provided also that nothing herein shall prevent the release of neutral property of enemy origin on application of the proper officer of the crown.

"Fifth, any person claiming to be interested in or to have any claim in respect of any goods not being contraband of war placed in the custody of the marshal of the prize court under this order or in the proceeds of such goods may forthwith issue a writ in the prize court against the proper officer of the crown and apply for an order that the goods should be restored to him or that their proceeds should be paid him or such other order as the circumstances in the case may require.

"The practice and procedure of the prize court shall, so far as applicable, be followed mutatis mutandis in any proceedings consequential upon this order.

"Sixth, a merchant vessel which has cleared for a neutral port from a British or allied port or which has been allowed to pass as having an ostensible destination to a neutral port and proceeds to an enemy port shall, if captured, or on subsequent voyage, be liable to condemnation.

"Seventh, nothing in this order shall prevent the relaxation of the provisions of this order in respect of the merchant vessels of any country which declares that no commerce intended for or originating in Germany or belonging to German subjects shall enjoy the protection of its flag."

AWFUL SLAM AT THE HOBO.

In New York They Hold Him for the Foot and Mouth Malady in Animals.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—A campaign against tramps as spreaders of the foot and mouth disease among cattle was begun today by Sheriff Weisendanger of Westchester county, a large portion of which was recently quarantined. The Sheriff requested the police of all communities in Southern Westchester to round up all tramps, who, it is declared, by sleeping in a barn where there are infested cattle, carry the germs to another farm. Killing of the herds of two farmers in the affected territory, numering 200 head, will be carried out tomorrow by Federal inspectors.

FURIOUS FIGHTING AT UZSOK PASS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

VIENNA (via Amsterdam to London) March 15.—The following official communication was issued today:

"In the Western Carpathians Sunday was calm.

"North of the Uzsok Pass there was fighting of a furious character. Strong Russian forces made an attack there yesterday and advanced to near our positions, where for a time they maintained themselves. Our troops during the afternoon made a counter-attack, throwing back the enemy on the entire front and capturing four officers and 500 men.

"On our positions on both sides of the Opir Valley the enemy, reinforced repeatedly, tried to gain the heights, but failed with heavy losses. An especially heavy attack collapsed Sunday, and in view of the losses these offensives probably will not be repeated. A thousand prisoners were taken in this battle.

"South of the Dneister our counter-attacks gained ground, the Russians being pushed back from several front sectors.

"In Poland and West Galicia there have been only artillery duels."

merce of the United States is now moving between Scylla and Charybdis. It is menaced by Germany and it is menaced by the allies. An American ship, sailing on the most innocent mission in the South Pacific, may be captured. An American ship, the William P. Frye, was destroyed by the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich and no formal expression of regret and of intention to make reparation has been received, though it is expected.

The administration realizes it must make a protest, but what to do when that protest is disregarded is another question. It is noticed by the State Department that in the orders in council it is specifically stated that "the allies of His Majesty," are associated with him in the "steps" announced. In short, the American protest will be a protest against the action of the allies—Great Britain, France, Russia, Servia, Montenegro and Japan.

It is likely the administration will keep careful note of all seizures so that when the war ends the government will be in a position to press claims for damages.

But in the meantime, American trade will be restricted.

Next Two Vessels to be Built will Have a Second Tier of Compartments in the Hull and Double Sides to Localize the Explosions from Submarines or Mines.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Plans are being prepared by the Navy Department in the light of the European war for the two great dreadnaughts recently authorized by Congress, whereby provision has been made for the construction within the hull of a second tier of compartments, next to the skin of the ship and on the sides, to keep out torpedoes.

It is expected that a torpedo discharged from a submarine, even if it penetrated the ship's side, would explode harmlessly in the outer compartment, and that the damage would be so localized that the ship would not be sunk, by reason of the double protecting walls of steel.

Some sacrifice of the double bottoms of the ships will be involved to secure this extra protection on the sides, but it is estimated that the damage from torpedoes directed against the sides probably will be much greater than that likely to arise from mines exploded under the ship.

HILLIARD (Mo.) March 15.—Mrs. Maddie Uhl of Los Angeles has cleared the mystery surrounding the grave digging at Hilliard by the announcement that she could not realize that her father, Rev. R. D. Williams, was dead and that she wanted to see him before she departed for California.

Mrs. Uhl is the eldest daughter of the late minister. At the time of his death she was in the southern part of California and it was several days before she could be notified. The body was held a week awaiting her arrival, but the burial took place before she could reach Hilliard. She says they did not want to exhume the body during the day as it would cause too much publicity, so they opened the grave under the cover of darkness.

Mr. Sunday came here at the request of the Legislature. He took his text from Second Kings II:2, "Be thou strong, therefore, and show thyself a man."

If every man lived right today, he said, no boy would go wrong tomorrow.

Labor.

TWO MILLION UNEMPLOYED.

Their Earning Capacity is a Billion and a Quarter.

That Amount is Needed to Start New Enterprises.

Theodore N. Vail Tells How to Put Them to Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—There are 2,000,000 persons unemployed in the United States whose yearly earnings should be about $1,250,000,000, says Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in the annual report of the company, issued today. These unemployed are now living at the expense of their savings, their friends or the public, he says, and what is needed to bring about their re-employment and the return of prosperity is a restoration of conditions which would inspire confidence in the securities of public service and manufacturing enterprises to enable them to obtain capital for extension and improvement.

A billion dollars a year is needed, he asserts, to put these enterprises in a position to meet the demands of the country both as "growing" and "going" concerns, and if they could begin the expenditure of even a part of that sum, "it would restore the normal conditions of employment, expenditure, consumption and production."

Most vital to the restoration of these conditions, Mr. Vail declared, is the question of public control and regulation of public service enterprises, which, he points out, are, when prosperous, large employers of labor and large purchasers and consumers of all varieties of products and manufactures.

PLEA FOR REGULATION.

Mr. Vail pleads for regulation that "will be thorough and effective and at the same time equitable, just and practicable." Remarking that in the past the position of public service companies had been made difficult by the activities of "irresponsible demagogues," he expressed the belief that the public would "see that justice is done" as it had "never remained complaisant when brought face to face with disturbance, uncertainty and unemployment, caused by too drastic action or too radical legislation upon economic conditions or industrial enterprises.

"Control and regulation can become destructive instead of constructive," he continues. "They can delay and paralyze commerce. They can, through decrees of inexperienced officials, impose unnecessary burdens and unnecessary expenditure upon corporations. They can require too many regulations and theories of operations and too many undeveloped experiments in plant and equipment. Demands of labor for increased wages and shorter hours and demands of the public for increased service must be met by increased revenue produced by increased rates. The irreducible minimum in unit expenses has been reached in some industries and soon will be in all.

"A corporation, no more than an individual, cannot be bound hand and foot and yet be active or give good service. Bankrupt public service in time means bankrupt communities."

Mr. Vail cites the falling off in the telephone business—"the last to feel depression and the first to recover"—as indicative of the business reaction since the European war. The increase of the number of subscribers' stations last year was only 76 per cent. of the number added in 1913 and the smallest in any of the four previous years, according to the report.

UNION SLUGGER IS CONVICTED.

NEW ORLEANS PRINTER GIVEN THREE MONTHS IN JAIL.

He is Accused of Assaulting a Proofreader Late at Night—Attempt to Prove an Alibi Sounds Like a Time Schedule to the Court and is Disbelieved.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—Fred S. Hausner, the striking union printer who was found guilty of assaulting Winchester F. Speight, a proofreader on The Times-Picayune, several days ago, was sentenced to serve three months in the parish prison and pay a fine of $100 by Judge Fisher of the First City Criminal Court today.

The case was appealed by Henriques & Otero, attorneys for Hausner. His appeal bond was $500.

Hausner and two other striking printers were arrested after Speight was assaulted. He positively identified Hausner as the man who walked up to him and attacked him on Camp street. The other two were released as Speight did not identify them.

Several of the strikers appeared at the trial as witnesses for Hausner and sought to prove an alibi for him. The judge did not believe the testimony. The half-dozen or more witnesses called in Hausner's behalf all testified to show that Hausner might have been anywhere but on the scene of the assault at the time it occurred. Judge Fisher remarked that the alibi was as accurate as a time schedule, too accurate to carry conviction.

moralized by the general abstention from labor of the union longshoremen, who today extended the boycott established last week against the Royal Mail liner Glengyle because she discharged part of her cargo at a wharf in Vancouver, B. C., where truckmen were on strike.

The Glengyle got a crew of men here from the Hotel Liberty, the city home for destitute workmen, and for three days has been trying to unload her Seattle cargo. The men are inexperienced and are making slow progress.

Without warning union longshoremen today failed to appear to unload the American-Hawaiian liner Ohioan and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Sado Maru, though neither ship had touched the boycotted Vancouver wharf.

The union men also failed to furnish full crews for handling of Alaska Steamship Company freight, although the company does no business with the Vancouver wharf. The Pacific Coast Steamship Company, which sometimes uses the forbidden wharf in Vancouver, was also delayed.

There has been no disorder of any consequence along the wharves. A few extra police are on duty. The scale of wages is not a matter of dissension here.

The attempt to unload the Glengyle is expected to bring about a general strike of union longshoremen and the trouble may extend all along the Pacific Coast.

The Seattle labor unions, which assisted in equipping the Hotel Liberty, are enraged at the hotel furnishing men to unload the Glengyle. The hotel previously had provided a crew for a sailing vessel. The Seattle Central Labor Council, whose president is a member of the City Council, is expected to protest to the latter body.

Late today all the lines affected assembled gangs obtained from quarters frequented by unemployed men and began working their cargoes. The employers said the union had demanded that instead of picking the crews at wharves, as has been customary, application must be made to the longshoremen's hall and only such men engaged as selected by the union's agents. The companies refused to consider this demand, which was not a part of their agreement with the union, and decided to employ only non-union longshoremen.

The Russian volunteer fleet steamer Yaroslav, carrying American artillery and ammunition for the Russian army, and which was delayed by the strike, sailed from Vancouver for Vladivostok Saturday night.

BRITISH SEIZE AMERICAN FIREMEN

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 15.—Five firemen of the American line steamer New York, which arrived at Liverpool yesterday, were taken from the steamer today, charged with making false declarations. The men were described as Austrians and Germans and were sent to prison for six months.

A sixth firemen who insisted that he was an American was remanded for further hearing.

BRITAIN ADMITS SHIPS ARE LOST.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 15.—The British steamers Florazan, Headlands and Hartdale, torpedoed by German submarines, all have sunk, according to an announcement made by the British Admiralty today.

Earlier reports held out the hope that these vessels had not been destroyed and might be brought into port.

THE WEATHER BACK EAST.

Snow Ends the Touch of Spring in the Middle West, While the South has Rain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 15.—Snow and rain today ended Chicago's brief touch of spring. Temperature was 39 deg. and the snow speedily became slush. Snow fell in Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and generally over Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio and Tennessee had rain. For the first time in four months the States and Canada seem to have no below-zero weather, Western Canada, Northern Minnesota and North Dakota reporting 12 deg. above today. New Orleans is still 12 deg. colder than Los Angeles. Other temperatures:

PHOENIX FIRES CITY MANAGER.

BUT FARISH REFUSES TO GO AND MATTER IS TAKEN INTO COURTS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 15.—W. A. Farish, city manager, was removed from office today by the City Commission, but refused to surrender his office to Robert Craig, named in his place. The case will be taken to the courts.

The removal of Farish was preceded by turbulent scenes during which George U. Young, Mayor of the city, and Col. J. H. McClintock, a former Rough Rider, almost came to blows. County officials were summoned to prevent trouble.

Farish was alleged to be incompetent. Attorneys representing him said they would base their suit in court on the ground that no legal charges were lodged against Farish.

Miner on Trial for Murder.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) March 15.—The trial of Louis Zancanelli, a former striking coal miner, charged with the murder of G. W. Belcher, a detective, began here today. Belcher was shot on a street in Trinidad November 20, 1913. He had been active in the service of the coal companies.

Blames Union Labor.

by failure to get sufficient labor and the necessary factory facilities. He said:

"The supply of war material is now and for the next month or two will be a very serious consideration. It is causing me serious anxiety. It is absolutely essential that the output of ammunition must be increased. To do so is of the utmost importance to the operations in the field."

Continuing, Earl Kitchener urged firms in certain lines to place their spare labor and machinery at the disposal of the government. He said he considered that men engaged in the supplying of munitions were serving their country as much as the men in the field and that a medal would be issued to workers on munitions of war on the successful termination of hostilities. The health of the British was remarkably good was another declaration made by the War Secretary, and a striking testimony to the value of inoculation.

Speaking of the Russian campaign Earl Kitchener remarked that the German attacks were either well held or had been driven back.

In conclusion the speaker said the government was considering arrangements by which armament firms should come under government control and their employees reap some of the benefits which the war had automatically brought to their employers. In some cases there has been a marked decrease in the output, due in a measure to drink, but "on more than one occasion the failure to work to a high standard had been due to the restrictions of the trade unions," Earl Kitchener declared.

The Secretary for War said he was satisfied that to mention this restriction on the output of war material would remove the difficulties which seriously hampered the progress of recruiting.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—Only one instance of a California school teacher being refused payment of a salary on the ground of non-citizenship is known, it was reported today by Edward Hyatt, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The payment of salaries to teachers is in the hands of the county officers, but it is probable that we would know of any refusals on the ground that a teacher was an alien, and we heard today from Lompoc, Santa Barbara county, of the first instance," said Hyatt.

"For fourteen years there has been a law in California prohibiting the employment of aliens in public work, but it was never applied to school teachers, and no one ever considered that they were included until Atty.-Gen. Webb on February 2 rendered a decision that teachers were included under the act.

"Since then hardly anything has been done about it except a general discussion. It has been taken under advisement, and I do not think it will be enforced for the present. Later we shall probably issue instructions to the schools, but that is not likely to occur until after the present contracts of the teachers expire in June."

A bill by Assemblyman Gebhart is now pending in the Legislature which modifies the law so that the prohibition will not apply to those who have declared their intention of becoming citizens. If the Gebhart bill is enacted alien teachers who do not apply for citizenship will be excluded from teaching in the public schools, said Hyatt.

HELP TEACHERS GET THEIR PAY.

Canada to Assist Instructors in California Schools.

Law Forbids Aliens from Drawing Salaries.

Question to be Laid Before Dominion Parliament.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 15.—William Gray of London, Ont., member of the Dominion Parliament, has notified the Department of Justice that 1500 Canadians who are teaching school in California are unable to draw their salaries as teachers because they have not become naturalized citizens of the United States. In addition, it is charged, twenty-eight professors and instructors in the University of California are in the same plight.

Enforcement of an old State law, Mr. Gray charges, is responsible for the present situation. County and State officials, it is asserted, are refusing to pay the teachers' salaries on the ground that the teachers are not American citizens. The department is investigating. Mr. Gray said that he would bring the case to the attention of the House tomorrow.

UNIVERSITY PAYS ALL SALARIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, March 15.—Officials of the University of California denied today the charge made by William Gray, member of the Canadian Dominion Parliament, that twenty-eight professors and instructors in the university here were unable to receive their salaries because they were not naturalized American citizens. The university officials said their attorney advised them that the recent opinion of the Attorney-General of California to the effect that it is illegal for aliens to draw State funds as teachers does not apply to the University of California. It was said all Canadians and other aliens receive their salaries regularly.

Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated condition of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

FEAR CRISIS AT TAMPICO.

Fifteen Thousand Carranzistas in Control of City.

Famine and Army of Villa Menace Great Port.

Two Thousand Americans are Notified to be Wary.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—The situation in Tampico, Mex., is rapidly becoming a crisis, according to information brought here today by a group of men who know the city well and have just returned from there.

Fifteen thousand Carranza troops are in possession of Tampico, the newest recruits of his army, it is said.

Many of these soldiers are only half-clad, few are armed, none know how to use the few machine guns at their disposal, and all are hungry. Famine and Villa's army menace the city, it is said.

Foodstuffs are dwindling rapidly. So critical is the situation, according to these men, that an order was issued recently providing a fine of 1000 pesos for feeding corn to cattle. As there is no other food for the beasts many persons killed their cattle, ate the meat they could, threw the rest away, and salted down the hides, rather than see the animals starve.

Two thousand Americans in the district around Tampico, so it was reported, have been notified by the American Consul to be prepared for an emergency and to assemble at once. These Americans are mostly employes of American companies operating oil wells in the district. Nearly every British oil company there has suspended business and many American plants are shut down. Oil production has sunk to the lowest minimum recorded in years, or to less than one-fifth of normal.

The army is entrenching its coils around the city, driving in the Carranza outposts and threatening an attack at any time. The assassination of John B. McManus in Mexico City was foretold in Tampico, and McManus was named as the victim days before he was killed, according to this group of Americans.

REQUEST THREE STATE ROADS.

HEARS ARGUMENTS OF MANY DELEGATIONS.

Pass, San Joaquin Valley and the Santa Barbara Forest Reserves are All Recommended for Improvement, but no Action is Taken by the Legislators.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—Delegations from the San Joaquin Valley, San Jose, Gilroy and Hollister appeared before the Senate and Assembly Roads and Highway Committees today urging passage of a bill appropriating $150,000 for preliminary work on a State highway from Gilroy, through the Pacheco Pass and Los Banos to connect with the State highway at a point between Merced and Fresno.

The proposed State highway would be ninety-five miles long and would form a 250-mile route from Fresno to San Francisco, which is shorter than the railroad mileage. It follows the stage road between Visalia and San Francisco before the railroad

H. McKaig of San Jose, secretary of the Yosemite-on-the-Sea Good Roads Association; J. G. McMillan, State Surveyor of Santa Clara county, and the Supervisors of Fresno and others of the joint committee that the lower San Joaquin Valley had now no good road to the Santa Clara Valley and coast, where man San Joaquin residents own summer homes.

They declared that the proposed road would establish a direct line from the San Joaquin Valley to the sea, that it would cut through the geographical centre of the most populous part of the San Joaquin Valley and the coast, that it would permit automobile travel from the south along the coast up the interior to avoid a long route through Niles.

The State Highway Commission has made an estimated cost of $850,000 for three distinct highways from the three San Joaquin to the coast, but the supporters of the road declared that the $150,000 would establish a first-class road for present purposes and eliminate all dangerous grades.

There are bills before the Legislature for an informal discussion of the commission, but the supporters of the road declared that it could vote money only one route, and sharp rivalry developed.

Assemblyman Sheridan of Ventura argued for the State route from Ventura to Nordhoff in Ventura county, saying that the bill called for only for a survey, and that a good road on that route was urgently needed, as it would be the only one for autos through the Santa Barbara forest, which conserves the water supply of Ventura county.

Delbrueck Tells the W... How the War will End.

Guarantee Required that Allies will Stay "Put."

Budget Adopted Without Dissenting Vote.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 15, 9:45 a.m.—The Reuter dispatch from Berlin via Amsterdam quotes the German Minister of the Interior and Vice-Chancellor, Clemens Delbrueck, as delivering a speech in the upper chamber of Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired.

"If we were satisfied merely with repelling the enemy," said the Vice-Chancellor, "we should soon have peace. But we cannot rest content with that alone; we shall not sheathe the sword until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not rise against us again. Discussion of these questions at the present moment would further German interests."

Herr Delbrueck spoke after the upper chamber had adopted the budget without discussion. This is declared unprecedented, adding:

"It shows that all parties in Germany now are united by a firm determination to win the war which has been forced upon us.

"Our enemies have been severely defeated by our victorious troops," continued the Vice-Chancellor, "and they are now going to starve us, waging war against women and children instead of armies and fleets."

After reference to the agricultural and economic resources of Germany, he said:

"We are organized from top to bottom and bound together for this purpose. Those who are compelled to remain at home also will do their duty by contributing to the victory.

"France wants the provinces lost in '71; Russia wants to destroy province of Prussia; England wants to destroy German commerce and sea power. But what our enemies want to be accomplished—the loss of Germany as a part of our colonies—is of secondary importance compared with the preponderating influence on the world which we have won.

"On the other hand, we have a great industrial section of Russian Poland in our possession. There are no enemies on German soil; all their efforts to destroy Germany have been frustrated."

At the conclusion of Herr Delbrueck's speech the Prussian Diet adjourned to May 27.

GUTIERREZ SETS UP HIS CAPITAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) March 15.—A report that Gen. Eulalio Gutierrez, former Provisional President of Mexico, has established a capital at Moctor Arroyo, Nuevo Leon, Mex., was brought here today by Capt. George J. Head of the local Texas National Guard. Head returned from the vicinity of Monterey, which is about 150 miles north of Moctor Arroyo. He said Gutierrez has several of his Cabinet members there and that he claims he has not resigned the provisional Presidency.

NEW AGENCY IN WASHINGTON.

GUTIERREZ HAS CONFIDENTIAL BUREAU IN CAPITAL.

His Object is to Bring Before the American People a Phase of the Situation in Mexico He Believes has not been Properly Presented. Jose Vasconceles in Charge of It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A new Mexican "confidential agency" was set up in Washington today to rival the Carranza and Villa establishments and bring prominently before the American government an element in the complicated situation below the Rio Grande, to which so far scant attention has been paid. Jose Vasconceles is in charge, and he represents Eulalio Gutierrez, head of an independent movement in Central Mexico, and said to be backed by some 40,000 soldiers.

Gutierrez was elected provisional President of Mexico by the Aguascalientes convention and for a brief period was ruler in Mexico City. Vasconceles, who was Minister of Public Instruction in his Cabinet, reached here today after an exciting journey and went directly to the State Department to lay the object of the Gutierrez campaign before Leon Canova, chief of the Mexican division of the Latin American bureau. This object, he said, was the reassembling of the legally-chosen delegates of the Aguascalientes convention for the selection of a provisional president.

Vasconceles reached the town of Rio Grande, on the Mexican border near Matamoros, three days ago, after a 1200-mile ride on horse back with a detachment of troops. Four of his men were shot down by Carranza soldiers, he said, as he crossed to the American side. Stopping only to get some clothing, he took a train for Washington.

CHASED OUT BY VILLA.

Vasconceles said his chief had ordered Gens. Villa and Zapata deposed and was chased out by Villa in consequence.

"With him," he said, "went 2000 loyal followers, including Gen. Robles, Minister of War; Gen. Lucio Blanco, Minister of Interior, and myself.

"Aguirre Benavides, sub-Secretary of War, was in San Luis Potosi at the head of 20,000 convention troops, and we started for that city. We arrived at Pachuca, where we communicated to the United States government and the Governors of the Mexican States and military chiefs a proclamation stating that Villa and Zapata had been deposed from their commands and that they should take orders only from Gen. Gutierrez. We failed to get in touch by telegraph with other forces, as Villa took command of the telegraph lines, and so we started from Pachuca for San Luis Potosi to join the bulk of our troops. We selected the mountainous road of Huasteca.

"On our second day out the Carranzistas attacked us and we were forced to change our route. They had only 500 men, but we could not waste time fighting, as our object was to reach San Luis Potosi quickly.

"We were two or three weeks on the road to San Luis Potosi and when we arrived in the vicinity of the city we found that Villa had captured the city and that Aguirre Benavides had evacuated with his troops. We moved south to join them, but in the meantime Benavides was attacked and defeated at San Felipe. We finally were able to join him, but he had divided his forces, sending them to various parts of Mexico. He had 800 men with him. Together we moved north of San Luis Potosi to join the troops of Gen. Matias Ramos, who had gone north after the evacuation of the city by Benavides. Ramos had with him the original followers of Gutierrez, who had fought against Huerta. The forces of Gen. Carrera Torres and Gen. Cedillo, being a force of 20,000 men, united with us and pledged their continued allegiance to the convention.

GUTIERREZ HEADQUARTERS.

"Gen. Gutierrez has established his headquarters at Doctor Arroyo, in the State of San Luis Potosi, and from here will direct his campaign against Villa, Carranza and Zapata."

Vasconceles declared that Carranza, Villa and Zapata did not have with them the delegates of the original Aguascalientes convention. He said the convention which met at Mexico City after the sessions at Aguascalientes was made up of delegates chosen by Villa and newly-admitted Zapata delegates. He told of the execution by Villa and Zapata of Garcia Aragon and David Berlanga, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the Aguascalientes convention.

"Gen. Gutierrez," said he, "does not want to constitute a new faction, but is fighting military rule as represented by Carranza, Villa and Zapata and will return the power vested in him only to the legitimately-organized convention."

Officials were given a list of the generals under command of Gutierrez, their location in Nuevo Leon, San Luis Potosi, Michoacan and Jalisco, totaling about 40,000 men.

Vasconceles is well known in Washington, having been here first with the Madero agency. Subsequently he was identified with Carranza and then with Villa.

Capt. Ryan Tells How Gunboat was Destroyed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—Capt. W. J. Ryan of the Ward line tug Auxilimar in today from Progreso, Mex., after telling how the Mexican gunboat Progreso was destroyed by an explosive concealed in a barrel of butter, assured the interviewers today that the State of Yucatan, Mex., had declared its independence. He said that Yucatan had now 40,000 men under arms to maintain her independence. Some of the alleged plans of the Yucatan government, he said, were unfolded to him by a party of forty, including several influential residents of Yucatan, transported March 2 from Progreso to Havana by the Auxilimar.

"I was told by some of the party," Capt. Ryan said, "that a movement was on foot in Yucatan to request the United States to recognize Yucatan's independence. Another plan was to establish a protectorate over Yucatan, somewhat similar to that exercised over Porto Rico, if this could be done without depriving the state of its sovereignty."

When the Auxilimar reached Havana, Captain Ryan said, the Carranza Consul there called for the ship's papers and lowered the Mexican flag which flew over the vessel. Although Capt. Ryan and the crew were not ordered to leave the vessel, they thought it best to do so.

"As matters now stand," Capt. Ryan said, "the Auxilimar is a boat without a flag or country. She is at present lying at anchor in Havana Harbor."

AS TO THE PROGRESO.

According to Capt. Ryan, the Progreso was blown up by what her officers supposed was a barrel of butter, just brought aboard.

"We were lying at anchor half a mile from the gunboat at the time," Capt. Ryan said.

"We were looking at the gunboat at the time of the explosion. As soon as we heard the report and saw that the Progreso was in distress we headed for her and took off some of her crew. Meanwhile the Progreso's officers tried to steer her into the shallows. They did not make much headway, however, for she sank soon after the explosion.

"Twenty men, standing forward around the supposed barrel of butter were killed and at least that many more injured. The explosion tore a big hole in the gunboat's bottom.

"The Morro Castle, a Ward liner, was in Port and after taking aboard the survivors, weighed anchor at once and started for Vera Cruz. Yucatan troops in control of the port—commandeered my tug and after putting aboard 15 or 20 men armed with rifles, set out in pursuit of the Morro Castle. When they caught up with her they called upon her to stop, but she disregarded the order and kept on her way. The tug then returned to port."

The Morro Castle flew the American flag.

Capt. Ryan said that the commander of the Progreso had been warned that feeling in Yucatan was high against the Carranza government, which he represented. When the Progreso entered the harbor, Capt. Ryan said, she was ordered by the Yucatan troops to leave. Instead her captain asked permission to take on supplies. This was given with the result that the gunboat was blown up by an infernal machine hidden in the supplies.

PASSES AWAY IN A COTTAGE.

ONE-TIME BELLE OF EUROPE DEAD IN SOUTH BEND, IND.

As the Countess Jeanne de Madre, Mrs. Peter Veuve was a Friend of the Princess Eugenie, Who Later Became Empress of France. Served as a War Nurse.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) March 15.—Mrs. Peter Veuve, who was Countess Jeanne de Madre, once a belle of European courts, and a friend of Empress Eugenie, died March 10 in her small cottage in South Bend, it became known today. She was 83 years old.

Mrs. Veuve was the daughter of Count Hippolyte Henri de Madre Desoursing, whose home was in Brussels. She was educated in a convent and while there became a close friend of Prifncess Eugenie, who became Empress of France. The Countess married a distinguished Frenchman. She then became a familiar figure in court circles of Belgium and France. When her husband died a few years later the Countess invested her fortune in the French Panama Canal project. When this fortune was gone she opened a toilet shop in Paris, and by catering to royalty amassed another fortune.

She was a nurse in the Franco-Prussian War. About 1880 the Countess came to America, where her son died. The son was a classmate at Sandhurst, Eng., with the Prince who is now King Alfonso of Spain. After her son's death the Countess married Peter Veuve, a Swiss, whom she had known in court circles in Europe. He made unwise investments and the Countess's fortune was swept away. Veuve brought his wife to South Bend and obtained employment in a watch factory.

FATHER NOT TOLD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DAYTON (O.) March 15.—William C. Beachey, father of Lincoln Beachey, has not been told of his son's death.

Mr. Beachey is a ward of the National Military Home here, but is now on a furlough, visiting friends at Lebanon. The parent is totally blind, and is in such a physical condition that friends today feared to break the news to him. Lincoln Beachey visited his father at the home last August.

Wilson's Mexican Policy.

parently clearing up, disposing of the threatened cutting off of the sisal hemp supply needed for harvesting the American grain crop, the Washington government tonight was confronted with a troublous condition of affairs at Manzanillo, a port on the West Coast of Mexico.

The British Consul there has appealed through the British Embassy here for a British man-of-war. He says the German Consul joins him in the request, as the condition of foreigners is "unbearable" and no American men-of-war are near by. This message was transmitted for the British Consul by wireless through Admiral Howard of the Pacific fleet, who at the same time took up the situation with the Navy Department.

"The American cruiser Cleveland has now arrived at Manzanillo and it is believed here she will be able to deal with the situation there without the aid of other warships.

The Carranza authorities at Manzanillo have been confiscating property. the food situation is bad and foreigners are generally apprehensive.

It is believed that representations of a strong character will be sent to Carranza concerning this situation, although it is realized that the first chief has difficulty in communicating with his forces on the West Coast of Mexico. The American Consul at Manzanillo will make representations to the local authorities, and Admiral Howard himself probably will go to the port to assist in relieving distressed foreigners.

With the work of Congress ended, President Wilson has been giving close attention to the Mexican affairs. The official reports show that there are five distinct movements in Mexico, and a sixth which is not engaging in military operations, but is endeavoring to influence the situation from the United States. This is what is known as the Mexican peace assembly, which recently met at San Antonio, Tex. Esquivel Obregon and Frederico Gamboa, former ministers in Huerta's Cabinet, are prominent leaders in it and have arrived in Washington to discuss the situation with officials of the United States government.

The five factions operating in the field consist of the Villa-Zapata coalition, controlling a broad strip running south from the American border to Southern Mexico; the Carranza forces, which occupy the eastern seaboard and some garrisons on the West Coast; the forces of Gen. Eulalio Gutierrez, occupying portions of the States of San Luis Potosi and Nuevo Leon, with columns operating in scattered parts of the republic; the band of Gen. Ines Salazar, operating in the State of Chihuahua and Sonora, in the vicinity of the Mexican Northwestern Railway, and independent troops of the State of Yucatan in revolt against Carranza and having no affiliation with any other faction in Mexico.

Colville Barclay, Counselor of the British Embassy, called at the State Department late today to inquire as to this government's advices in regard to the Progreso situation. He learned that the British steamer Wyvisbrook, as to which his inquiries were particularly directed, had sailed from Progreso for New Orleans several days ago, with 9000 bales of sisal. The American schooner Paul, from Mobile, is said to be the only merchant vessel now at Progreso.

Reports to the State Department today said the Carranza forces had practically abandoned the Tuxpam district, just south of Tampico, where they had lost control of all the oil fields and had sent their forces to Tampico.

Gen. Carranza has issued a decree suspending import duties on lard, sugar, flour, meat, crackers, grain and beans of all kinds, the purpose being to relieve the food scarcity, it is announced in a Vera Cruz dispatch. Many destitute persons are said to have arrived at Vera Cruz from interior points, and it is feared that unless prompt measures are taken to better the situation there the economic troubles will be much aggravated. It is reported that the wholesale dealers are unwilling to order large quantities of food supplies on account of the political situation and the fluctuating high rate of exchange.

BEACHEY FUNERAD SERVICES SET FOR WEDNESDAY.

Careful Investigation of the Aviator's Body Shows He Met His Death from Drowning, as a Broken Leg and a Few Minor Bruises are the Injuries Found.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Lincoln Beachey's desire to outrival his customary feats of daring in his well-tried biplane by similar intrepidity in his new German monoplane, before he had sufficiently tested its possibilities, is said to have been the direct cause of his death here yesterday.

Funeral services for Beachey will be held Wednesday afternoon at Elks' Hall here by San Francisco Lodge, No. 3, B.P.O.E.

The recovery of Beachey's body showed that he was drowned in forty feet of water a short distance from the exposition embankment when his monoplane embedded itself in the deep ooze which covers the bay's bed. His body was still firmly strapped in position, but apparently his injuries from the fall would not have caused death. His right leg was broken above the knee, and he had a number of minor cuts and bruises which may have been caused by his struggles to free himself from the entangling straps and wires.

Beachey was killed during his second flight of the day. He had flown upside down and looped the loop. His death came during his attempt to execute a perpendicular drop of about 2000 feet, which he had previously performed, righting his machine within a few hundred feet of the ground. Yesterday when he attempted to tip the elevator of the monoplane, the two wings crumpled successively, folding themselves about man and machine. The machine fell into the bay between the army transports Logan and Crook, near the government pier at Fort Mason.

Hillary Beachey, brother of the aviator, saw the fall.

Beachey was to have been presented with a gold medal by the Panama-Pacific Exposition yesterday in commemoration of his tenth year af flying.

Beachey was born in San Francisco in September, 1887. His mother lives in this city. He began his aerial career at the age of 18 as a balloonist.

Lieut. John C. Walker, Jr., of the Twelfth United States Infantry, a member of the army's aviation corps, who saw the fall, said that it must have been due to undiscovered structural weakness in the new monoplane.

It took more than an hour's search by divers and trolling with grappling hooks to locate the wrecked machine.

EXPECTED GREAT SPEED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 15.—A hundred and fifty miles an hour was the speed Lincoln Beachey, killed yesterday at San Francisco, estimated he could get out of the monoplane whose collapse sent him to his death.

A letter received here today by Hill Beachey, the aviator's uncle, said this, and added that a contract had been closed for daily flights at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Resolutions were adopted yesterday by the directors of the Sportsmen's Club of America, of which Beachey was a member, deploring his death, and sending sympathy to his mother in San Francisco.

The Board of Supervisors favored today a plan to create a fund for the erection of a monument in Golden Gate Park to the memory of Lincoln Beachey. Edward Rainey, secretary to Mayor James Rolph, Jr., was appointed treasurer of the fund.

The city officers will confer tomorrow with Panama-Pacific Exposition officials on the propriety of stopping for five minutes during the funeral all business in the city and also suspending everything on the exposition grounds.

Telegrams of condolence were received today by Mrs. Amy Beachey, mother of the aviator, from Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other prominent persons in various parts of the country.

Beachey is said to have left an estate of several hundred thousand dollars, much of it in government bonds.

RAILWAY WRECKS IN CIRCUSES ONLY.

IN FIVE YEARS THERE WILL BE NO MORE ACCIDENTS, STEVENS DECLARES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 15.—Predictions that within five years there would be no more railway accidents except those due to human fallibility were made today by T. S. Stevens, president of the Railway Signal Association, which began its annual meeting here. In addition, the National Railway Appliance Exposition, the Signal Appliance Association, the American Railway Engineering Association, the Roadmasters' and Maintenance of Way Association and the western division of the Railway Telegraph Superintendents' Association are in session.

More than 10,000 railway men and railway manufacturers will attend the various conventions, all working with the general aim of decreasing or eliminating the hazard in railway operation.

TELLER PLEADS GUILTY.

And He is Sentenced to Serve Five Years for It, Only the Sentence has Been Suspended.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) March 15.—A suspended sentence of five years in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., was imposed today by Federal Judge Killits on James J. Henahan, former paying teller in the Second National Bank here, after Henahan had pleaded guilty of embezzling $4700 to finance his wedding trip. The shortage has been paid by friends.

Classified Liners.

Times classified rates. The rate for inserting Want Ads in the Daily Times is 1c per word each insertion; in the Sunday issue, 2c per word each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under the following classifications: The rate for which is 2c per word daily, 25c per word Sunday, minimum charge 50c daily, 50c Sunday: "Society Meetings," "Personal Notices," "Lost and Found," "Auction Sales," "Miscellaneous," "Stocks and Bonds," "Money to Loan, Salary and Chattels," "Physicians," "Medical," "Dentists," "Sanitariums" and "Baths and Massage."

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 8 o'clock Saturday night. Other classified "Want" Liners, Lost, etc., received over counter or by telephone until 11 p.m. Saturday. Ads received after 8 o'clock Saturday night will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify." Rate 1½ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 90,000 copies, and more Liners are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times," Main 8200, Home 10291, any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephone advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times as payment for "Liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders for discontinuance or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Telephoned orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are considered by the office of publication, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute, no charge for advertising will be rebated unless the "Will order" number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

The Times constantly endeavors to render its patrons satisfactory and efficient service, and it will appreciate complaints of any failure to do so. Department for any material errors it may make in printed announcements.

Be quick to kick if things seem wrong.

But stick to us and make it strong.

INSTANT SERVICE FOR TIMES PATRONS.

For the convenience of persons who may desire to write to classified advertisements printed in The Times, special communications to this newspaper and letters "box" and other advertisements addressed to "Times" readers may be left at the following downtown buildings for the purpose indicated.

Collections will be made from these boxes every hour.

Each piece of advertising copy must contain the name and address of the advertiser, number of insertions, and if "box" number, it is to be stated that the announcement be printed.

AWAIT YOU AT NORTH WHITTIER HEIGHTS,

THE "CREAM" OF

LEMON, ORANGE, WALNUT AND AVOCADO LAND SUBDIVISIONS.

TRACTS OF 5 TO 50 ACRES. ABUNDANCE OF WATER.

An investment in a 5 or 10-acre unplanted tract at North Whittier Heights, if planted to trees and taken care of, in some of our one and two-improved lemon, orange or walnut orchards, not only means that you have made an investment which offers the greatest possibilities of returns of any horticultural or agricultural industry of all California, but it also means that you have secured the most ideal location for a home in all the world.

If you are contemplating an investment in citrus or walnut lands or groves, or if you are searching for the "ideal" location for a suburban country home, we invite you to go out in our auto with us to see North Whittier Heights. Many of the most influential orchardists of the Southland are investing in this property which is an assurance that it has the conditions necessary for success. Call, 'phone or write for full information and descriptive folder containing map of Southern California.

WAR DEPARTMENT IS IN EARNEST.

THE ARMY NO PLACE FOR CRIMINALS AND OUTCASTS.

Government Stands Squarely Behind Capt. Ryan, Who Criticised an Indianapolis Judge for Aspersions on the Enlisted Men and was Cited for Contempt of Court.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The War Department is standing squarely behind Capt. T. F. Ryan, recruiting officer at Indianapolis, who was recently cited for contempt of court for his criticism of a local judge, who attempted to sentence a prisoner to enlistment in the army. The captain has been instructed by the department to appear before the court and disclaim any intention of contempt. But he is to state that he acted on behalf of the Federal government, with a view of bringing before the public a proper conception of the attitude of the government in the matter and to represent that the action of the court is calculated to injure the army and prevent the enlistment of good men.

The Department of Justice will assign to the nearest district attorney the defense of Capt. Ryan if necessary, and the officer is instructed to decline to pay any fine with the understanding that if committed for contempt he will be promptly taken out under a writ of habeas corpus.

WANT MEAT RATES INCREASED.

F. A. Leland Says the Packers Have an Organization to Seek Preferences in Freight Charges.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 15.—F. A. Leland of St. Louis, chairman of the Southwestern Tariff Committee, completed his testimony today before Interstate Commerce Commissioner W. M. Daniels in the hearing on the application of forty-one western railroad systems for increases in freight rates on certain commodities. Mr. Leland had devoted two days to asserting that the railroads should have increases in rates on fresh meats and packing-house products amounting to about 3½ cents a hundred pounds. The proposed advances, he testified, were intended to equalize present rates with the cost of transportation and with rates prevailing as to other commodities.

Mr. Leland in his testimony said that packing-house interests had maintained an organization to seek preferences in rates and special facilities, and that when special facilities asked by the packers were not granted by the railroads the packers shifted their patronage to other roads.

KRAKAS INDICTED.

Man Implicated in Killing a New Britain Priest is Also Charged with Murdering a Policeman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WILMINGTON (Del.) March 15.—Peter Krakas, who, according to the police, is implicated in the murder of a priest and his housekeeper at New Britain, Ct., was indicted today for first-degree murder for the killing of a policeman here on March 6.

Barnard Montvid, who was arrested with Krakas after the shooting of the policeman, confessed last week, according to the authorities here, that Krakas was a member of the party that killed the priest and his housekeeper.

THE FATE OF A BRIDE.

Married but a Month, Oregon Woman is Found a Corpse at the Foot of a Well.

BONDING CONCERN RAISES CASH.

Commonwealth Company of Texas Complies with State Insurance Commissioner's Orders.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—An agreement was reached today in United States District Judge Van Fleet's court between the Commonwealth Bonding and Casualty Company and State Commissioner of Insurance John E. Phelps, whereby the company will raise $3000 and also make safe securities worth $3000 which the Commissioner did not regard as safe.

Judge Van Fleet continued for one week the temporary restraining order issued to prevent Commissioner Phelps from revoking the license of the company to do business in California, unless a check for $50,000, to make up an alleged deficiency in the reserve, was mailed by noon on March 10 from the home office of the company at Fort Worth, Tex.

ITALY AND AUSTRIA STILL FAR APART.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, March 14 (via Paris, March 15.)—The report current in Rome today that Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria, had absolutely rejected the idea of any territorial concessions to Italy, has been given authoritative denial. The situation in this regard seems to be that the little Austria is reluctantly disposed to concede is so inadequate compared to what Italy would accept that an understanding seems hopeless.

Premier Salandra spoke briefly in the Chamber of Deputies today on this subject.

His remarks are interpreted as meaning that the efforts to induce Austria to make concessions to Italy are proceeding under the guidance of Prince von Buelow, the German Ambassador to Italy.

MAKE BORDEAUX TERMINUS OF LINE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 15, 5 p.m.—The first of the French line steamers which will sail from Bordeaux after the end of March, when that city instead of Havre becomes the terminus of the line, will be the Rochambeau. A regular service will be maintained thereafter. The congestion at Havre of military and commercial traffic from England is believed to have led the French line to make temporary change in its terminal port.

FRENCH CLAIM GENERAL GAINS.

THREE LINES OF TRENCHES NEAR ARRAS CAPTURED.

On the Lille Road Other German Earthworks are Destroyed, While the British Recapture St. Eloi and Nearly All of the Teutons' Positions in that Neighborhood.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 15 (via London, March 16, 12:55 a.m.)—The following official communication was issued by the French War Office tonight:

"The day has been marked by numerous actions favorable for us.

"In the region of Lombaertzyde our artillery very effectively bombarded the enemy's works. The Germans attempted to recapture a small fort which we took from them during the night of March 11-12. They were repulsed, leaving about fifty dead on the ground. Our losses were insignificant.

"To the south of Ypres the British army which a German attack yesterday had compelled to fall back beyond St. Eloi, recaptured that village and almost all of the neighboring trenches in spite of several counter-attacks.

"To the north of Arras a very brilliant attack by our infantry enabled us to capture by a single effort three lines of trenches on the spur of Notre Dame de Lorette, and to reach the edge of the plateau. We captured 100 prisoners, including several officers and some non-commissioned officers, destroyed two machine guns and blew up an ammunition store.

"Further to the south, in the region of Ecurie and Roclincourt near the road from Lille, we blew up several German trenches and prevented the enemy from reconstructing them.

"In the region of Albert, near Carnoy, the Germans exploded a mine beneath one of our trenches and occupied the excavation. We drove them from it. They once more installed themselves, but a fresh counter-attack enabled us to recover the position. We have held our ground there ever since and have succeeded in putting in order once more our defensive organization.

"In the valley of the Aisne, near Vassens, northwest of Nouvron, two German companies were caught by our fire and suffered very heavy losses.

"In Champagne we made fresh progress. We gained ground in the woods to the northeast of Souain and to the northwest of Perthes. We repulsed two counter-attacks in front of bridge No. 196, northeast of Le Mesnil, and extended our position in that section. We took prisoners and captured a trench mortar.

"In the Argonne region there has been very great activity since yesterday. In the region of Bagatelle two counter-attacks by the enemy were repulsed. We demolished a blockhouse, occupied the site and established ourselves there.

"Between Four de Paris and Bolante, the enemy attempted two counter-attacks, which failed like three others previously made.

"At Vauquois our infantry delivered an attack which made it master of the western part of the village. We took numerous prisoners. At Bois le Pretre, northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, the German blew up with a mine four of our advance trenches, which were completely destroyed. They gained a footing there after the explosion, but we recaptured the first two trenches and half of the third.

"Between Bois le Pretre and Pont-a-Mousson at Dieupt Height, the enemy made an attack which was repulsed."

His lecture on "Moral Control" will be given at a date to be fixed later, however, and will still be a part of the Chautauqua course, and all holders of Chautauqua tickets will be admitted without charge.

"Times" Watchman Dead.

Van Buren Glazier, for a number of years employed by The Times in the capacity of night watchman, and known to the many employees of the paper as "Dad," died yesterday morning after a long illness. The remains will be buried tomorrow afternoon after services at the East Shorb-avenue Presbyterian Church, which will be held at 2 o'clock. The Grand Army of the Republic, of which he was an enthusiastic member, and the Blue Lodge of Masons will attend the services. Mr. Glazier was a native of Lisbon, N. H. He was originally in the lumber-milling business and came to California about seven years ago. His widow is Mrs. Lavina Glazier and his two daughters, Miss Hattie E. Glazier, who is attending Western College, Oxford, O., and Miss Julia Glazier, a school teacher in this city.

NOTED MASON PASSES.

One of the Organizers of Hollywood Lodge will be Buried this Afternoon.

Moses Young, one of the organizers of the Hollywood Masonic body and for many years active in that work, having held at the time of his death the title of Past Master of the Blue Lodge and Past Commander of the Knights Templars, succumbed Sunday to a stroke of paralysis and will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Hollywood cemetery.

At the time of his death, he had passed his 82nd birthday. He was a native of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., on arriving at the age of manhood, he went to Reedburg, Sauk county, Wis., where for several years he was county superintendent of schools. He also resided for a time at Harrold, S. D., and came to California to make his permanent residence in 1886.

Of late years he resided with his daughter, Mrs. G. F. Stevenson at No. 6712 Hollywood boulevard. His son-in-law is local general manager for the Western Mutual Life Insurance Company. Up to a few days prior to his death, Mr. Young was in good health.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at the Gates & Crane chapel in Hollywood and will be concluded at the grave by the Hollywood Lodge, No. 355, F. and A. M. His only near relative is Mrs. Stevenson.

Pomona Pioneer Passes Following Sorrow of Brother's Death in Chicago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, March 15.—Louis Brosseau, one of the oldest and best known local pioneers, is dead at his home here on South Park avenue. He was 85 years old and a native of La Prairie, Can., having come to California in the gold rush days, living for twenty-five years in the Sutter Creek and American River gold mining region.

Mr. Brosseau, came to this locality about forty years ago when the Southern Pacific was being constructed from San Francisco to New Orleans and settled in Pomona when there were only 800 residents, over half of these being Spanish. Mr. Brosseau prospered and owned several buildings, orange groves and alfalfa ranches during residence here.

His brother, who was an influential member of the Chicago Board of Trade, died last Wednesday and this hastened the death of the Pomona pioneer. He leaves two brothers in New York and Los Angeles, a sister in Canada and three nieces, Misses Odile Beauregard, Edith Howard and Mrs. F. C. Eells of Pomona.

The funeral will be in St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

FISH DEALERS TO FIGHT ACT.

CATALINA ISLAND RESERVATION LAW TO BE OPPOSED AT SACRAMENTO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, March 15.—Wholesale fish dealers and fishermen will fight to prevent the re-enactment of the law establishing the Catalina Island reservation.

Two years ago the Legislature enacted a law prohibiting the use of nets within three miles of the shore of the island. A few weeks ago this law was declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court on the ground that it discriminated in not including the whole of the Sixth Fish and Game District.

This decision also invalidated several other fish and game laws, and the Wild Life Protective Association will make a fight to secure new bills to secure additional protection. Paul Petrich, representing the San Pedro fishermen, left today for Sacramento to look after the interests of the fish dealers.

SEVEN FIRES.

Seven mysterious fires were started in the Southern Pacific freight yards last night, and Special Officer McGuire was kept so busy putting them out that he did not find time to call for help until after the danger was over. It is supposed the fires were started through vengeance against the railroad.

Oily waste was used to start the flames in box cars. One fire was discovered inside the door of the large freight shed on the wharf north of Fifth street. All were discovered in time to prevent any damage.

MARSHAL HELD UNDER SURETY.

RABID I.W.W. GETS FRIENDS TO ACCUSE OFFICER OF JAIL OF CRUELTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRAWLEY, March 15.—Accused of chaining the hands of a prisoner to the ceiling of a cell and refusing him food three days, Marshal Miles was arrested this afternoon on a warrant sworn to by H. J. Casey, a jeweler.

The prisoner is Sidney Smith, 20, a rabid I.W.W., who was sentenced to thirty days on the chain gang for vagrancy and then refused to work. According to Casey, the Marshal became so mad that he choked, beat up the prisoner and chained his hands overhead as a punishment. The case has caused great excitement here and I.W.W. leaders have come from Los Angeles to help Smith.

"The I.W.W.'s have given Casey a chance to get into the limelight," Marshal Miles said tonight. "I have been after them from early in the morning until late at night and they are after me. Smith was arrested with six others and in court he cursed the Recorder who sentenced him. He was taken to the park and there refused to work, and not only struck at me but tried to get at my gun. It took several men to handle him. He was sent to a cell, where he got the regular fare of non-workers and no rougher treatment than was absolutely necessary to handle him."

Although the Marshal is on $2000 bond, Justice Keener ordered that he post $500 bail bond.

"And only a little while ago we brought back a horse-thief from Yuma who was allowed to go on his own recognizance," commented Miles ruefully.

TWICE INJURED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, March 15.—Cyril Brimhall, 4-year-old son of A. Brimhall, an oil man, seems to have a penchant for injuring himself on the head. While playing in the street today near his father's home, on Emerald street, near Catalina avenue, the child tripped and fell. He received a severe cut over the left side of the head. On February 15 he fell in a similar manner and sustained a severe cut on the right side of the head. In both cases it was necessary to take several stitches in the boy's head.

TEAPOT TEMPEST LIFTS NO ROOFS.

NO CITIES OR CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE AFFECTED BY QUARREL.

The "tempest in a teapot," occasioned by a letter written by a San Bernardino individual to a Los Angeles individual concerning the activities of the Chambers of Commerce of the two cities in the reception and entertainment of a Congressional party from Washington, blew over quickly. No roofs were raised or municipal buildings uprooted in either place, and the two cities and two Chambers of Commerce find themselves mutually friendly and happy, with nothing to quarrel about.

Both chambers are agreed that the trifling misunderstanding on the part of individuals could not in any way be dignified by recognition from either organization.

Both bodies are further agreed that there could be no foundation in fact for the charge that any one wanted to "steal" a Congressman, much less a whole group of Congressmen, for it is pretty generally recognized that the "thief" would only be taking a lot of trouble upon himself.

The foolishly-threatened severance of diplomatic relations between the Los Angeles and San Bernardino chambers did not materialize. Men who were possibly over-zealous to show all of Southern California at once to the visiting Congressmen merely clashed over some little detail.

Two representatives of the Los Angeles chamber went to San Bernardino to extend a welcome to the visitors to come to Los Angeles, when they found it convenient. This action was misinterpreted by one man in San Bernardino, but by no means was it misinterpreted by the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce.

ALL SHOW INCREASES.

Showing increases in all lines of merchandise handled and a 7 per cent. increase in the total, the report of revenue freight cars handled by the Santa Fe in February was issued yesterday. The total of cars handled was 102,782, as against 96,230 in the same month of 1914. Especially notable was an increase of 2968 in the number of cars of grain handled. Much of this went to Galveston for shipment to Europe.

TO THROW OUT ALL ROOF BIDS.

Probable Action of Harbor Commission Today.

Engineers Show How to Use Local Products.

White Quartz Gravel is Type Now Favored.

A report of the City Engineer filed yesterday afternoon with the Harbor Commission substantially confirms the contention that the great transit shed of municipal dock No. 1 can be roofed with California products without prejudice to the city's interests.

The report will be formally considered by the commission today. That body will very likely decide to reject all bids and to order the roofing done under its own direction. The roof, as indicated, will have an asbestos base covered with felt and asphalt and surfaced with white quartz gravel.

The discussion over the kind of roofing to be used on the shed arose over the charge of local roofing men that the specifications virtually debarred all concerns except the Johns-Manville Company and has continued more than three months. The City Engineer reported against the bids of the local companies on the ground that the materials proposed were not as satisfactory as those of the Johns-Manville Company. This report was followed by several hearings before the City Council. The full report which will be considered today, while it does not reverse the first report as to the merits of the respective bids, states that a roof can be made of California products which will be satisfactory as to durability, appearance and cost.

MANY INSPECTED.

Photographs and descriptions of samples of roofing accompany the report, which is signed by City Engineer Hamlin and Assistant Engineer S. C. Jubb. One hundred roofs in and near Los Angeles were personally inspected by the engineers.

The report states that the Pioneer Roofing Company is the only local manufacturer of roofing felts in Los Angeles, that there is no manufacturer of all asbestos roofings here and only two or three in the United States.

In considering the merits of various kinds of roofing the engineers distinguish three types, smooth felt, gravel and all asbestos. Of fifty felt roofs inspected only seven, ten years old or more, were found to be serviceable; of those five years and over eleven were found to be serviceable. They conclude that the life of a felt roof if it is not painted is from five to eight years, depending on the exposure.

Of gravel roofs visited only one over ten years of age had never required repairs. The engineers found several gravel roofs that had been repaired and that are still serviceable after twenty years.

The report says that the chief cause of trouble with the gravel roofs is in the felt flashings. The engineers, in this connection, conclude that with proper flashings and properly constructed, the life of a gravel roof of California products without repairs is ten to twelve years; that renewal of gravel will prolong the life six to eight years and that this renewal can be made at intervals of six to eight years.

FINDS GRAVEL CHEAPEST.

Assuming that a felt roof would be renewed at the end of ten and twenty years (time of guarantee,) the report says, that a gravel roof would be mopped with asphalt and regraveled at the end of ten and twelve and a half years, and that an all asbestos roof will be kept in good repair, the felt roof would cost 22 per cent. more and the gravel roof, 4 per cent. less than the all-asbestos roof in twenty-five years.

The report says that a white quartz is available in California that would conform to the desires of the commissioners that the roof be white and that with its use a gravel roof would cost about $7 per square, or 16 per cent. more than asbestos. It appears, the report says, that both the all asbestos and properly constructed gravel roofs should have a life of at least twenty-five years without excessive charges for maintenance.

The report concludes by saying that white, all-asbestos roofing is not made in California, that properly constructed gravel roofs of California products are as durable, that the initial cost of felt roofs is less but that they are more expensive in the end.

TO ARRAIGN 'EM TODAY.

Schmidt and Caplan to Plead Not Guilty—Thousand Pounds of Exhibits from the East.

M. A. Schmidt and David Caplan, indicted as dynamiters of the original Times Building, will be arraigned this morning before Judge Willis. The defendants will plead not guilty, according to their attorneys. Separate trials will be demanded by the indicted unionites.

It is understood that counsel for the defense will make no attempt to delay proceedings, although it was rumored yesterday that the defense may ask to have the indictments quashed on the ground that the grand jury was prejudiced.

Deputy District Attorney Van Cott and former County Detective McLaren returned from Indianapolis last night with 1000 pounds of exhibits to be introduced by the people in the case against the alleged assassins. The exhibits consist of dynamite, guns, knives, fuses, broken bombs and other deadly instruments and weapons used by labor-union bosses and hirelings in carrying on their campaign against the "open shop" in the United States. The exhibits were placed in the big vault in the Hall of Records.

SILVERWOOD DIVORCE.

Author of "I Love You, California," Brings Delayed Suit on the Ground of Desertion.

Francis B. Silverwood, prominent merchant and clubman, who gained fame as the author of the song, "I Love You, California," has brought suit for divorce against Mrs. Marie L. Silverwood. The charge of desertion is made the basis for the action.

For several years they have been separated, a property adjustment having been made. Since then Mrs. Silverwood has spent her time in Europe. With the opening of hostilities abroad she returned to America and recently came to Los Angeles.

The suit was filed yesterday by Attorney Youngworth.

LIFE OF BRAVE SERVICE ENDS.

MEMBER OF LOYAL LEGION IS CALLED BY DEATH.

Capt. John R. White, U.S.V., Who was Commissioned for Gallantry and Served Throughout the Civil War, Lived Twenty Years Quietly Here—Funeral at Glendale.

Capt. John Robert White, U.S.V., 79 years old, a member of the Loyal Legion, who was commissioned for gallantry on the field of battle, and served with honor throughout the Civil War, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Steelman, No. 5317 Granada street. He had been twenty years a resident of this city and vicinity. Death followed an illness of four days.

A native of Maryland, he enlisted at the outbreak of the Civil War with the Eighteenth Pennsylvania Volunteers, served four months, and re-enlisted at once in Co. G, One Hundred and Eighteenth Regiment, and went to the front as a first sergeant. At Shepherdstown, the sequel to Antietam, all the company officers were killed, and, by special orders of Maj.-Gen. Fitz John Porter, Sergt. White was made a lieutenant. He served with his regiment at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness, and through many engagements to Appomattox, having then been advanced to the rank of captain.

Mustered out of the service at the close of the war, he married Katie Ashbridge, daughter of a veteran of 1812. Capt. White became a widely known carpet manufacturer and importer at Philadelphia and continued in that occupation till he came to Southern California, in 1895, when he retired from active business.

At Philadelphia Capt. White was a director of the Ninth National Bank, the Central Trust and Safe Deposit Company and the Industrial Safe Deposit Company; was a member of the Committee of Fifty, organized to promote measures for the benefit of the city, and was a well-known member of the Union League, United Service Club, Historical Society, the Masons, and a number of other societies and orders.

At his death he was surrounded by his seven children, all of whom live in and near Los Angeles: John R. White, Jr., Mrs. Katherine W. Steelman, Mrs. M. W. Hardenburgh, Llewellyn A. White, Mrs. Florence W. Crawford, Walter G. White and Edgar A. White.

The funeral service will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence of John R. White, Jr., No. 101 Orange street, Glendale. Interment will be at Grand View Cemetery.

BRAIN FAG BRED BY EFFICIENCY.

OFFICIAL STAGGERED BY CITY BOARD'S INSTRUCTIONS.

Word Puzzle Anent Budget Estimates Creates Incipient Insanity Among Department Heads—But There's no Time for Grief if They're to Get the Figures Up.

"Incipient insanity" is the expression used by a member of the Board of Public Works yesterday in describing the mental condition of heads of some of the city departments when they undertook to analyze the latest emanation from the Municipal Efficiency Commission, as incorporated in the documents issued by City Auditor Myers for budget estimates.

The instructions to heads of departments provide for a new system of detailed information as to expenditures for the past two fiscal years and estimates for the year to come. So complex is the classification that Auditor Myers and the Efficiency Commission, of which he is a member, have got the department heads "guessing."

Here is a sample in regard to "structures and improvements (buildings and nonstructural improvements to land:")

"All expenditures, whether purchase price for things, or parts of things, or outlay or advances under contract or open market order for the construction of things, or parts of things, not in the estate of nature, fixed or built on land, or for alterations made by man to the surface or subsurface of the earth, for whatsoever purpose, these things, or parts of things, or alterations to land being, or being planned, to be finally adapted to continuing use for sheltering, supporting, storing or protecting persons, animals or things, or for improving the natural condition of the earth so as to satisfy human wants, including: . . ."

And then follows classifications from "B-b" to "B-x". And so it goes on. Department heads are seeking each other for sympathy since the receipt of these instructions. They are wondering where they'll find time to fill out the details required before the budget-making time arrives—April 1.

SOLEMN RITES AT MIDNIGHT.

Mysterious Service Is Held for High Mason.

Thousands Pay Honor to the Memory of Conradi.

Ceremonial Known Here But Twice in the Past.

The mystery of midnight was added to the solemnity of the funeral services performed over the body of Simon Conradi, pioneer Los Angeles business man and Thirty-third Degree Mason, last night at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, No. 929 South Hope street. More than 1000 persons witnessed the ancient and impressive ceremonial.

Only twice before in Los Angeles has the rare service been performed at the funeral of a Mason. The ceremony was conducted by Venerable Master William Rhodes Hervey, assisted by other officers of the Scottish Rite.

The processional was led by men bearing tapers. The dim lights, the tread of the mourners, the soft music on the pipe organ and the late hour added impressiveness to the solemn occasion. The beautiful ritualistic service was instituted about 700 years ago, and there has been little change in the forms since it was first used.

At the close of the service the bier, draped in the colors of the degree to which the deceased belonged, was carried past kneeling mourners to the back of the stage. The lights faded from the room with the passing of the bier and the audience, seated in total darkness, heard the curtain fall.

"Our brother who has entered the beyond was much beloved by us all," the Venerable Master declared in the funeral oration. "We can rejoice in saying that he was a good man.

"Brother Simon Conradi was a kind and sympathetic husband, a neighborly neighbor, a useful citizen. It is inspiring to see the old die so peacefully and beautifully. It is strangely sad to see the young die, but it is grand to see a man like our brother, who has lived a long life of usefulness, done his work well, meet death so calmly.

"Our brother had all of the virtues of a rounded and perfect man. He was our friend and teacher, our beloved companion. How we miss him! How well we loved him, but his life is ended and we are here to pay him the last sad honors."

One room at the cathedral was filled with floral offerings. The body is lying in state this morning. Interment will take place this afternoon in Hollywood Cemetery.

HIS MASONIC WORK.

During Mr. Conradi's long life he devoted much thought and energy to the Masonic Fraternity. He was made a Mason in his native land of Switzerland when he was little more than a boy. Early he became imbued with the precepts and principles of Masonry. Because of the aid he gave in strengthening of the Scottish Rite work in this city, he was elected treasurer of the organization, a position which he held until several months ago, when failing health compelled him to relinquish it.

Mr. Conradi took the Royal Arch and Knight Templar degrees in Houston, where he was an officer of the Grand Lodge of Texas for many years. He received the Scottish Rite degree from Grand Commander F. C. Tucker, Thirty-second-degree Mason, who was then Sovereign Grand Inspector-General of Texas.

TWINS OR TRIPLETS?

Description of Escaped Prisoner Fits Duplicate Brother's so Closely That Police are Mystified.

Is Mesnack Kortangan a twin, one of a set of triplets, or is the Bertillon system all wrong? This is the question that is agitating the force in the identification bureau at Central Police Station.

Yesterday Supt. Jones, in charge of the bureau, received a picture from Ione and a circular, stating that Mesnack Kortangan, a prisoner, had escaped. This could not be, as investigation revealed, for Mesnack is serving a term in the City Jail. When this was discovered, detectives were sent to search for Cedrick Kortangan, twin brother to Mesnack. He was located and it was found the measurements set forth in the circular are not his, but those of another man, still the picture resembled him to such a marked degree that he was held until he could prove that he had not been in Ione for at least a year.

Neither of the brothers will tell whether there is another that may be the escaped prisoner. In the meantime, the force of the identification bureau is busy trying to locate a third Kortangan.

BILLBOARD LAW APPROVED.

Committee Recommends One Regulation Ordinance—Another Held Pending Decision by Supreme Court.

The proposed ordinance fixing the height, location and construction of billboards was recommended by the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council yesterday.

The other proposed billboard regulation ordinance, that provides the consent of all property owners in a block must be secured before a billboard may be placed there, is held up. A Chicago decision, on which it was based, is now before the Federal Supreme Court on appeal and that tribunal's decision will be awaited.

ASKS HEAVY DAMAGES FOR HORSE-WHIPPING.

WHEN Mrs. Helen Fast, angry and determined, stormed into the newspaper office at Franklin street and North Broadway March 6 with a beaded dog whip in one hand and a pistol with a fidgety trigger in the other, to deliver personal chastisement upon the person of Erich H. Kurths, she thought the affair was to be settled right there. She did her best to settle it, cutting out with the dog whip across Mr. Kurths's face, and, making the trigger of the gun throb with eagerness, but things have developed.

Yesterday she sat all day on the porch of her residence, No. 361 Buena Vista street, using it as a conning tower to inspect the process servers and other agents of the law who came in numbers to notify her that Mr. Kurths has brought suit for damages against her and her husband, Richard Fast. Mr. Kurths asks $25,000 actual

"Just Too Mean."

HE TARDY; SHE TRIES SUICIDE.

Lover's a Minute Late and Girl Drinks Poison.

Saved After Dramatic Scene on Broadway Corner.

Says in Note She's been "Awfully Bad."

Because her sweetheart was one minute late in keeping an appointment with her, Frances Collins, 17 years old, and who says she has just graduated from high school, attempted to end her life in a Broadway drug store yesterday afternoon. An aged woman heard the girl cry out that she wanted to die, and knocked the bottle of poison from her hands before she could swallow the contents of the vial.

In the scuffle which ensued between the young girl who wanted to die, and the old woman who sought to save her, the pair reached the street where the girl fell unconscious to the sidewalk. She was hurried into the drug store and then to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Johnson found that she had swallowed only a small quantity of lysol. Later she sat up in bed to have her picture taken and said: "Don't you think he was mean not to meet me?"

At noon yesterday the girl, according to her story and a note which she left before her attempt to die, had an engagement with Ralph Goetz, an automobile salesman of No. 1232 Elden avenue. Goetz arrived at the appointed time, and the pair quarreled. The man left and said that he would be back in ten minutes. At the expiration of the time the girl entered the drug store, and bought the poison, wrote a note to Goetz, then tried to drain the bottle.

Until a week ago, Frances had been living with her sister, Ruth Collins, at Forty-eighth street and Denker avenue. Then Ralph returned from Toledo, O., where he was the secretary of the Toledo Auto Brokers' Association. The girl left the home of her sister, and for a time stayed with friends at No. 2388 West Thirtieth street. According to her story, told the juvenile authorities, most of her time was spent with the auto salesman. Yesterday, she declares, he sought to leave her. She wrote him this note, which she attempted to destroy when she found that her life had been saved by the physician:

Darling Ralph: Dear, this is in all probabilities the last time you will be bothered by me, but, dear, I love you more than life and you received all I have to give and then refused me. I thought some day you would marry me, but I know different now.

Ralph, I love you more than any one else I know, and of course, dear, I don't blame you for beginning to dislike me. Dear, don't ever tell Ruth anything, because I want her always to think of me as being very good. But I have been awfully bad. Don't pay any attention to what anyone says about me.

No one can talk but you. Please try and remember always, dear, if you had come back in ten minutes, dear, I wouldn't have done this. Well, dear, I wish I could give you a million kisses and love you like I did when you first came back.

[Signed] Your broken-hearted FRANCES.

NOTED RAILROAD MAN IS COMING.

DIRECTOR OF MANY LINES IS ALSO INTERESTED IN OTHER THINGS.

Traveling leisurely westward in a special train, Leonor F. Loree, director of the Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, and of many other railroads and companies, is due here tomorrow, according to advices received yesterday by Southern Pacific officials. He is accompanied by his family.

One of the transitmen and topographers on the preliminary survey and location of the Mexican National Railway from the Rio Grande River to Saltillo, Mr. Loree was for many years a director of that system, and is credited with knowing more about the internal affairs of the concern than any other man in this country.

An enumeration of the railroads and companies with which Mr. Loree is connected reads like a page from Poole's Annual. Among other things, he is a director of the Underground Electric Railways Company of London, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, Erie, Seaboard Air Line, Cape Cod Construction Company, American District Telegraph Company and Equitable Trust Company. The Cape Cod Construction Company is the concern that built the ship canal that joins Buzzards Bay and Cape Cod Bay.

Mr. Loree is also president of the Delaware and Hudson Company and a director of the thirty-four companies controlled or affiliated with it, is chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern, and one of the seven American members of the Permanent Commission of the International Railway Congress of Brussels.

EXACT TAX ON GIFTS.

Supreme Court Holds Riverside Family Must Pay for Property Received in This Case.

The State Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the Probate Court of Riverside county that property disposed of by the decedent during his lifetime is liable to the inheritance tax, under certain circumstances.

The action arises in the estate of George N. Reynolds, one of the wealthy citizens of Riverside, who, a few days before his death, in September, 1911, gave what is known as the Reynolds Hotel property to his wife, Laura T. Reynolds, and transferred other property valued at $100,000 to the son, Charles L. Reynolds, on condition that the son pay an indebtedness amounting to $30,000, and pay the father $600 a month during the remainder of his lifetime, which the Supreme Court says the son did not do.

The law provides that the inheritance tax must be paid where the transfer of property is made without valuable or adequate consideration. Mr. Reynolds was afflicted with sarcoma, and the transfer to the wife was made two days before an operation that at the time was supposed would result fatally, but he lived for some time afterward. After the death of the husband the wife filed her election to take this gift instead of benefits under the will.

The Supreme Court holds that in both instances sufficient and adequate consideration had not been given for the gifts and therefore they are liable for the inheritance tax. The deceased was one of the best known men in Riverside, and he left an estate valued at about a quarter of a million dollars.

TWELVE OCTOGENARIANS.

Men Whose Combined Ages Exceeds a Thousand Years to Meet at Birthday Dinner.

The Octogenarian Society of Los Angeles will be guests of John S. Wilcox, No. 5357 Virginia avenue, at dinner next Thursday on the occasion of his eighty-second birthday anniversary. Mr. Wilcox is the youngest member of the organization, which was formed about two years ago, and whose custom it has been to meet with each member on that member's birthday.

At the last meeting there were twelve members. One has dropped out and another is dead. Two new members have been added, so Mr. Wilcox expects that there will be twelve men at his dinner. The combined ages of the twelve men is more than 1000 years.

WHAT'S A "JITNEY?"

Everybody Knows Now, but Here's Another Clew to Its Very Mysterious Origin.

The scent is getting warmer. Everybody, from university linguists to Jimmie the Newsboy, is hunting the origin of that mysterious but obtrusive word—jitney. It has baffled them all. But now comes a chap who actually says he heard when the word when it was first uttered.

He signs himself No. 1234 Ex., and says "jitney" was coined within prison walls by a bow-legged negro wagon driver.

In a certain reformatory, he says one Jedney, a "trusty," slyly evaded prison rules and smuggled chewing tobacco to inmates. Jedney drove a wagon that ran between the reformatory and a near-by town. When, by some chance, a prisoner got a bit of money, he would give it to Jedney and receive a portion of the weed purchased. The remainder Jedney kept as his commission for the risk taken.

There came a time, sixteen years ago, the story runs, when Jedney left the reformatory and the bow-legged negro fell heir to the wagon job. A prisoner handed him a dime, assuming the negro had also fallen heir to Jedney's smuggling business.

"You-all gits a 'jetney's' worth of tobacco foh dis dime," said the new trusty. He meant he would keep the same commission Jedney had kept.

From that time on a dime bought a "jetney's" worth of tobacco for a prisoner.

But the controversy about the word will probably continue.

NOW WANTS HIM JAILED.

Mrs. Hayward, Denied Hundred Thousand for "Lost Dove," Charges Husband with Nonsupport.

Mrs. Louise Hayward, who recently failed to get $100,000 for alleged "lost love" from her father-in-law, Dr. Henderson Hayward, yesterday swore to a complaint charging her husband, Lester, with failure to provide, and asked that he be sent to the chain gang. No warrant for young Hayward was issued, as it is understood he has left the city.

ROMANCE ALONG WITH BUSINESS.

AUTOMOBILE COMPANY DEVELOPS IN TWO WAYS.

Marriage Here Reveals Way in Which One Department Expands, Thereby Aiding Every Other. Two Notable Persons in Advertising World Wed.

The home office of the Thomas B. Jeffery Company in Kenosha, Wis., developed more romance during the last year than that of business expansion. It was the meeting place of Miss Maud Potts, advertising manager of the big automobile concern, and the only woman known to hold a similarly responsible position, and Ray L. Newton, who was then a district manager, but under the tutelage of his bride-to-be, became an advertising man of rank.

They were married last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Potts, No. 2124 West Thirtieth street, and will spend their honeymoon in Southern California, later going to San Francisco, where Mr. Newton has charge of the Panama-Pacific Exposition exhibit of the Jeffery company.

Miss Potts, who is only 22 years old, made a remarkable record in the advertising work, and is a distinguished person in that field. She entered the office of the Thomas B. Jeffery Automobile Company as an assistant in the advertising department. Her singular adaptiveness to the work and unusual originality and forcefulness in preparing advertising matter brought her rapid promotion, until she succeeded the advertising manager when he was promoted to the office of general sales manager.

Mr. Newton came to the company from Boston, and earned quick promotion.

The wedding was an informal affair, only twelve guests being present. Hubert J. Potts, brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Katherine Brown was maid of honor. Miss Potts wore an effective gown of Chantilly lace and carried roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Brown wore an old rose dress with a net.

LETTER CONTEST CLOSES.

Nineteen-fifteen General Committee Sends Missives to all Parts of the World—Clever Eulogies.

With the close of the prize letter-writing contest inaugurated by the 1915 General Committee, scores of letters were sent yesterday on their way to all parts of the world. The committee has ruled that letters placed in the mail yesterday and reaching the offices at 205 Chamber of Commerce building today will be received, providing the postmark is March 15.

One letter destined for South Africa was sent yesterday, so it will be some weeks before all the return postcards are back. There are fifty-four prizes offered, ranging from $5 to $100 each.

The judging will not begin until a reasonable time has been allowed for the cards to be returned. They are scattered in all parts of the world, indicating that the population of Los Angeles county is blessed with relatives and friends everywhere on earth.

The contest aroused wide interest and it is expected some clever eulogies of the Southland will develop in the selection of prize-winners.

Fluffy Hair Takes Years From Your Age.

Soft, fluffy hair, becomingly arranged, makes any woman look her best because it softens the outlines of the face and every woman can have dainty, fluffy, healthy hair if she will take the trouble to always shampoo her hair properly. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

with anything like the approval of the educational body. This is a measure which will provide for a home teacher for every district containing 500 children. The duties of this teacher will be to visit the homes of the children, and there, co-operating with the parents, endeavor to secure greater harmony in the eternal educational triangle—the parent, the pupils and the teacher.

Senate Bill No. 452, giving the county superintendent of schools the power to appoint the other four members of the county board of education, was frowned on. It was stated that the slightest displeasure of the superintendent would probably terminate the position of any member of the board. Such ready dismissal and termination of salary would mean inefficient boards, mere tools of the superintendent in charge of educational affairs, it is feared.

This same one-man authority was the point at issue in Bill No. 1016, which gives either the county or city superintendent the power to nominate all teachers who are to be employed in the school work of the territory in which these officials are in charge.

Two other bills on which doubtfulness was expressed are those known as the Kemp and the McKnight bills.

The former establishes a flat salary rate for teachers and provides no means for use of emergency teachers or special department educators when occasion may demand.

Although said to be not as glaring in its defects as the Kemp bill, the McKnight bill was also held up as inadequate and far from what is necessary. It was decided that the present law governing salaries is far better than either of the proposed new ones. Individual action as well as the action of the club as an organization was urged.

OUT MUST GO HIS BIG BRICK-YARD.

HADACHECK LOSES SUIT OVER RESIDENCE DISTRICT ORDINANCE.

The Supreme Court has given the final ruling in the famous J. C. Hadacheck case, involving the violation of what is known as the brick-yard ordinance and marking the boundaries of a residence district at the west end of the Pico-street car line, in the vicinity of the Hadacheck brick yard. The action just decided was against George Alexander, as Mayor, and the members of the City Council, Mr. Hadacheck seeking a judgment in injunction restraining the defendants from putting into effect the ordinance complained of. The lower court decided against Mr. Hadacheck and he appealed.

The Supreme Court holds that, under the writ of habeas corpus sued out by the appellant, the general question of the validity of the ordinance was considered, and decided against Mr. Hadacheck, and the judgment of the lower court is affirmed.

The court declares that the ordinance complained of is not unreasonable, oppressive or void. It was alleged by Mr. Hadacheck that the ordinance had been hastily prepared to fit an emergency, but the court declares that the motive of the members of the City Council who enacted the ordinance could not be inquired into.

Under the decision of the court it will be necessary for Mr. Hadacheck to move his brick yard outside the limits of the residence district described by the ordinance. The contention in one shape or another has been before the court for several years.

FOUR MONTHS OF SPECIAL TRAINS.

MUCH NEW TRAFFIC HERE BY WAY OF YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK.

A special train party to California every day from June 15 to September 15, by way of the Yellowstone National Park, was assured yesterday in advice received by Passenger Agent Jackson of the Union Pacific from the Northwestern-Union Pacific tour department.

In some cases the bookings made by the Northwestern-Union Pacific tour department are duplicates of those already announced, but the preponderent percentage is absolutely new business.

"What business will be when the children are out of school can only be surmised by what has gone before," said C. J. Birchfield, assistant general advertising agent of the Santa Fe, yesterday. Mr. Birchfield is here from Chicago for a ten-day stay.

"In five days at the beginning of the season," said Mr. Birchfield, "the Santa Fe had forty-five trains out of Chicago, carrying more than 6000 persons to California. The business has been growing since and will keep on growing until the middle of July or the first of August.

"At one of our stations in the East the agent has booked 200 California parties for the season, parties ranging all the way from five up to a score or more. Another straw that shows that the wind of interest is towards California is the demand for literature on the expositions and the State.

"For instance, editions of our booklets that were [illegible] at a time are now [illegible] editions of 100,000 [illegible] mand is growing."

More Than Liberal

6 per cent. on an investment in our $100.00 Certificates means more than a liberal income.

It means freedom from all worry or doubt as to the safety of your investment.

It means freedom from fluctuations—the value of these Certificates never grows less and the full amount of your investment may be withdrawn at any time after the first year.

It means freedom from the distress due to passing dividends—the 6 per cent. interest is always paid promptly twice-a-year and has been so paid for more than 25 years.

It means freedom from annoyance—you merely clip the interest coupons, present them at your bank and the interest will be paid in full without any deduction at source for Federal Income Tax.

These and other features give double value to your investment in our 6 per cent. Certificates.

At the "Orange Day" exposition at San Diego, General Paul Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange will speak on "The Citrus Industry." Large delegations from here will attend the exercises at both expositions.

COTTON WORKS BANKRUPT.

A creditor's petition was filed in the Federal Court yesterday against the Imperial Cotton Works, H. Samuels & Co., with a claim for $1754.12; L. W. Stockwell Co., $86.08, and the Los Angeles Dry Goods Company, $13.50. It is alleged that the defendants committed acts of bankruptcy in making Cooper, Nelson & Casey Dry Goods Co. a preferred creditor for $206.39. Charles Rosenthal, an auto salesman of Compton, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday. His debts amount to $1,811, of which $611 is secured; the assets are scheduled at $2468.70.

LEARNED IN A JITNEY.

Youth Charged with Automobile Theft Says He Watched "Nickel-chaser" Drive Car.

On probation for burglary, Harry Mudget, 15 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Long Beach, charged with the theft of an automobile. With him were two other boys who declared that they had been led into the theft by Mudget.

The other boys, Glenn McMullen, 14, and Floyd Weaver, the same age, both of whom live in Long Beach, said that they met the Mudget boy on the streets in Los Angeles and that he had invited them for a ride. It was not until they had reached the beach city that he told them that the machine had been stolen, they said.

When Mudget was pressed by the officers he admitted he had stolen three other machines, but that he had always returned them to the owner after he had spent the day riding about the city. When he was asked where a boy of his age had learned to run a car he said, "Well, you see it was this way. I worked downtown and went to my job in a jitney bus. I watched the man at the wheel and first thing you know I knew how to operate, and when I get big enough I am going to get a jitney." The boys were sent to Juvenile Hall.

REMEMBERING PATRON.

Friendly Sons of St. Patrick Will Hold a Banquet Tonight to Observe Anniversary.

The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick of Los Angeles will hold a banquet this evening at the Alexandria at 7:30 o'clock. The organization, which had its inception during the Revolutionary War, meets but once a year.

James C. Kays, president, will preside, and John S. McGroarty, author of the "Mission Play," will be toastmaster. Addresses will be made by Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, George S. Patton, Rev. J. J. Haggarty, Benno M. Brink and James L. Irwin, secretary of the Friendly Sons. William Steffen, the noted Irish tenor, will sing Irish selections.

Asks Heavy Damages.

damages and an additional $25,000 exemplary damages, for he wishes to impress upon women with handy whips that he is not a supine victim of the lash.

Mr. Kurths in his complaint recites that Mrs. Fast struck him with the dog whip and held him in temporary subjection with the pistol while she delivered the blows. The meeting caused "great bodily pain, shame and mental anguish" and therefore he asks damages.

In April Mrs. Fast will appear in Police Judge Richardson's court to answer a battery charge filed against her on Kurths's complaint. Mr. Fast thought yesterday that the battery charge had been dropped. He said he had been expecting some development on that score, but none had appeared, and he awaited notice of the prosecution.

Apparently, while he was waiting, Mrs. Fast was hurried into court, pleaded not guilty, and had the date of trial set.

Yesterday Mrs. Fast was nervous and wrought up over the pending litigation. She is not familiar with American customs, having come but recently from Germany.

She is a young woman of prepossessing appearance, with typical Teutonic features, a clear and vivid complexion and the embodiment of physical charms which the classic painters most favor. Her hair is light and fluffy, and tangled into a knot that rests high on her head, and shakes as she aggressively states that she doesn't "care if they sue her for a million dollars and put her in jail for a million years."

Mrs. Fast's admitted attack on Mr. Kurths followed a report that reached her to the effect that Mr. Kurths had talked about her. She believed that Mr. Kurths had remarked that her husband secured a better position because of the effect her personal charms had on certain persons of influence.

Mr. Kurths denied that he had made any such remark. A note written by a discharged employee of the newspaper company is involved. In this note the employee swears that he heard Mr. Kurths make the remark and says he is willing to testify to it in court.

ENDING MISSION HERE.

Belgian Woman Issues Appeal in Name of Humanity and Arranges Channels for Donations.

Due in her native land next month, Mme. Marie de Page, the charming Belgian woman who came here to ask help for the war-stricken, must leave the city soon. Yesterday she issued an open letter expressing thanks for what Southern Californians have done and announcing the channels through which further gifts will reach her at her post in the Belgian hospitals.

Her appeal is for "the wounded husbands, brothers and fathers in the field that may be saved from suffering, death, or from a crippled old age, so that after the war is over they may return to their homes to support and comfort those women and children who, by your generosity, have been saved from starvation."

W. H. Holliday, president of the Merchants' National Bank, Sixth and Spring streets; Mrs. Rea Smith, No. 22 Chester place, and Dr. LeMoyne Wills, 926 Marsh-Strong building, have volunteered to forward Mme. De Page any gifts in money or supplies that may be made in her absence. Everything intended for her should be marked clearly: "Belgian Red Cross Field Hospitals (Melis De Page.")

Politics.

RED LAW HIGHER SAY SOCIALISTS.

Statute Superseded by Rule of Order, Their Idea.

Law-abiding Candidates Off Party Ticket.

Rift in Lute to be Widened at Big Pow-wow.

The Socialist "ticket," which is in the process of being filed for the coming city primary, is also in process of perforation, and may appear any day at the office of the City Clerk with as many airholes as a hunk of Swiss cheese.

Already two candidates originally indorsed by the Socialist party have been eliminated by the group of "red" ringleaders, who dominate the affairs of the holders of red cards and pretend to represent the sentiments—and to mould it, forsooth!—of 15,000 registered Socialists in Los Angeles, about one-twelfth of the voting strength of the city.

The rift in the Socialist party is caused by a division of opinion over the question whether a Socialist party rule shall supersede a State law. The party rule provides that every party nominee must file his resignation with the party organization so that it may be accepted automatically when the nominee, in the event of his election, displeases his partisans.

The penal code of the State of California makes such an act unlawful.

Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey, in running for the Council, is running independently, with the Socialist party indorsement. Because she would not violate the State law in order to conform to one of the rockbound rules of the Socialist party, her name was stricken from the "ticket."

J. H. Ryckman, the Socialist candidate for City Attorney, suffered the same fate because he felt the same way about it.

Secretary Tom Williams of the Socialist party is said to have raised a false issue in the case of Mrs. Lindsey, in that he said the elimination of her name from the Socialist ticket was brought about because she is doing "individual campaigning."

Mrs. Lindsey asserted last night that her loyalty to law and order is just a couple of pegs more fervid than her fealty to the Socialist code. She has accepted the indorsement of other organizations, and believes she has a right to do so.

Mrs. Lindsey and Mr. Ryckman were nominated at the Socialist city convention in February. The fact that Mrs. Lindsey had been indorsed by other organizations was threshed out at that time and she won out on a test vote. She remained the nominee.

The Socialist party, or rather, the "red-card" local, has 800 members, a mere fraction of the registered Socialists of the city.

Holders of red cards will appear at the big pow-wow of Socialists next Friday night at the Thirtieth-street school, when it is understood that an attempt will be made to settle the question within the party as to whether a Socialist rule shall supersede a State law.

Benedict Is Willin'.

Senator H. Stanley Benedict is expecting to be one of the nominees for Mayor at the coming primaries. In an interview in Sacramento yesterday he intimated as much, but said that he would run only upon the show of a general demand upon the part of the people, and that he would not be the candidate of any clique or organization. All of which stock stuff is said by the political savants to be a forerunner of an open announcement of candidacy. Senator Benedict said, however, that if he was proposed for nomination he would not return to campaign until the close of the Legislature, which probably will be about the time of holding the primary election in May.

Appointing the Judges.

The Graves committee, which is industriously trying to egg the Bar Association on to debating the proposed appointment of all judges by the Governor, instead of their election, as at present, will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Million Club rooms in the Coulter building. The meeting is open not only to attorneys, but to laymen as well. It is expected by Chairman Graves that a formal launching of a strong movement against the Chandler bill, now pending at Sacramento, will take place. Similar organizations are springing up at San Francisco, Fresno and Sacramento.

Judge Praises Sebastian.

Police Judge White spoke before a large meeting of the Women's Sebastian Booster Club at the Hotel Stowell yesterday, when he told of the work of Chief of Police Sebastian as a public official and urged support for him for Mayor. Other speakers were Mrs. Green of the Hollywood Women's Sebastian Club and Dr. and Mrs. Louis H. Freedman.

Thomas Golding will tell of the police work of Chief Sebastian at a precinct meeting tonight at the residence of Mrs. G. M. Thompson, No. 1243 Arapahoe street. Dr. Charles A. Thompson will give an illustrated lecture on Alaska at the same time.

Political Notes.

Adam Dixon Warner is already making a campaign for the 1916 United States Senatorship. His platform is a curious mixture of Democracy and no booze. Mr. Warner has been using the City Councilmen as an audience for his vocal practice of late.

R. D. Richards, No. 2208 Western avenue, filed his petition for nomination as Councilman with the City Clerk yesterday. It was the first under the wire and contains 700 names.

Councilman Spowden yesterday confirmed a statement in The Times of several weeks ago that he would not again run for the Council. He says he is out of it. While he will not run himself he will be actively associated with the campaign in an official capacity with the Whiffen Mayoralty campaign.

Councilman Roberts announced his candidacy for election yesterday. He is an appointee. His platform establishes a new municipal record for the running broad jump.

Mrs. E. C. Bellows, it was announced yesterday, will be a candidate for member of the Board of Education.

W. C. Finch, No. 210 West Twenty-second street, took out petition blanks for Councilman yesterday.

Councilman Bryant yesterday stated that he will not seek re-election to the Council. He will return to his private business in July.

SALES MANAGERS TO ELECT.

Officials for Los Angeles Division of Association to be Chosen Next Week.

The Los Angeles division of the National Sales Managers' Association of America will hold its annual election of officers the 17th inst., at the Clark. The meeting has been called for 8:15 o'clock that evening.

While a ticket is in the field, other nominations may be made from the floor. The candidates now in the open are: For president, Carl E. Rosenberg; first vice-president, F. R. Feithans; second vice-president, P. J. Swearington; third vice-president, Charles B. Smith; secretary-treasurer, H. W. L. Gardner; directors, F. F. Brown, Fred E. Golding, H. H. Francisco, William Henry, Frank G. Cox, H. G. White, C. S. Hutson (five to be elected.)

There will also be read a report from the Auditing Committee, with recommendations, which will be discussed from the floor.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Hesitation characterized dealings in our stocks and bonds, principally because of the uncertainty of the situation abroad. The only shares affected were those whose stability is questioned at home. All standard shares were firmer, investors simply wishing to solve the European question for themselves before becoming further involved. Western banks are unusually strong and money rates may go lower. The sale of the German war notes in the United States amounts to over $20,000,000. Brazil is now figuring on a loan of $15,000,000 for trade purposes.

(For details see financial pages.)

BENEFIT TO MERCHANTS.

The last of the railroad's inequitable tolls has been removed in California, and the benefit to Los Angeles merchants alone is estimated at $100,000 a year. The railroads voluntarily wiped out the switching charges on all cars moving in intra-State traffic. But you can count on it that there will be people of socialistic inclination who refuse to give the railroads credit for this—but will call it a hypocritical move on the part of the "octopi."

NAVAL BASE AT SAN DIEGO.

San Diego is to serve as a torpedo and submarine base. No city on the Coast is of more strategic importance. It is the closest Pacific port to the Panama Canal and the gateway to the Imperial Valley. When that time comes which finds a submarine base in every important coast port from Puget Sound to San Diego, the Pacific Coast will not be in much danger of invaders. The war in Europe has demonstrated that submarines and torpedoes are the most effective defenders of seaports.

TO PARIS BY WESTWARD ROUTE.

People desiring to visit Petrograd, Paris or London can now do so with a ten-day ocean trip and no submarines or torpedoed waters to endanger them. The Novgorod, the first steamer of the "Russian Volunteer Fleet," sailed the other day from Seattle and Vancouver (which can be reached from Los Angeles by rail) for Vladivostok, 4200 miles from Puget Sound. There the traveler can take the cars for the principal cities of Russia, France and Great Britain.

One can travel from Los Angeles to Petrograd by this route in about the same time as by New York and Havre.

LOSSES OF GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Government ownership of railroad and telegraph lines has resulted in a loss in almost every instance accompanied by higher charges to the public for inferior service. In 1870 England took over the telegraph system and has since lost $200,000,000 in operating it. Railroad freight rates on government roads in Europe are double the rates charged in the United States, and the wages paid the employees are less than half what is paid in this country. In Italy in 1914 on 8000 miles of railroad which were conducted by the government the loss was more than $35,000,000.

In Seattle two municipal car lines have been in operation eight months at a loss of $27,045 besides $13,500 interest on loans.

Twenty-six eastern towns and cities report great and continuous loss from operation of municipal electric light plants.

Public ownership of public utilities is a costly toy which has seldom proved remunerative or satisfactory to the communities which adopted it.

WAGES NOT CONSIDERED.

After having the American pottery industry "investigated" Secretary of Commerce Redfield proceeded to scold the American potters for alleged ignorance of the cost of production.

Then he told them that there are large differences in the cost of production between the potteries of the United States and those of Europe; that the general level of cost is considerably higher in this country; and he admonished them that "there is a distinct need for more scientific methods of production which can be brought about only by highly-skilled instruction and more scientific research."

The patent fact that the higher cost of production in the United States is due to the higher wages paid to American workers, and that scientific methods and scientific research work cannot possibly remove the difference between American and foreign wages Secretary Redfield conveniently disregards, for if he should take official cognizance of those obvious facts he would have to concede that reduction of the duties upon foreign pottery was a wrong done to the Americans who are engaged in that industry.

There is no skill nor science that can overcome the disadvantage of American manufacturers who are subjected to the unfair direct competition of foreign manufacturers who pay only half the wages (or less) that American workmen receive.

The death of Samuel Bowles of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican is announced. He was the son of Samuel Bowles, who died in 1878 while in charge of the Republican. The Bowles family was of sturdy New England stock and at the time of the death of Samuel Bowles, Sr., he stood at the head of the newspaper profession in this country. His son has followed in his footsteps.

PETER OF SERVIA.

King Peter of Servia is rather a unique parvenu monarch. He has succeeded in making the old aristocrats of Europe fly at one another's throats on behalf of his turbulent, unruly little country, and will figure very conspicuously in history. Yet he ascended the throne under the most unfavorable conditions at the age of 59 and he is now nearly 71 years of age and still going strong. Servia has managed to crowd more history into the last decade than any other country and has had three big wars on its hands in the last three years. Without an ounce of respectable reputation Servia has greatly increased its political prestige during the reign of King Peter and has shown almost miraculous endurance and stability against appalling odds.

Old Man Peter belongs to the Klepht line as distinguished from the rival dynasty of the Obrenovitches. He spent most of his life in exile in very reduced circumstances, never running to more than a top back room at the chief hotel in the town. He married an inexpensive Princess on the strength of his great expectations and his descent from Karageorgevitch of Klepht, who was murdered in a hotel by Obrenovitch, the pork-dealing Prince.

His wife died while he was still in exile, his children were all born in exile. His eldest son has proved a veritable thorn in his side, a reckless, unstable, balderdash sort of a fellow who had a penchant for getting poor father in wrong.

He ascended the throne after the murder of his predecessor and his Queen by revolutionaries under revolting and hideous circumstances, and Servia was in very bad odor with the nations for some years after.

Peter reigns over a kingdom about as big as California with a population of four and a half million, yet after having weathered the terrors and privations of two wars, it was plunged head first into this last little affray by the murderous inclinations of one of its numerous political societies, which murdered Prince Ferdinand of Austria and his wife, just to show the world how it really felt about Austria, which had annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina three years before.

By some miracle old King Peter managed to scrape a few hundred thousand soldiers together, to say nothing of some stray dollars. The Austrians bombarded his capital for four months and finally captured the ruins. And the newspapers wrote some very touching obsequies for Servia.

But, like Mark Twain's demise, the rumors were slightly exaggerated, and in a few days we see the game little kingdom at it again. King Peter knows all about exile and he doesn't want any more of it at his advanced age. So behold the Servian army once more gathering up the fragments and led by the aged King on a noble steed, which was probably borrowed and had to live on expended bullets! Big Austria got the surprise of its life and fled the country unceremoniously.

Now we hear that millions of Servians are starving, that there is no money left in the treasury, that the palace expenses have been cut down to a few dollars a week and that Germany is sending 400,000 soldiers to teach the little upstart a lesson.

In the meantime, however, Servia has learned to live on air and water, and old King Peter is bracing himself for a fresh effort. They have been crushed forever so many times that they have got quite used to it and treat it with magnificent indifference. It never seems to prevent them getting another uncanny victory over vastly superior forces—and there is small comfort in conquering that sort of a foe. Take it all round, Servia is the miracle of this war; she began it and it seems likely that she will be the noisiest corpse on deck when the shindy is over.

MORE ACTION AND LESS PALAVER.

President Wilson has evidently been reading and taking counsel from last summer's files of The Times, in which it urged him to drop his watchful waiting for the exodus of Huerta and his solicitation of that person to direct the firing of twenty-one guns in front of the American flag, and to discontinue his policy of suffering arms and ammunition for Carranza to cross the border, and to invite the co-operation of European and South American powers in peaceful co-operative intervention in Mexican affairs.

The fiasco of forcibly seizing and occupying and then sneakingly abandoning Vera Cruz having been succeeded by a practice of "parley-vooing," during which the property of Americans has been seized and its owners murdered by the Carranza government, President Wilson has again awakened to the necessity of "doing something" in Mexico. That something takes the shape of protesting against the continued government assassination of Catholic priests and in demanding the release of binding twine needed for American harvests, which twine Carranza has despotically withheld from shipment at Progreso.

Uncle Sam cannot but view with indignation and horror the cutting of the throats of priests, and that fact alone is sufficient to justify his interference in Mexican affairs. But, oh, oh, oh! when to this is added the unspeakable outrage of withholding from our farmers the twine which they will soon need for binding their grain the situation becomes unbearable, according to President Wilson.

The condition has, during the last nine months, so changed in Europe that we can no longer expect a repetition of what was done in China when the United States joined forces with Germany and England and marched on Peking to preserve the lives and property of foreigners from the Boxers.

What we do now we will probably be compelled to do either alone or in co-operation with Chile, Argentina and Brazil. What we do now we should do promptly and efficiently. There has been too much watchful waiting, too much talk and not enough "doing."

We are to an extent morally charged with duties, delay in performing which daily makes the task more difficult.

Dr. Walter F. Rittman, who has discovered an improved process for the production of gasoline from petroleum, the secret of toluci, the base for aniline dyes, and benzol, the base for high explosives, three of the most important discoveries in recent years, is an Ohio man, and the Ohio State Normal School that graduated Gov. Willis is his alma mater.

EUTHANASIA.

There is a merciful provision of nature known to medical science as "euthanasia." This is a deadening of the mental faculties that, after the body has been hopelessly injured or worn out, makes death appear a blessing. What we call the resignation of the Christian to the Divine will, or the quiet faith in a future existence exemplified as the parting hour draws near, is to the medical practitioner the influence of euthanasia—a nerve anesthesia, enabling humanity to die well.

On a beautiful May morning the great continental express was awaiting the moment of departure; a picture of concentrated strength and energy, symbol of the triumph of mind over matter. Watching the baggage man as he stowed away the last truckload of trunks, the engineer filled his lungs with the fresh, sweet air of the spring morning and felt the throb of life in every limb.

He had just answered an idle question put to him by a friend. The engineer was a robust, normal man in the prime of life. The friend had just asked him if he ever felt any fear of death. The big engineer laughed in answer. "No. I've too much responsibility to be afraid of death. I should hate to die—no one is fonder of life than I am. The thought of giving it up makes one shudder. I guess I should put up a tough fight if I thought the old fellow was trying to get me. It's not all selfish, either. There's the wife, and the bairns—they need me."

Half an hour later this splendid piece of machinery lay shattered in the ditch, through the spreading of a few yards of rail, the victory of matter over mind. The engineer was under his wrecked engine, one leg pinned to the ground by tons of metal.

When he opened his eyes two doctors were bending over him preparing a rough anesthetic that they might saw off the limb and release him from the wreck. They had no time to examine him for internal injuries. But somehow the engineer knew; all desire for life had left him.

"No, don't move me, doc," he gasped. "Don't operate, what's the use? For God's sake, let me die!"

It was not cowardice or resignation or rebellion or selfishness that brought so sudden a change in the sentiments of the stricken engineer. It was euthanasia, the breaking down of the mind in sympathy with the broken body.

Evolution of the Hog.

[Savannah News:] The time-honored razor-back hog is giving place to the sleek porker on whose broad back a square meal could be displayed without a drop of coffee being spilled and with no danger of even one of the dishes sliding to the ground. The rooter is being shouldered out of the way in Georgia by the hog that doesn't have to root for a living and is so fat that its efforts to root would be ludicrous. Scientists say that when any part of an animal is long unused it tends gradually to disappear. Does that mean that pig culture will cause the final disappearance of the nasal protuberance of the hog with which it formerly was accustomed to root for its living?

"A Great Congress."

[Philadelphia Press:] When the President declared that it was "a great Congress" he must have had in mind the hard times it created, the increased taxation it imposed and the extravagant appropriations it made. It certainly did beat any other Congress in these particulars.

STREAKS OF WIT.

Others Like Her.

[Detroit Free Press:] "Your daughter's very fond of music, isn't she?"

"Yes, indeed. It's no trouble for her to practice on the piano when I need someone to help me with the dishes."

A Weather Vane.

[Atlanta Constitution:] "What is your occupation?" asked the judge of a witness.

"Same ole thing, jedge—prayin' for rain or shine, as they're needed an' predictin' the end of the world whenever the signs p'int that-away."

The Wife's Training.

[Washington Star:] "My wife's dog has a habit of barking at me every time I come home," said one husband.

"You're lucky," replied the other. "Mine doesn't notice me that much."

In the Usual Way.

[Boston Transcript:] Grateful Patient: Doctor, how can I ever repay you for your kindness to me?

Doctor: Doesn't matter, old man. Check, money order or cash.

Size also Reduced.

[Philadelphia Bulletin:] "The blamed shirts won't fit me; they're three sizes too small!"

"But, Henry, they are regular $3 shirts I got for $1!"

Ready to Help.

[The Segment Block:] The housewife was preparing supper when a man knocked at the door.

"I'm collecting for the Drunkard's Home," he announced.

"Come around in an hour and I'll give you my husband," answered the woman.

On the Fighting Line.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] "Yes, I saw Chawlie Chippendale at the front."

"Good old Chawlie. I suppose he was waving his sword in the sunlight and shouting 'Come on, lads, come on!'"

"Well, no, he wasn't. He was waving a spade and yelling 'Dig, you Tommies, dig!'"

More Liberty Wanted.

[Louisville Courier-Journal:] "Now, remember, you are only allowed one deer," said the license clerk.

"That's queer talk for a man about to be married."

"Oh! Did you wish a marriage license? I was issuing you a license to hunt."

The High Cost of Conquest.

[Youth's Companion:] If a conqueror wants tall men to fight for him he gets them, and they die for him. But whether he wins or loses, he cannot expect the next generation to be so tall; and they are not. Napoleon only three generations ago wanted and used the biggest and strongest men, and they fought and died for him. Later, Michelet, the great French historian, declared that by his wars Napoleon had taken almost five inches from the stature of the French people. Observers in France today are noting how small are the French soldiers compared with the German and the British.

Scientific.

[Sporting Times:] Tramp: In giving me a meal lady, you will be not only doin' me a good turn you will be assistin' nature.

Lady: How do you make that out?

Tramp: Nature abhors a vacuum, lidy.

SENTIMENTAL TOMMY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The gory war god has an odd knack of making Tommy and Jack peculiarly sentimental. If he was anything like the disreputable monster that he seems to be he would surely be consistent enough to make his warriors hard, cruel, vicious, impervious and certainly wholly lacking in soft sentiments. Maybe we shall discover that war's deity is a goddess after all, quite capable of scratching and mutilating with one hand, caressing and fondling with the other.

We have ample evidence that during war time the stern male shows a marked preference for the most hopelessly sentimental ditties, reeking of mushy love and romantic promise. He throws his whole soul into them and cares not who hears him, who sees the soft salt tear upon his cheek.

In the Crimean war "Annie Laurie" proved their main solace, and now again we read the remarks of an army chaplain in France who says "I keep a phonograph at my quarters and brought over a lot or concert records, thinking to cheer the poor devils up a bit, and 'Annie Laurie.' They don't want the rest, but keep me playing 'Annie Laurie' until we have worn out several records of the old song. They will sit and listen to it silently, with their heads on one side, their eyes far away. I have ordered a set of the mushiest old records I can find."

One recalls Taylor's lines in the time of Crimea:

"Give us a song, the soldiers cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When they lay along the batteries' side,
Beneath the shining cannon.
Brave hearts from Severn and the Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.
They sang of love and not of fame,
Forgot was Britain's glory,
Each heart recalled a different name,
But all sang 'Annie Laurie.'"

And no staunch advocate of peace could be more sentimental than that.

The love of war is inherent in men. They like to think they are fighting for some high, good purpose and for their country's honor, but as a matter of fact every able-bodied, normal young man just dotes on a fight for its own sake.

We have been receiving letters from our numerous relatives in the thick of the fight and the letters radiate exhilaration and masculine swank. One boy, a lieutenant on H. M. S. Tiger, writes two pages of unqualified disgust because he had been invalided ashore a couple of days before the big naval engagement with the Germans in the North Sea. He feels that to have been out of that jolly scrap was about the scurviest trick Fate could have played him.

Another, in the Egyptian contingent, is chagrined that they had so easy a time with the Turks, simply had to take 'em all prisoners instead of enjoying a nice, juicy, bloody battle. But he hopes for better luck presently.

And those who have been detailed for land work at home, far from the fighting line, are loud in their resentment and hasten to assure us that they are quite healthy and normal and ready for gore, but a cruel government has ruled otherwise.

Another young sailor, an officer in the merchant marine, writes that he could not stand being out of the fun any longer and, if they had not let him join the fighting navy, he would have gone to Mexico and seen if he could not get into some real war there!

And every letter shows rank sentimentalism between the lines. The H. M. S. Tiger lieutenant was married when war broke out and he declares that he has had nine jolly honeymoons already, made up of one and two-day leaves, and that she is the dearest girl in the world, the possession of whom makes it very easy to brave death or the devil himself, if necessary.

Indeed the officers themselves admit that the more sentimental the man the better the soldier. The most unsatisfactory fighters are those who have not a soul in the world to get sentimental about.

That is doubtless why the government winks at the multitudes of useless little notes enclosed in the socks, belly bands, wool shirts, etc., which many thousands of fair young hands are producing. And one newspaper at least has opened a column called ingeniously "Friends in Counsel," by which maidens can ascertain the names of soldiers and sailors at the front who would like to receive regular correspondence. Their numbers are legion, and a prolific batch of romances are in the making through this artless channel.

It has always been an accepted tradition that men are easy to understand, that women are ever the unfathomable mystery. But women could never be more inconsistent than this. Fancy singing "Annie Laurie" with your whole soul, with bloody slaughter all round you, and the unburied dead making the atmosphere hideous. By all the laws they should be singing fine martial music, if they sing at all, songs of glorious battle and victory, eulogizing brave deeds and fearless death. But oddly enough it is the women who are singing these songs. When a war concert takes place it is some frail bit of femininity who gets up and sings the "Deathless Army," "The Boys of the Old Brigade," "The Campbells Are Coming," "Rule Britannia" and the like, while the deathless army itself is dropping sentimental tears as it hearkens to "Annie Laurie" on the phonograph, while it yells "Tipperary" and waxes soft over "The Sweetest Girl I Know."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

BLUE GRASS.

The blue grass seed I sow, in sorrow, for
I know that other seed will thrive, indeed, but this will never grow. The cockleburs will thrive, and all weeds keep alive, but my blue glass will die, alas, and me to anguish drive. It takes a hundred years to raise a dozen spears; I sow and sow, in grief and woe, and wet the seed with tears.
For long hours every day I take the hose and spray the fertile land where I had planned a gorgeous lawn and gay. In vain!
the seed I sowed around my cheap abode just rots and dies, confound its eyes, and hence this mournful ode. The gentle winds of spring the tall bull thistles bring; the foxtails thrive in blocks of five, the milkweeds dance and sing. The luscious springtime rain brings herbage to the plain; the burdock's there, so rich and rare, the mullein thrives amain. But grass seeds never sprout; they're always down and out; I've sown a ton, and now I'm done—next year
I'll sow some kraut. WALT MASON.

Paying Full Value.

"Fifty cents."

"Me too. I thought he had a barrel."

"If he has, he's got the little apples on top."

CAUGHT IN HIS OWN SKIN GAME.

DRIVER PAYS NEGRO TO TIE HIM UP AND TELL POLICE OF FAKE ROBBERY.

Mannie Lieberman, a driver for the Pacific Grocery and Supply Company, early last night staged a hold-up, in which he was the victim, and, although the stage settings cost him $5.85, he was unable to make Police Detectives Browning and Bowe believe that he really lost the $65 which belonged to the company for which he worked. After $50.10 of the money was found by the detectives in Lieberman's sock he was locked up on a charge of embezzlement.

The police first learned of the fake hold-up when a negro telephoned to the station and declared that a man had been held up and tied to a wagon at Jackson and Alameda streets. Detectives Browning and Bowe answered the call and found Lieberman tied to his wagon seat. He was taken by the detectives to Central Police Station and questioned.

Just as the detectives were about to turn him loose Detective Browning remembered that Lieberman had been in trouble with the police about a year ago. Becoming suspicious of the man's story the detectives ordered him to strip off his clothing. In the man's sock they discovered the money. He then confessed.

According to Lieberman's story, he needed the money, which he had collected on his afternoon's rounds, and paid a negro whose name he says he cannot remember to tie him to his wagon seat. The negro, according to Lieberman, received $5.85 for his work and was the man who notified the police of the fake hold-up.

Lieberman told the police that he lives at No. 3102½ Griffith avenue and that he has a wife and two children. The prisoner declared that he attempted to steal the money because his family needed clothing and food.

FIREMEN'S QUEEN FROLIC TONIGHT.

VAUDEVILLE AND HILARITY TO REIGN—CONTESTANTS ALL VIVIDLY ACTIVE.

Nothing but joy. This is the announced programme for the fire department queen's masquerade ball and midnight frolic tonight in Shrine Auditorium.

A novel offering of vaudeville and specialties has been prepared, including a "peacock walk" by a toe dancer, a monologue by ex-Mayor Shank of Indianapolis, solos by a prima donna, a pianalogue and character songs, and a film comedy by actors from two of the Los Angeles motion-picture companies. One of the features tonight will be "Fighting the Flames," a descriptive one-step.

At midnight chorus girls will usher in St. Patrick in a musical spectacle. The saint will then take charge of the dance. A confetti battle also will be waged. The acts for tonight have been donated by the Los Angeles theaters.

Last night at the Orpheum Mrs. Belle S. Swall occupied the royal box. Accompanying her were Sergt. J. W. Tyler, her campaign manager, and other officers of the police department, with their families. Mrs. Swall was escorted to the theater by the white squadron of the Elks and the police band.

In the police parade this afternoon, which will be held to advertise the big ball at Ocean Park tomorrow night, Mrs. Swall will ride. The dance tomorrow night will be under the joint auspices of the Los Angeles, Santa Monica and Venice departments.

The Pacific Electric employees' "queen road show" opened its Southern California tour last night in the Woman's Club House at Whittier. Eight musical vaudeville acts were presented. Tonight the performance will be repeated at Brea and tomorrow night at Artesia. Friday and Saturday nights the Pacific Electric employees will hold a "Holiday in Hades" in old Masonic Hall, No. 431 South Hill street. Miss Mather, the Pacific Electric boys' candidate, will shake hands today with employees of the Southern Pacific shops.

Gladys Nicholson, fiesta queen candidate of the motion-picture manufacturers, was the queen of the ball last night at Universal City.

The "Betterley Boosters" of Long Beach will usher in St. Patrick's Day with a dance this evening at the municipal auditorium. They expect 1500 couples to participate.

Employees of the Los Angeles Railway Company will conjure 50 cents each from 750 candidates at a Mystic Archer initiation to be held next Tuesday at the South Park shops of the company. The proceeds will aid Miss Maud V. King, the employees' queen candidate.

Postal service employees will dance tomorrow night at Shrine Auditorium to raise campaign funds for Alpha O. Lamb, their queen choice.

The Eagles' queen circus will open at Redondo Beach Saturday with two performances. Kid McCoy, in a physical culture demonstration, will be featured.

Of Permanent Value.

In order to supply the demand by winter tourists for copies of the 1915 Midwinter Number of The Times, which contains nearly 200 pages of concise, storied, encyclopedic, reliable information about Southern California, several thousand additional copies of this incomparable special edition have been printed and can be purchased at The Times Office for 10 cents each. Help advertise California by sending to eastern addresses copies of this superbly illustrated Midwinter Number, which will be postpaid to any address in the United States for 15 cents.

Confession Wrings Murder Threat from One of Two Who Slugged Huntington Park Marshal.

Alton Vaile, ex-convict, who, with F. D. Dawson, alias Glenn Loving, brutally assaulted City Marshal Ford of Huntington Park Saturday morning, threatened to kill Loving when the two were brought face to face yesterday after he had learned that his pal had confessed.

Vaile rushed toward Loving, according to Deputy Sheriff Fox, yelling "I will kill you if I ever get out of here." He was seized by officers and taken back to his cell. Loving has made a detailed confession of the crime. They will not be arraigned for several days. Marshal Ford is in a critical condition at Dr. Preston's Home Hospital in Huntington Park.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

Mrs. Lucius L. Vogel,
A dinner hostess of the past week.

THE LOS ANGELES COUNTRY CLUB was the scene of an unusually attractive luncheon party yesterday with Mrs. Joseph K. Clark hostess. Two prominent visitors were thus prettily complimented, Mrs. Marcus Daly of New York and Mrs. Patrick Clark of Spokane. One long board with its handsome appointments had covers for fifteen guests. It was done in rich yellows, with a mass of acacia blooms from which fell graceful bows of pale yellow tulle, extending to the ends of the perfectly appointed board. The only light fell from many softly-veiled candles, placed equidistant, each holder being tied fetchingly in tulle. Throughout the serving of the elaborate menu the yellow motif was observed.

The luncheon was the initial social courtesy of many charming affairs which are planned for the honorees.

Newlyweds Return.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Emmett Whitley, who were married here on the 11th inst., have returned from their honeymoon, spent in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Whitley will spend the spring months at their country home on Sherman way.

Two Marriages of Interest.

Cupid has been a very busy matchmaker in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Nance, No. 324 South Gramercy, this spring, having conquered twice. Mrs. Nance's son, Malhon Kenion Nance, was married only a fortnight since to Miss Marion Sanders of Minnesota, who was a visitor here, and the young folks are spending their honeymoon in San Diego. On Saturday night at the parsonage of Dr. Lee, Miss Elizabeth Sebree of Paducah, Ky., who has been the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. Nance, plighted her troth to William Shivers. The following day they left for San Francisco, where they will pass a few weeks.

House Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rigg announce the marriage of their daughter, Hilda, to William Wallace Andrews. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. J. M. Schaefle at the home of the bride in Highland Park. The wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Fleming. Immediately following the ceremony the bridal couple left for San Francisco, and upon their return will be at home in Highland Park.

For Mrs. Bilhars.

Mrs. Agnes R. Stotts and Miss Stotts of South Hoover will entertain at a luncheon on Thursday, as a courtesy to Mrs. Edward Bilhars, of Iowa. The party is the first of a series of three social events which will be given by the hostesses.

Sunday Night Dinner.

Mrs. Lucius L. Vogel, No. 2271 Cambridge street, presided over a charmingly informal dinner on Sunday evening as a courtesy to Miss Grace Johnson of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. John Welsley Ulm of Chicago, Mrs. M. E. Montgomery of Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cammini of New York, Mr. and Mrs. James Chalmers and Benjamin Chalmers of Ocean Park, Benjamin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Fleming and the hosts.

A Coming Event.

Mrs. Charles Clark Gates and Mrs. Donald Frances Gates have issued cards for an at home to be given on Tuesday afternoon of next week.

Visiting in California.

A coterie of notable visitors to California is composed of Mrs. Robert Fullerton, son Donald and daughter, Miss Katherine, Mrs. Charles Hewitt and daughter, Margaret, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fields, all of Des Moines, Iowa. The Fields are in Hollywood, the others are at the Maryland, Pasadena.

Musical Evening.

The Formosa in Hollywood entertained Wednesday evening with a musicale. The programme was given by Miss Lillian Smith, concert pianist; Mrs. Maria Thresher-Webb, violin, and Mrs. Hennion Robinson, pianist.

Meds' Jollification.

The California Eclectic Medical Students enjoyed a St. Patrick's party at the cosy home of Dr. Roth on Saturday evening. The decorations, games, prizes, music, refreshments, toasts and stories all accentuated the St. Patrick features.

Theater Party.

Mrs. F. W. Bennett and Mrs. E. Spangler were joint hostesses at a luncheon, followed by a party at the Orpheum, recently. Guests numbered Mesdames R. W. Williams, Fred Jonas, D. E. Pepper, James Fisk, M. W. Harker, G. Klienau and J. C. Ferguson and Miss Gertrude Williams.

For Tomorrow.

Among the largest social affairs of the week will be the bridge luncheon which Mrs. J. F. Waggoner and Mrs. R. S. McClelland will give tomorrow, St. Patrick decorations and suggestions will be carried out in the proposed artistic motif.

To Tour the Orient.

A party of well-known Angelenos will leave April 1 on a three months' tour of the Orient, sailing from San Francisco April 3 on the Shinyo Maru. The party will be in Japan for the cherry blossom season and are to be entertained by high officials in not only that interesting country but also in Honolulu, China and the Philippines. The personnel numbers Mrs. O. A. Ellis, W. W. Hayward, D. F. Morrison, George Lunt, Luke Hubbard and Mrs. A. C. Perce.

Entertains Seventy-five.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Patton on Sunday night entertained seventy-five guests, complimenting Mrs. Harry West, and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Chase of Des Moines. Mrs. B. L. Harding and Mrs. Robert Fullerton poured, while Mrs. Swords assisted the hostess.

Dancing Party.

Miss Evangeline Kroh entertained with a delightful dancing party Saturday evening at the Jamieson. About thirty guests were present.

Montana Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clarke and son of Miles City, Mont., are at the Merritt Jones, Ocean Park. Mrs. Clarke is one of the largest lumber dealers in that State.

Quiet Wedding.

The many friends of Miss Evelyn Cooley Tylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Tylor, formerly of Van Ness avenue, but now living near Bakersfield, will be surprised to learn of her marriage to William Walter Harpman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harpman of West Thirty-seventh street. The ceremony was performed in All Saint's Episcopal Church, Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. Leslie E. Learned officiating. The young couple are on an automobile honeymoon trip, and upon their return will be at home at No. 1176 West Thirty-seventh place.

Musical Tea.

Mrs. Henry Flint, Mrs. John W. Thayer, Mrs. W. D. Tanner, Mrs. J. W. Eccleston, Mrs. C. A. Mathews, Mrs. Frank Collier, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. William Jamison, Mrs. L. W. Harmon, Mrs. J. I. Moyse and Mrs. Ella D. Hanna, directors of the Lyric Club, will entertain in honor of the members and their guests this afternoon at Symphony Hall, Blanchard building, with a musical tea. One hundred and fifty guests are invited.

Returning Home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bennett and mother, who have been passing the winter pleasantly in Southern California, the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, will start back to their eastern home this week, stopping en route to visit the San Francisco expcaition.

Take New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bullard, formerly of No. 4419 Santa Monica boulevard, have moved to No. 5436 Virginia avenue, Hollywood.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

A large audience listened in rapt attention and sympathetic understanding to Miss Kate M. Foley as this wonderful Los Angeles woman told to members of the Woman's City Club yesterday one experience after another that had come to her in her great life work—that of teaching the blind to read.

The main part of her address she read from the usual embossed paper, her fingers feeling their way rapidly along the lines. Herself a victim of infant ophthalmia, and knowing every step in the difficult path of the blind, her life's work finds its keynote in the greatest social service possible—that of helping her own blind brothers and sisters in "finding the light" by giving them free instruction in reading by the raised-lettering system; then she goes a step farther and gets to the real kernel, by agitating public opinion in passing bills which will help in the human progress of all centuries to come. "If you do nothing else this year but help in the passage of Assembly Bill No. 178 and Senate Bill No. 755 you have done enough; you could do nothing finer than to help in the prevention of one case of blindness," said Miss Foley. "Have a share in opening up a new world for the poor unfortunates who have lost their eyesight; help them adjust their lives, and to give the greatest service, in helping them help themselves. Send to the blind an occasional ticket to a concert; take them for an auto ride now and then; offer to read to them when possible—just help give a little pleasure to the blind," earnestly cried the speaker. And she opened up new avenues for usefulness to the many ladies who are so eager to help in the human welfare.

"There's nothing marvelous in making the best of a bad situation," modestly expressed Miss Foley, as she told of her great work.

Each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, in the free county library, Miss Foley teaches all who come—free—to every blind person in the city who wants to learn to read. One colored man, an Adventist, wanted to learn to read the Bible, so he entered Miss Foley's class, and in a few weeks he was ready for a book. He wanted to read Mark, and when the book was given him he started to read, and said: "I sure know it is Mark they gave me, not John," and the patient teacher knew her pupil had succeeded in helping himself.

Miss Foley feels that social service has found its highest form in the library extension work, in which she is at present engaged. She is the only home teacher for the blind in the State. Some of her pupils start to learn reading even after 60 years of age. Think of it! After a month or six weeks they can read the Bible, not rapidly, but they can read. "I make a person laugh at least once during his lesson; a laugh is worth 1000 groans in any mouth," happily philosophized Miss Foley.

Her exceptional talk was far too short. She was given the closest attention. In the history of the Woman's City Club there has never been a more exceptional programme, nor on a more humane topic.

Mrs. E. C. Brainerd presided.

Patrons of Art.

On Friday afternoon, at the headquarters of the College Woman's Club in Trinity building, and continuing until April 3, an initial exhibition of the work of the Print Makers will be held, showing etchings, monotypes and other autographic prints. Most of the artists who will exhibit are prominently known, three of whom are also valued members of the College Women's Club—Mrs. Benjamin C. Brown, the landscape painter; Miss Hannah Thompson and Mrs. M. Hooker Mayhew. The first-named ladies are, respectively, president and secretary of the Print Makers.

The announcement is doubly important, in that for the first time in the history of the College Woman's Club the cultured organization is to serve as patron for outside artists. Mrs. Robert Peters, who is chairman of the art section of the College Woman's Club, is in charge. The work will be on exhibition each afternoon at the clubrooms until April 3, and the public will be cordially welcomed. Tea will be served.

Social Service.

The Women's Missionary Society of Immanuel Presbyterian Church had social service as its slogan for the March meeting. Mrs. Frank Gibson told of the desire to help the home conditions of the foreign women, and of the great importance of the neighborhood schools. She said that very often the immigrant only learns of our laws through breaking them; she also urged all women interest themselves in bill No. 724. Miss Barnwell told how the Y.W.C.A. was the pioneer in the night school movement of Los Angeles, almost the pioneer with the cafeteria, and now it has two home workers among the foreign women. It is their aim to bring the mother up from the condition of a scorned, old-world person to an understanding American. Ninety per cent. of the Juvenile Court offenders are those who have lost respect for the mother's authority. The social science society of the church desires to lend a helping hand to the less fortunate. The nineteenth century made the world a neighborhood, and the twentieth century will make it a brotherhood.

Reception Today.

Between 3 and 5 o'clock this afternoon the Friday Morning Club, assisted by the Ebell Club, and various college organizations of the city, and women's clubs, will give a large reception in honor of Baron and Baroness Sotokichi Uriu, prominent Japanese visitors to the city. The Baroness was educated at Vassar and both the college women and members of the Japanese-American League have made their California visit a notable one.

Presidents of the various women's clubs will be in the receiving line. Music and short talks will complete an interesting programme.

Amateur Players.

"UNDER COVER" THRILL FACTORY

Warner Scores New Hit in Smuggling Play.

Clever Role is Enacted by Isabel Irving.

Melodramatic Plot Keeps the Audience Guessing.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

A corking drama with staccato thrills simply tumbling over each other is Roi Cooper Hegrue's "Under Cover," which opened last night at the Majestic, with Henry B. Warner, Rita Stanwood and Isabel Irving playing leading roles. It is "meller" with a difference.

And again is upset the old convention as to "construction," viz., that the audience must not be kept in ignorance as to what the people on the stage mean by their actions. If you have not read about "Under Cover" you do not understand until the very last act that Henry B. Warner is really a thoroughly nice young man, and dependable, even if he has devilishly fascinating manners! Also you learn for the first time that there's graft in the secret service in stageland, a thing that's never, never been known to happen before. There's not one surprise, but a dozen, with the final denouement in the very last act that's absolutely the last word in sip-boom-ah.

The plot hinges on the fact that a young society girl has stolen to pay her gambling debts, and her sister is brought into the secret service to discover another criminal and told that if she refuses to do the secret service work her own sister will be sent to prison! Her lover is the suspected man.

Henry B. Warner, as Denby, the man suspected of smuggling, has some subtle work to do, and does it inimitably. His very characterization keeps the audience on tiptoe as to whether he really is guilty or not. His manner balances nicely between the manner of the conventional smooth crook and the light and airy method of the man of the world. He has some mannerisms, but they are delightful. It is his poise, his finished acting and these delightful mannerisms that get his work over. Of voice he has none.

Miss Rita Stanwood plays Ethel Cartwright, the society girl inveigled into the secret service, with a quiet strength and finesse that are most creditable. A more robust method might seem more effective to the hasty observer.

Isabel Irving, in the very flower of her beauty and artistry, is simply stunning as Alice Harrington, the lady into whose house the smuggled goods are taken. By the way, she is one of the few women who can smoke cigarettes and say "damn" on the stage without an edge of vulgarity.

Amy Cartwright is beautifully played by Frances Stanford, who gets everything possible out of the bit she does.

T. J. McGrane, as Daniel Taylor, deputy surveyor of customs, is simply immense. All the other parts are well done, especially that of William Courtleigh, who plays a delicious Monty.

There are some clever and amusing lines in the play, such as "Yielding to temptation is the only thing that makes life worth living!"

Orpheum.

From the opening wiggle of Conductor Frankenstein's baton to the final flicker of a surprisingly newsy Pathe Weekly, the Orpheum bill this week is big league stuff.

Each act is a headliner in its own line, and they all succeeded in getting over without any springing of the American flag or having the orchestra come to the rescue with "Dixie."

Judged from the patting of hands following the various acts, the versatile Rigoletto twins take the top honors. These two handsome young gentlemen started out playing banjos and ended up about half an hour later with nothing on but a couple of fig leaves, buzzing around on a trapeze like a Fourth of July pinwheel.

They showed themselves to be first-class jugglers, musicians, mimics, illusionists, poseurs, acrobats and aerial gymnasts. Brother Charles being especially strong on the subtle stuff, while Brother Henry was chiefly remarkable for his gymnastic ability and his double-jointed shoulders. Their act was a bear.

Alexander MacFadyen scored a real hit at the piano. As an interpreter of Liszt and a composer of his own numbers he showed wonderful ability. His technique was superb. His selections thrilled the audience, and when he finally returned after much applause and tore off an unexpected rendition of "Too Much Mustard" he brought down the house.

Hugh Herbert and company, in "The Sons of Abraham," gave an interesting and pleasing twenty minutes, keeping the audience alternately at the point of tears and in convulsions. Needless to say, Mr. Herbert was most of the show.

Edwin Stevens and Miss Tina Marshall presented three separate and distinct sketches, designed chiefly to show off the skill of Mr. Stevens, in which end they were remarkably successful. He is an actor of rare skill, and the mingled pathos and humor of his characterizations were more than pleasing.

Mijares, billed as "one of the best in his class," is a first-class tight-rope artist. His act is sufficiently varied and brief to leave one with a pleasant taste in the mouth and a little fire in the eye.

Creighton brothers and Belmont give "The Mudtown Minstrels" comedy of the "hick" variety, which is really comic and commendably interspersed with some really good jigging by members of the outfit.

The W. Horelik Ensemble is a bunch of gypsy dancers of considerable ability. Their act is notable for speed rather than for any other quality, and, while it starts rather slowly, it ends up with a lot of whirlwind stuff, a la Russian dancers, with everybody on the stage buzzing around like a top.

The Pathe "twice-a-weekly" is enlivened by two actual war scenes of considerable interest and plausibility, while Frankenstein's music is of the customary high standard.

Empress.

Ex-Mayor Lew Shank of Indianapolis is on deck with the joy stuff at the Empress this week, for he has the necessary assets for a good comedian.

With the aid of motion pictures he related how he had cut down the high cost of living in his city by eliminating the middleman and all his associates and by selling staples directly from the producer to the consumer.

Ricca Scott, the brilliant New York actress, offers one of the most gripingly dramatic playlets ever presented on the vaudeville stage, "The Gray of the Dawn." Miss Scott, although she lacks the freedom and poise which it requires, enacts the part of Kate Kerrigan with unusual dramatic intensity and emotion.

David Kaleikoa charms with some sweet and delightful Hawaiian music. Arthur Pecan and Ruth Hartley offer dainty bits of song and comedy. Louise Richmond and Arthur Mann sing original sentimental ballads. The Reckless Trio recklessly perform many startling and thrilling acrobatic feats.

Mabel Normand and Roscoe Arbuckle in a clever Keystone comedy conclude the bill.

Unusually important is the announcement that Marcus Loew has engaged the famous actress, Rose Coghlan, to appear shortly in excerpts from her stage successes.

Pantages.

Overflowing with music, song and laughter, "The Wrong Bird" warbled and chirped itself straight into the hearts of the "first-nighters" yesterday at Pantages. Seldom is a tabloid musical comedy presented by a company so capable and efficient as the group of merry songsters who assist clever A. Morse Moon.

It is impossible to delineate the plot because there is none; it is impossible to describe the galaxy of pretty Mormon beauties because they must be seen; and it is impossible to laud the wit because it must be heard.

A. Morse Moon plays the role of the Teutonic taxidermist commendably and fortunately possesses the ability to restrain himself from going to extremes like many vaudeville comedians.

Miss Margaret Whitney, the talented composer of "The Song Birds," conducts the musical numbers herself. Many original innovations in musical acts have been introduced by her in this offering.

Sighing for new worlds to conquer and not satisfied with having achieved unusual recognition as a composer and opera singer, Mahr Myhoff has entered the field of playwriting. His "Service" is a gripping, thrilling and unusual dramatic playlet.

With its genuine atmosphere of the train it tells the story of a trustworthy express messenger by severe means is forced to escape with a valise full of bullion, with which he is supposed when he is pursued by the police. Finishing this act with a fight between the train robber who has stolen the valise and attempts to steal the bullion. The wife, who has been deceived by her husband, rescues him from the robber and cleverly absolves herself from blame, thereby winning the sympathy of the audience for the capture of the robber.

Harry Cornell as the husband gives an adequate and sympathetic portrayal of the tempted employe, who is strong at every climax of the emotional stress of his situation.

Bolaban in original and startling sensations; Paul Nicholson and Ethel Greenwood, in clever dancing specialties; Cornell and Corley in a comedy sketch; Arga, the trick violinist, playing everything from a violin to a saw; Cummings and Gladys in eccentrique acrobatic specialties, and the ever-popular Kinetograph will comprise the remainder of the bill. The most original and costly production ever sent to Los Angeles is promised.

Hippodrome.

The "Dance de Salome" is a most artistic creation of original ideas presented by beautiful girls. The choreans that rendered the dance, at times of Ruth St. Denis, were perfect in all conditions. Mahr Myhoff and his company of artists present a series of classic and other dances of rare beauty and grace as ever enjoyed in Los Angeles.

The Peacock Dance, by Mahr Myhoff, is the production from a dancing point. The peacock struts about proudly, then spreads its beautiful tail.

The male member of the company is a nimble little man who leaps as if he had springs of rubber.

The finale is an original dance—the four girls showing their cooking wisdom.

War Waged on A.A.A. While Officials Dine in Peace.

Five powers in greatest revolution of motor history.

In Anaheim.

TIGERS BEAT GOOFS, 6TO 3

Haps Start Things in the First Inning.

Goofs Score Two in Fourth Off Hitt.

Young Piercey Finishes Out the Game.

On returning from San Diego, Hap Hogan and his Venice Tigers dropped off at Anaheim long enough to honey-foggle, horsewiggle, doublecross, rob, burglarize, swindle and otherwise demolish the White Sox Goofs 6 to 3. As this was the prefatory appearance of the irregulars around this particular and highly-respected section of the State, and providing yesterday's little performance is to be taken into consideration, our two ball clubs should accomplish considerable in the manner of games won during the approaching conflicts with the Goofs.

As Anaheim is a young and youthful village, consequently they possess a young and youthful diamond, which is bounded on the south by windmills, on the east by Farmer Squire's hen coops, on the west by vast acres of grain, which is just bursting upward, and on the north by Anaheim's resident section. A person who has never cast his chicken inspectors over anything outside of a big league ball park would undoubtedly take the stage for a sand wash or quicksand plantation.

BIG CROWD.

The little grand stand was crammed to capacity, while the sidelines were populated with people all piled together like a herd of buffalo. Had San Diego turned out as well the Tigers would have remained there to complete their spring training stunts.

RIGHT OFF THE REEL.

That the Tigers intended to get in a good day's work was plainly visible to the unwrapped optic, as they stepped out and actually snatched off a couple of runs in the very first inning. All this happened before Lathrop was aware of the fact that a baseball game was in progress.

Carlisle was handed credentials which entitled him to free passage to the initial station. Wilhoit crashed a single out to the right pasture, sending Walt ninety feet nearer the scoring arrangement.

Hetling dumped the rotund in front of Lathrop for a sacrifice, advancing Joe and Walt around another notch. Bayless was walked. Reisberg cleaned off second and third with a long two-bagger out toward the center field sand dunes.

WIGGLE ALONG.

The Goofs strived and wriggled in vain in their attempts to penetrate Doughbelly Hitt's repertoire of crooked-arm slants in the first two rounds, and in the third they became decidedly fresh for a bunch of irregulars.

Lathrop lifted a long fly to right in this section of the battle, but Wilhoit thoroughly caged the blow. Berger and Breton singled in rapid succession, hardly giving Dough time to whale the sand dust between bingles. Just to get square, Hitt proceeded to

WHAT THE AUTOMOBILE WAR IS ALL RAGING ABOUT.

HERE is the cause of war between the Automobile Club of Southern California and the American Automobile Association, reduced to bulletin form:

The auto club claims that the A.A.A. has broken an agreement by which the auto club was to direct racing affairs in Southern California. Through its officers the auto club says: "We have have been paying dues for years with no visible benefit. Hereafter we will use this money for ourselves. We are through with the A.A.A. forever."

The A.A.A., through Mr. Bachelder and Mr. Kennerdell, state that Southern California wanted to have more privileges and more to say than the other auto clubs in the A.A.A. "We are unable to get over this matter," says Messrs. Kennerdell and Bachelder. "There are six hundred auto clubs in the A.A.A. and one of them until now was in Southern California. If the auto club wants to withdraw and use its own money for its own purposes we will try to struggle along without their $300 and continue to do our work along the lines of national legislation and road building. This is a small affair and we do not know what the result will be."

Unhurt.

ROW WITH A.A.A. WILL NOT STOP VENICE RACE.

Don Lee, the Official Referee, Suddenly Resigns His Office — Ralph De Palma Announces that He will not Drive the DeLage After All — Hughy Hughes Can't Start with the Marmon.

THE withdrawal of the local organization from under the wing of the A.A.A. will in no way affect the Venice Road Race, which is scheduled for tomorrow, according to Chairman Kennerdell. "The sanction was granted to the city of Venice and I have assumed charge of the race as official A.A.A. contest representative here," said Kennerdell at dinner last night. "If the race was being run under the auspices of the Automobile Club of Southern California it might be a different matter, however."

Don Lee, who was to have been the referee of the Venice race, resigned yesterday. He gave as his reason that he had business in the northern part of the State which demanded immediate attention and could not remain over for the race tomorrow. It is believed, however, that there was another motive back of Don Lee's resignation.

Standish L. Mitchell was named as referee as soon as Don Lee's resignation was received.

Chairman Leon T. Shettler of the Racing Committee of the Western Automobile Association, left for San Francisco last night, and could not be located by wire en route. Shettler has been a prime factor in Southern California racing for the past ten years, and as chairman of the Racing Committee of the Western Automobile Association has figured prominently in all the moves in the racing field in this section.

DE PALMA QUITS.

Ralph De Palma stated last night that he positively would not drive at Venice, although he had been officially nominated as the pilot of the French DeLage. "With so short a time to practice," said the Great Italian speed king, "I cannot do the DeLage justice, I fear, and I will have to refuse to start."

Chairman Kennerdell of the contest board stated that the Marmon would not start with Hughy Hughes at the wheel. The rules will allow a driver to be substituted, but one car can not be substituted for an entry. Hughes tried to get in as an entry after the lists closed, but was refused. When the Napier was damaged in practice Orville Jonas tried to enter the Marmon with Hughes up.

Hughes appeared on the track yesterday with a note bearing the signature of Don Lee, requesting Starter George Adair to allow the light car champion to participate in the practice. Adair consented and Hughes made a lap, but retired with a broken part.

Unless the Napier is repaired and ready to start there will be but twenty cars in the race. The DeLage will start, although De Palma will not be at the wheel. C. R. Newhouse, who drove the French machine in the Grand Prix and Vanderbilt Cup races at San Francisco will be on the fast French number.

The rest of the drivers will start unless there are accidents in practice today, and the withdrawal of the Auto Club will in no way effect the success of the first annual Venice speed duel.

RACING CONTINUES.

Both Chairman Kennerdell and A. G. Bachelder of the A.A.A. said last night that they hoped to see the Venice race a great success.

"I was on my way east," said Bachelder, "and happened in on this unfortunate uprising on the part of the officials of the Auto Club. It is unfortunate and we regret that the officials of the organization took the step that they did, but there are only 600 affiliated clubs in the A.A.A., and if one or a dozen drop out, the great organization will go on just the same and we will continue to do the good work which we have done in the past.

"Even if the Automobile Club of Southern California is not a member of our association, we will continue to work for good roads, and the ac-

AUTO CLUB BREAKS OFF ALL RELATIONS WITH A.A.A.

As a Result of the Dismissing of the Local Contest Racing Board the Largest Auto Club in America Becomes a Motoring "Outlaw" Organization — A.A.A. Officials are Airily Indifferent as to the Event.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

"HERE'S to the unity of California, and the success of the Venice road race." This was the response of A. G. Bachelder, chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Automobile Association, to the announcement that the Automobile Club of Southern California had withdrawn from affiliation with the A.A.A.

At a meeting of the directors of the Automobile Club of Southern California, held late yesterday afternoon, resolutions were passed severing any and all connections with the American Automobile Association. This action on the part of the club officials came as the explosion of a long feud in which the motor racing sport in Southern California has played an important part.

Standish L. Mitchell, secretary of the Auto Club, said last night that the Southern California touring body had played the go-between for the A.A.A. in this section long enough and that hereafter the American Automobile Association would have to fight its own battles in this section of the country.

MUSTER OUT.

The mustering out of the Contest Committee of the Automobile Club of Southern California by Richard Kennerdell, chairman of the contest board of the A.A.A., brought out the declaration of independence which makes the Auto Club an independent organization. This Contest Committee, consisting of ten members, has been the governing body in all automobile race matters in Southern California since April, 1913. The contest chairman came to Southern California to disband the committee, and he did. President Fred L. Baker of the Auto Club made certain demands by wire to the president of the American Automobile Association, with threats. The conditions were not complied with and the threats were carried out.

KENNERDELL'S OFFER.

Before the ten members of the local Contest Committee handed in their resignations, Kennerdell offered to allow the Auto Club to appoint one man to represent the contest board here.

"I wanted one man whom I could hold responsible for the racing interests in this section," declared Kennerdell. "It made no difference how many men he had as advisors and the ten men could remain on the local Contest Committee, but I wanted one man to represent the eastern board here, just as in all other sections of the country where racing is carried on."

It was also claimed that the local Contest Committee had not been responsible. Sanctions were granted upon recommendation of the local committee and with ten men on the committee, it was impossible to pin the blame for serious errors on any one individual. Kennerdell said that there were ten races held in Southern California last season, of which no official reports were received at the New York office. He also said that the check for one sanction was delayed several weeks, until the check went to protest.

NO PERSONAL GRIEVANCE.

Both Bachelder and Kennerdell denied that any personal grievances had affected the action on the part of the contest board. Kennerdell did admit that he had taken serious exception to the criticism of the contest board by Leon T. Shettler of the Western Automobile Association and said that he felt that the blame for the mismanaged race, in which Jack Callaghan, the Duesenberg driver, lost his life, should have been placed on the members of the local Contest Committee, who recommended that the sanction be granted, rather than upon himself or the members of the A.A.A. contest board.

The A.A.A. officials denied that the influences of the San Francisco race officials had in any way influenced them. While in San Francisco, Kennerdell investigated conditions on the Coast and came south with his mind made up to change the order of things in the race field.

When he threatened to withdraw the sanction from the Venice race he claims that he did so for the good of the sport in this section and that he did not in any way intend to injure the city of Venice.

Standish L. Mitchell went north to interview Chairman Kennerdell after he had threatened to withdraw the Venice sanction and had warned the drivers not to ship to Venice, as there had been no official sanction granted. Mitchell threatened to withdraw the Automobile Club from the A.A.A. and after Kennerdell agreed not to withdraw the Venice sanction, Mitchell took the train for Los Angeles.

BACHELDER'S TRUMP.

Bachelder, chairman of the Executive Committee of the A.A.A., showed up in Los Angeles and called at the Auto Club before the meeting of the directors took place today. He was not admitted to the conference, but was given to understand what was to take place and what to expect.

He was told that the Automobile Club had use for all its funds here in Southern California, that there are many ways in which said funds could be spent for the benefit of Southern California motorists and visiting tourists.

Bachelder came back with the statement that the startling sum of $300 had been the contribution from the Automobile Club of Southern California last year and wanted to know how many miles of highway could be built with that amount.

The secretary of the Auto Club said that the local organization had sent its own representatives to Washington to enlist Federal aid in the building of good roads and that the club was well able to look after its own interests. Bachelder only smiled at this and said that he was afraid that the club would not get much money out of the government till without the aid of the A.A.A. as he had spent too much time in Washington.

THE CONFERENCE.

While Bachelder could not get into the meeting of the auto club directors he had a conference with the

HIT AND RUN USUALLY WORKS.

Weak Sisters Come Through on the Play.

Getting Mind Fixed on Purpose Whole Thing.

Blankenship Against Trying to Outguess Hurler.

SAN JOSE, March 15.—Cliff Blankenship, the Salt Lake manager and veteran big-league catcher, propounded a problem the other day, and one that is well worth careful consideration by both amateur and professional players alike.

Blankenship's query was: Why is it that a man who is trying to work the hit and run play, even if a weak batter, has a disproportionate number of successful attempts not only in landing fairly on the ball, but in actually sending it just where he desires?

When you come to think of it, this is not an unreasonable interrogation, for, as a matter of fact, there are many decidedly indifferent stickers who work the hit and run play with great success. Hal Chase is an example.

GOES AFTER IT.

The answer is that the batter is signaled to hit a certain ball, no matter whether it is wide or over, and sets himself with the deliberate intention of landing on that particular ball, even if he has to display a reach as if using a telegraph pole. The doubt about whether he is to swing at it is settled in advance, and he applies his mind exclusively to connecting with it in the most effective manner. In other words, the batter loses his self-consciousness and his fear of the pitcher, his sense of oppression in the face of a great reputation and devotes himself exclusively to watching that particular ball which he has instructions to hit "somewhere," irrespective of its propelling force or the existence of previous failure.

This is part of the psychology of baseball. Most batters spend entirely too much time trying to outguess the pitcher or doping out what the hurler is going to do next instead of making up their minds to swat the second, fourth or fifth ball shot at them, even if they have to break a belt in reaching for it. They waste their opportunities solving puzzles instead of fixing their determination upon an act of their own.

MENTAL ATTITUDE.

This readjustment of the player's mental attitude necessitated by the hit and run situation is a highly important factor, and the man capable of it may be a valuable batter, although having a low percentage in safe hits.

There are many sluggers who are absolutely unreliable in this brand of team work, while there are other hitsky of the .250 mark who can reasonably be counted upon to slap the ball where the fielder is not likely to be, if the said lowly swatter is told that he must whang the sphere at a given time.

MAKE UP YOUR MIND.

Men like Lajoie, Chase and other good hit and run batters, after getting a couple of strikes, are almost certain to connect with anything short of a wild pitch, and they seldom strike out. They decide to hit that next ball if it is anywhere in the same neighborhood with the plate. They concentrate their attention on the ball and not on the pitcher.

Blankenship believes that it is a good idea for a ball player to make up his mind to hit at a certain ball, regardless of where it is, just as if the hit and run play were on all the time.

SEALS RELEASE COY OUTRIGHT.

MUNDORFF AND BAERWALD TO BE SOLD OR TRADED TO OTHER CLUBS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOYES SPRINGS, March 15.—The time-honored managerial ax was wielded on the Seal outfield today, with the result that only five candidates remain to fight for the four berths available. Bert Coy was tendered his outright release and Howard Mundorff and Rudy Baerwald were notified that deals are pending to deliver their services to other clubs. This leaves Fitzgerald, Bodie and Schaller reasonably sure to be regulars in the outer garden, with Meloan and Tobin to tussle for the utility role.

Just where Mundy and Baerwald will land was not announced, but it is known that Oakland was seriously considering taking Baerwald and Mundorff may land with Salt Lake, and there is a chance that he may return to the Northwestern League.

A complete rest was prescribed for the Seals today, Manager Wolverton taking precautions against the possibility of any of the players going stale. Most of the boys hiked to a near-by swimming pool and put in the afternoon at some healthful exercise.

TWO HURLERS WEAR GLASSES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—For the first time since Will White pitched for the Cincinnati team back in 1884, two young boxmen who wear eyeglasses on the field have secured positions with big league clubs. Hill of the Pirates and Meadows of the Cardinals are the men.

They admit that they cannot gauge the corners of the home plate without the use of spectacles. White wore glasses all through his memorable diamond career, and he never met with an accident.

Russell Blackburne, one of the White Sox infielders, uses glasses off the field, but he doesn't need them while in action. He is not an exception to the rule, inasmuch as other well-known players in the past have "worn blinkers" away from the ball parks.

AUTO CLUB'S RESOLUTIONS.

A Statement of the Reasons Why All Connection has been Severed with the A.A.A.—A Declaration of Independence by the Largest Motoring Club in the World.

WHEREAS, in 1912, because of the action of the contest board of the American Automobile Association in disqualifying without sufficient investigation, certain prominent individuals in Southern California for alleged violations of the A.A.A. racing rules, a general feeling of resentment and dissatisfaction resulted in the formation of a local organization to control automobile racing in Southern California and known as the Western Automobile Association, and

Whereas, the Automobile Club of Southern California, being an affiliated body of the A.A.A., was thereupon appealed to by the A.A.A. for assistance in adjusting the matter and preventing a complete disregard for the authority of the contest board of the A.A.A. in Southern California, and

Whereas, the Automobile Club of Southern California, believing that the A.A.A., through its contest board, had unjustly and without sufficient cause or investigation, made improper rulings and decisions in Southern California, then stated that its affiliations with the A.A.A. would only be continued pending its more favorable representation in the affairs of the A.A.A. and that it would not endure a continuation of the unjust dealings of the A.A.A. contest board in Southern California, and

Whereas, in April, 1912, the Automobile Club of Southern California entered into an agreement with the American Automobile Association whereby the Automobile Club of Southern California was to appoint a committee of ten men to be known as the Contest Committee of the Automobile Club of Southern California, said committee to be the representative of the contest board of the A.A.A. in Southern California, and to have control, under the rules of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, of all automobile racing affairs within the territory of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and

Whereas, the Automobile Club of Southern California, pursuant to said agreement, did appoint its contest committee, which since said appointment has handled all racing affairs in Southern California up to the present time, and

Whereas, Richard Kennerdell, chairman of the contest board of the A.A.A. under authority of the A.A.A., did on March 13, 1915, at Los Angeles, Cal., signify his intention of abolishing the Contest Committee of the Automobile Club of Southern California, which action would be in direct violation of the agreement of April, 1913, between the Automobile Club of Southern California and the A.A.A., and then and there stated that he would appoint one man to represent the contest board in Southern California, which action would place the affairs of the contest board on the same basis in Southern California as in 1912, when the dissatisfaction first arose, and

Whereas, each and every member of said Contest Committee upon being informed by Mr. Kennerdell of his said decision, resigned from said committee.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that because of this action on the part of the A.A.A., the Automobile Club of Southern California at once discontinues its relations with the A.A.A. as an affiliated body, and that it separate itself entirely and absolutely from any connection whatsoever with the A.A.A., and

Be it further resolved, that the secretary so notify the A.A.A. and that the secretary draw a check in payment of any sums due the A.A.A. from the Automobile Club of Southern California.

At Riverside.

CITRUS BELT TRACK MEET TO HAVE LARGE ENTRY.

RIVERSIDE, March 15.—The citrus belt field and track meet will be one of the big features of the celebration in this city next Saturday of the opening of the through trolley service between Riverside and Los Angeles. Nine high schools will compete in the meet—Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Pomona, Colton, Claremont, Chaffey Union, Hemet and Corona. The winners of first, second and third in each event qualify for the Southern California meet in Los Angeles the following Saturday, March 27. The winners at Los Angeles will go to Fresno on April 2 and 3 to compete in the State meet, and the winners there will be entered in the big World's Fair meet at San Francisco on April 9 and 10.

HOUSE FEATURE.

There are at least four of the citrus belt representatives who will certainly qualify for the exposition meet. Meredith House of Riverside Poly High is rated as the greatest high school athlete on the Coast. He holds the Coast record for the 220 low hurdles, 25 1-5s. Coach Gossett of Poly says that House, if the meet here could be stretched over two days, could alone win the meet for Riverside. House could win seven of the thirteen events if he could stand the grill and do his best in each event. He can do the 100-yard dash in 10 1-5s., the 220 in 23, the 440 under 52, the 120 high hurdles in 15 4-5, the 220 hurdles in 25 1-5, 22 feet in the broad jump and 5 ft. 8in. and better in the high jump.

SECOND ROSE.

Glenn Brubaker, the 18-year-old Hemet weight man, is showing better promises for his age than did Ralph Rose in his high school days. Rose established the present world's record of 51ft. in the shot put for boys under 21 years of age. Brubaker, in last year's meet, put the weight 50ft. 9in., just three inches shy of Rose's record. This year he has already scored 51ft. 6in. in practice.

John Yount of Redlands High won second at the Pacific Coast meet at Stanford last year in the half mile, his time being caught at 2 1-5s. Yount runs the 440, the half mile and the relay.

Bobby Cresswell is expected to win a place for Pomona High in the pole vault. He has won this event for the past two years in the Citrus Belt League, and is expected to do better than 11ft. 6in. this year.

OTHER STARS.

Eric Pedley of Riverside, who will be another star in the meet here Saturday, is probably the best all-around high school athlete on the Coast, although he may not reach World's Fair class in track events.

Wendell Baker, the colored boy, who is expected to win the 440 for Pomona on Saturday, is another youngster with a record. He won the fast quarter at the Occidental carnival on Washington's Birthday, stepping the distance in 52 flat.

The mile will be a fight between Frost of Redlands and Martin of Riverside, and the time is expected to be close to 4:40. The present high school record is 4m. 53s., and the boys did 4m. 48s. in the practice meet here last week.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY ATHLETES.

At least 150 of the athletes of the nine schools will be entered in Saturday's big meet, which will be held at the Riverside district fair grounds, commencing at 1:30 p.m.

Pomona won the meet last year with 45 points, Redlands was second with 38, and Riverside third with 20. The stars are more evenly distributed this year and the school which can pull down 30 points will probably win the meet.

Coach Pipal of Occidental will officiate as starter, Mr. Hiatt, superintendent of playgrounds of Los Angeles, as referee, and Mr. Hunt of Pomona as clerk of the course.

Auto Club Breaks.

officials previous to the directors' meeting and both sides were argued back and forth. Neither side would make any concessions and the matter came to a head when the resolutions were passed which broke off completely the affiliations of the Southern California association, with its 6500 members, from the great motor ruling and touring promoting body.

After the chairman of the Executive Committee left the auto club headquarters he met Kennerdell, Fred J. Wagner, Don Lee, William I. Hughson of San Francisco and Los Angeles and J. Alex Sloan, manager of the Case racing team, at the Hotel Alexandria. The officials showed little inclination to take the events of the day seriously, although they all expressed regret that the club had taken the action which it did.

"In the East there is but one California," said Bachelder. "This thing of bickering between Southern California and the northern part of the fair State is not conducive to the best interests of the section, and I hope the club will reconsider its action and join us as boosters."

RACERS NOT WORRIED.

The racing men interested in the war were not at all worried. They stated that motor racing had to be governed and seemed to be perfectly willing that the contest chairman should appoint his representative here to handle the affairs for the eastern body.

Kennerdell said that he had asked the Mayor of Venice to give him a letter to the effect that he assumed all responsibility at the Venice race. At a late hour last night he had not received such a letter and said that unless he received the letter today he might order a few minor changes on the course for the safety of the public and drivers.

Both Kennerdell and Bachelder said that they would attend the practice this morning and that they were hoping to be of assistance to the race management and the citizens of Venice who were promoting such a great event, rather than a hindrance, and that their demands would not be unreasonable in any way.

Haskell Indians of Lawrence, Kan., will play University of Chicago football team at Chicago on November 6 next.

tion of the local organization will not stop us from sending tourists out to California.

"It makes no difference what gain they go through in entering California, the motor tourist will see it all, and Southern California will profit by the work of the A.A.A. regardless of the fact that that organization has withdrawn from the three A's."

Bachelder upheld Kennerdell in his action against the Contest Committee and said that he hoped that racing would continue to be popular in Southern California under the supervision of the representative which was to be appointed by the contest chairman to represent the New York board.

INDIANAPOLIS WILL NOT TALK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) March 15.—"Mum" was the word among the officials of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway when informed that the Southern California Automobile Club had severed all relations with the American Automobile Association.

None cared to officially state what general and far-reaching effect the action of the famous Coast organization would have, although it is generally known here that the Speedway management has had several "run ins" with the triple A.

The coming 500-mile international sweepstakes race is to be held under full A.A.A. sanction, any differences in the past having been amicably settled.

The winner of the Ritchie-Newhall match will play the winner of the Scott and Bell match and Lillian Sprigg will play against Marjorie Wyatt.

For the first time in five years Stanford and California University freshmen will compete on the latter's track April 3, in a relay race in which University of Southern California, Pomona, Occidental, Santa Clara and Illinois will also contest. This is the date for the meet between the University of Illinois and California.

Big Bloomer.

MARTY O'TOOLE IS NOW BACK WHERE HE STARTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—Four years ago Marty O'Toole, then pitching for the St. Paul American Association club, made such a brilliant record that the Giants, Cubs, White Sox and Pirates vied with one another in bidding for his release.

Owner Comiskey went as high as $20,000, but Barney Dreyfuss, who had the inside track, landed O'Toole for $22,500 and several Pittsburgh players.

With the Pirates O'Toole was a big disappointment. He seemed to lose his former skill entirely, and last fall he was sold to the Giants for the waiver price on condition that he made good with McGraw.

O'Toole, however, continued to be a failure, so that the Giants, at the end of the season, sent him back to Pittsburgh. The Pirates then released him unconditionally, as all of the major league clubs waived claim. O'Toole remained out of a job until the Columbus American Association club signed him on trial a few days ago.

ATHLETICS WIN FROM LOUISVILLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAKELAND (Fla.) March 15.—The Philadelphia Americans defeated the Louisville American Association team here today, 4 to 3. The score:

Philadelphia, 4; hits, 8; errors, 2.
Louisville, 3; hits, 3; errors, 2.
Batteries—Shawkey, Harper and Schang, McAvoy; Perry, Northrop, Marks and Clemmons, Crossin.

Collins Fans.

BEAVERS WALLOP WHITE SOX REGULARS, 5 TO 3.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HANFORD, March 15.—Pat Callahan, one of McCredie's half-dozen new pitchers, was in good form today. Big Bill Stumpf whacked out a double at the proper moment, Eddie Collins spent the afternoon in a fruitless attempt to get one lone hit and Portland won the first of a series of three games from the White Sox. The score stood 5 to 3 at the conclusion of a full nine-inning fight.

Callahan was the hero of the hour, not only because he kept the opposition down to one hit in the five innings he pitched, but because his entry into the fray brought about a victory for the Beavers. When Pat took the pitching position at the opening of the fifth inning, the White Sox were in the lead with the count 3 to 1, against Portland.

In addition to stopping the volley of hits gleaned off Rieger, who had started the game, Pat accomplished a feat of which he is justly proud—that of striking out Eddie Collins, the famous ex-Mackman. From his showing today Callahan appears to be the best piece of pitching material that McCredie has at present on his whole staff.

The score:

Club—	R.	H.	E.
Portland	5	7	1
Chicago	3	6	1

Batteries—Rieger, Callahan and Fisher; Kleppe, Russell and Mayer.

GAELIC ATHLETES FOR EXPOSITION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—At a meeting of the Gaelic Athletic Association of the United States, held here today, it was decided to send a football team to San Francisco in August to take part in Gaelic games at the Panama-Pacific Exposition for the championship of the United States.

FIGHT PROMOTER IS ON TRIAL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 15.—Dan Salt, promoter of the prize fight at the Pacific Athletic Club, January 9, last, when Ludwig Anderson was killed by Ike Cohen, and Lonnie Austin, a lightweight pugilist, who refereed the match, were placed on trial for manslaughter today. Cohen is in the County Jail awaiting trial later.

HAVANA REDS ARE BEATEN BY CUBS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TAMPA (Fla.) March 15.—The Chicago Nationals defeated the Havana Reds, 2 to 1, in an exhibition game here today. The score:

Havana Reds, 2; hits, 11; errors, 0.
Chicago, 3; hits, 10; errors, 1.
Batteries—Ballasteros and Farror; Adams, Stanridge and Archer, Bresnahan.

LARRY WOLTER HERE AND INTENDS TO BE AN ANGEL.

Pitcher Hurls His Thumb at Anaheim — Benz Tells Fine Stories on Himself and Others—Chapelle and Dean to Stay with Us — Koestner Reports — Game at Venice Today.

LARRY WOLTER drifted in from Sioux City yesterday, and his arrival immediately caused [illegible] thoughts of him refusing to [illegible] in the Angels this season, [illegible] a powder plant, [illegible] and dwindle and vanish [illegible].

[illegible] Angel gardener has [illegible] or even accepted [illegible] Angel City baseball [illegible] is almost certain that [illegible] thoroughly wrapped up before [illegible], impenetrable and [illegible]-rust contract by [illegible] good old season begins. [illegible] said that Harry would [illegible] ball and insert himself [illegible] Federal League. Tom [illegible] Wolter absolutely [illegible] in any way, shape [illegible] would play other [illegible] this season, and [illegible] private conversation [illegible] while, announced [illegible] he would sign by [illegible] seven days.

[illegible] "Tub."

[illegible] returning to successfully [illegible] Hitt's fast balls on [illegible] at Anaheim yesterday [illegible] Spencer enjoyed the [illegible] of using his thumb [illegible] from its natural location [illegible] up and puff out [illegible] like a large mushroom.

[illegible] all this, "Tub" will [illegible] to confine his daily [illegible] work for the next [illegible].

[illegible] dislocated, badly [illegible] fingers, [illegible] to relieve his wellnigh [illegible] of a pretty interesting [illegible] Block, the old-[illegible].

[illegible] loafing on the rails [illegible] and awaiting train [illegible] this one:

[illegible] getting his finger [illegible] me of a funny incident [illegible] a few years ago [illegible] was catching for [illegible] a fielding finger that was [illegible] a thing of much distinction [illegible] out two inches further [illegible] and was round [illegible]. The least little touch [illegible] home is agony.

[illegible] Walsh was pitching, [illegible] and someone [illegible] in front of the plate. [illegible] starting to [illegible] after the [illegible] at the same time, [illegible] on the quickest, [illegible] and threw his man [illegible] down with con-[illegible] but as a receipt for [illegible] he reaped pain [illegible] his long finger into [illegible] informed [illegible] to let him handle the [illegible].

[illegible] father Ray and [illegible] went right [illegible] confronted boy, he [illegible] under as a regular [illegible] fielder.

Elmer Koestner blew around to Anaheim yesterday and reported to Sioux City by the White Sox in 1910. One day Hugh Duffy, then manager of the Sox, happened to be hanging around and I unfurled a no-hit, no-run game while he was roosting up in the grand stand.

"We were playing Des Moines that series, and the night before a gang of us went out and shot up the town, consumed all the loose flowing brew and, well, just got pickled to the eyebrows, that's all.

"When I reached the ball park the next day I was told to pitch. Just imagine a fellow goin' in there after having a helluva time the night before. Well, I goes in there, and say, I never had so much on the ball before in my life. That is, the boys all told me so, but I couldn't see the plate I was feelin' so bum. But I got away with a no-hit, no-run game, and as I was wabbling toward the clubhouse after the game Duffy comes and tells me he's goin' to recall me."

Comiskey Good Old Scout.

Charley Comiskey always pays his players well for their service on the Sox clubs.

It was while discussing the baffling problem of Edward Walsh, that Benz informed us all that Comiskey slipped him a nice little check of $500 last season after he had pitched twenty-seven full innings and had allowed but one measly, scratchy infield hit.

After slightly removing the cobwebs from the well preserved but ancient box scores, it is remembered that Benz pitched a no-hit, no-run game, two days later dished over a one-hit, no-run game, and two days later pitched another no-hit, no-run entanglement.

It was for these commendable actions that Benz was slipped the 500 bucks, and the beauty of it was that the amount covered Joe's sick spell, and still left him a few extra cart wheels.

It is working under a club owner like that that ball players do their darndest to win games, and that is evidently the reason Comiskey's managers can secure such wonderful pitching out of individuals.

It is Hard to Believe.

Clarence "Pants" Rowland has been heard to state that he is of the opinion that Ed Walsh will be as good as ever, and that it is only in the big fellow's imagination that he's slipped back.

True that may be, but to be walloped all over the lot game after game by minor leaguers is co'nuff to make any person imagine that he's all in.

There is not a baseball fan throughout the country but who wishes Ed the best of success, and his name will always hang on the register long side ethes great men of the nation.

Baseball Today!

The Tigers and Goofs will present a little nine-inning ditty down at Venice by the sea this afternoon and tomorrow. As this will be the last appearance of the Tigers here before April 20, the indications are to the effect that a large crowd will witness the games, especially the Wednesday exhibition, which commences at 2:15 o'clock, or at the conclusion of the all-burning vehicle races.

Elmer Koestner blew around to Anaheim yesterday and reported to Hap and will start regular training immediately with the club.

Too Much for $15,000.

"Pants" Rowland has decided to let Larry Chappelle remain with the Goofs while that collection of creatures navigate around the Southern California parks so that his $15,000 physique can bleach in the sun, dissolve, and gradually decrease in size and weight.

At present Larry is many pounds over weight, and "Pants" thinks that a few more days in this excellent climate will reduce his high-priced individual to his regular playing weight.

To make certain that the $15,000 beauty should not be left alone, Joe Benz is to be left with him and to keep him company. Benz has not as yet thoroughly recovered from his recent illness.

Kid Wonder.

The Venice Tigers are of the opinion that Hap plucked off a pretty nifty pitching person in this Piercey. In the games the youthful pitcher has worked he has been getting away in excellent style, and still being two years under age he promises to blossom out as another Howard Ehmke, only it is hoped that he don't close his blossom as soon as Howard did.

Bill started out with Fresno in the California State League a few years ago, drifted around the country a while, caught on in the Western League last season, and has been a prominent factor in the Nebraska State League, so this is not his first attempt at breaking in.

INDIANS TO PLAY MORMONS A WEEK.

ARELLANES IN BEST SHAPE OF LAST TWO YEARS—KREMER TO GO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JOSE, March 15.—The Indianapolis club of the American Association reached this city today for a week's stay.

Salt LAKE's Coast League squad was busy at Luna Park, the day being the best for training that there has been since the club arrived here. Blankenship said today that his pitchers and infielders had instructions to cut loose for the first time since they have been here. The Beavers were all pitching hard to the batters. There was no practice game and will be no more, probably, between teams from the squad.

Frank Arellanes, the veteran of the Salt Lake staff, looks better than he has in two years. He is in fine shape and Blankenship is greatly pleased with his work. The big right-hander has been rounding to very slowly, on account of not doing any winter work.

It is rumored around the training camp that Kremer is going to a Northwestern League team. He is showing a great deal, however, and this is by no means certain.

BRACH DIES FROM RUGBY INJURIES.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY BREAKS BACK IN GAME, NEVER GETS OVER IT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—Thomas J. Brach, 18, a student in the Sacramento High School, died last night from a broken back sustained in a Rugby football game played last September. He had been in the hospital here under treatment ever since.

Harvard University's lawn tennis courts netted $3276 during the 1913-14 season.

GOOFS SCORE.

It was not until the fourth chapter was reached that the Goofs acted in a peculiar manner. In this round they up and smote Hitt for a pair of runs. Fournier and Daly singled and were sacrificed a peg by Larry Chappelle. Both stuck their spikes into the grantiewares when Bohen doubled to center. Bayless ran after the clout as though he were a candidate for President, but running is and up to your ankles does not tend to increase the speed, consequently, the smash went for two bags.

A nifty double play, which has no place whatsoever outside the big brush territory, was perpetrated by Kemp, Purtell and Reisberg, and checked further damage.

PIERCEY GOES IN.

At the beginning of the fifth Dough was politely informed that his services were no longer required for the afternoon, and drifted toward the bath-house to shift his scenery and wearing attire.

Young William Piercey then grabbed on where Hitt let loose and hung till the end. After Breton and been preserved, Hetling to Reisberg, in the fifth, Roth drove the onion through Reisberg's long legs and big feet. Fournier scored Roth with a single.

From then on the Goofs were unable to explore the interior of the pillow route. They managed, however, to grab their lninisty bingie. The hit column of the "run by inning" section of the box score indicates that the irregulars secured one hit an inning and became crazed in the third for three hits.

They broke out in the fourth with four hits, and it was this collection that removed the clothesline props from under Roy Hitt.

Here is how Anaheim was used yesterday afternoon:

OAKS GET RID OF THREE BUSHERS.

CHRISTIAN'S BUNCH TO PLAY BERRELEY TODAY; HAMOTT IN SHAPE AGAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LIVERMORE, March 15.—The Oakland baseball squad was cut down today by the release of three bush performers. Hannusch, Droletté and Devine were the men who were handed the blue envelope by Manager Tyler Christian. The latter was an outfielder while the two former were catchers. Just what the youngsters will do is a question though it is thought that they will catch on with some semi-pro team.

The Oakland squad will engage in a game with the University of California tomorrow afternoon on the university diamond. Maloney and Lockaire will be worked in the box by Manager Christian. The members of the squad reported in fine shape today and worked out on the diamond at Pleasanton. Rowdy Elliott, whose thumb has been in bad condition, has recovered from his injury and will be able to take up his place behind the bat in the near future.

In connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition it is proposed to play a series of baseball games between prominent nines of this country at San Francisco in July. Nines from Hawaii, China, Japan and the Philippine Islands have also been invited to take part.

Exposition Championships.

COOPERSTOWN TO MEET SAN MATEO POLO FOUR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Teams from Cooperstown, N. Y., and San Mateo, Cal., will oppose each other tomorrow afternoon in the first match game of the universal polo tournament for the exposition championship cups which will be played during the next six weeks on the field of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The Midwick team of Pasadena first was slated to play against the New Yorkers. The non arrival of their mounts from the south made it necessary to substitute the San Mateo four.

Sixteen teams from all parts of the country are entered in these championships, and include the majority of star players of the United States. Three United States Army teams will compete. More than 400 polo ponies now are stabled in the live stock department of the exposition. Many of these little animals are of international fame, having played in the England versus American series. A number of English ponies bought by American players are among the lot.

The Cooperstown team is made up of S. R. Van Blade, C. C. Rumsey, Thomas Le Boutillier II and Malcolm Stevenson. The players from San Mateo are: W. D. Devereux, Thomas J. Driscoll, Walter S. Hobart and William Tevis, Jr.

of long distance fighting. Thousands of men have been killed on both sides without ever seeing the enemy.

It's a war in which machine is pitted against machine—monstrous, death-dealing devices, almost superhuman in their fatal accuracy, and of unheard-of driving force—sending tons of hurtling missiles at an unseen foe.

The story of this overpowering tragedy of civilization is told with historical accuracy and thoroughness in

We have arranged with The London Times to supply this great war book to our patrons at bare cost of handling.

The London Times HISTORY OF THE WAR

This book—written by The London Times, "the mother of newspapers"—is the one great, world-famous story of the present war. It is absolutely necessary to a clear understanding of the war—its causes and military and naval operations. It gives the inside facts—the very things you want to know—and it is true history, with every paragraph verified. It is a comprehensive book—400 illustrations, and dozens of maps and plans.

UNIVERSAL CITY OPENS.

Carl Laemmle Opens White Gate.

Dam Bursts and Real Flood Scene is Staged.

Festivities to Continue All Day Today.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

A brilliant carnival opened Universal City yesterday.

Universal City, a theater with a 600-acre stage! That's what the 15,000 people beheld who went out to San Fernando Valley yesterday to witness the opening of the greatest motion-picture city in the world.

And surely no more unique and picturesque city ever existed than this with its white facade of great business buildings and its long stretch backward into the beautiful valley and hill country, with its odd and interesting "sets" showing architecture of every country in the world, bits of old Greece, fragments of Moorish art, here a Jap village, and there a Wild West street, while motion-picture actors in make-up added no little to the picturesqueness of the scene.

BALL ROLLING.

Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal, started the ball rolling and opened the big white gate with the golden key at 10 o'clock, and he and Isadore Bernstein, Pacific Coast manager, headed the procession of 100 guests brought out by the Universal people who were the first to troop through to witness the christening of the city. Thousands of visitors followed in autos and on foot.

Once inside the gate, gaily-clad Universal girls pelted the party with flowers, and a big cavalcade of mounted cowboys and Indians in their war paint saluted with pistol shots and war dances, bands played, and Pat Powers, treasurer of the Universal, hoisted the huge American flag, followed by a display of daylight fireworks.

THE STAGE.

The immense 500-foot stage was set with a dozen scenes, like booths, presided over by the different directors. Notable among these scenes were a beautiful "interior," designed by Director Charles Giblyn, where Miss Cleo Madison graciously entertained the crowds, and a set showing the interior of a hunting lodge in Africa, wherein Henry McRae, 101 Bison director, calmly stroked two live leopards. Other sets of special beauty and interest were a bit of Moorish architecture and a snow scene.

DAM BUSTS.

The first sensational stunt of the day witnessed by the thousands gathered on the hillside was the big flood and fight scene pulled off by Mr. MacRae. At the head of a tiny valley was a big reservoir containing many thousand gallons of water; a street of cottages had been built down the middle of the valley, and here Indians and cowboys fought a mimic battle, after which more trouble was due the villagers, for the dam burst and an avalanche of water from the reservoir poured into the town, caught Indians and cowboys in the torrent and washed away the cottages.

Of course, though, not without the beautiful girl (Helen Walcamp) doing some sensational stunts in warning the simple village folk that the dam was due to bust.

Next followed lunch in the restaurant, after which visitors witnessed one of Francis Ford's famous fights, and an aeroplane stunt with Frank Stits and Maris Walcamp in the saddle.

Gladys Nicholsen, the lovely queen of the motion-picture forces, witnessed it all from her limousine and added a whole court of admirers to her suite.

Away out at the end of the ranch it was like circus day in the country. There were motion picture scenes being taken, and there were amusing sideshows, and the big zoo, with its thousands of wild animals. Bands played, candy and soda booths did business, and wild Arabs rode elephants down the road.

VISITORS.

To the hundreds of visitors to whom the taking of motion pictures has been a mystery the showing of the actual work of motion photography was a revelation keenly enjoyed. The crowds also viewed the library and administration buildings, the motion-picture developing rooms, the hospital, etc.

Hy Mayer, cartoonist for "Puck," was among the guests who came out with the Universal party, and he took opportunity to draw some of his famous sketches.

William A. Johnston, editor of the Motion Picture News, was also "among those present." Mr. Johnston, besides enjoying the San Diego and San Francisco expositions, is laying his plans to write a series of motion picture articles for eastern magazines.

Only one or two minor accidents occurred, principally to little children who insisted on running under the horses' feet, but they were quickly restored in the hospital.

The ball last night was attended by fully 2000 people. It was held in the big inside studio, which was handsomely decorated with flags and flowers. "Daddy" Manley, the oldest motion picture actor in the business, 88 years old, and "Mother" Benson, led the grand march, which was reviewed by Messrs. Laemmle, Powers and Bernstein.

Harry P. Caulfield, secretary of the Los Angeles Universal, was a sort of master of ceremonies, and appeared to be everywhere at once, making people happy and comfortable.

There were visiting parties from all the large motion picture companies. Dustin Farnum brought out a party, the Reliance sent a crowd, the Lasky contributed an autoload, and Al Kauffman of the Famous Players brought out some of his people.

BIG GUESTS.

Among the guests brought west by the Universal people, and who were present at the opening, are the following: Homer Croy, special writer for Frank Leslie's Weekly; William Johnston, editor of the Motion Picture News; Hy Mayer of "Puck," R. H. Cochrane, Morris Fleckles, H. Fitchtenberg of New Orleans, George Morgan, Ned Depenet, M. L. Markintz,

The Formal Opening of Universal City.

President Carl Laemmle and Isador Bernstein '(right)'

Cheer the flag as it goes over Universal City for the first time. Below are Laemmle and Bernstein being pelted with flowers as they walk through the streets for the first time.

Margaret Edwards, who appears as Truth,

In the photoplay "Hypocrites," to be shown at Quinn's Superba a week from today. The censors have said "no," to the exhibition of this picture, because Truth appears undraped,

G. A. Metzger, Portland; C. W. Mattingly, Oklahoma; R. C. Cropper, Kansas City; Lederman, Des Moines; C. J. Van Hensan, Omaha; Harry T. Knowles, Denver; A. H. Schmidt, Buffalo; James Schnitzer, Indianapolis; J. A. Eslon, Boston; M. H. Hoffman, New York; V. Carrish, Philadelphia; C. Cleg and C. J. Hague of Canada, Claude Plough of Chicago, Frank Flaherty, Chicago, and Ed Lux of Cincinnati. Most of these were accompanied by their wives.

CONGRATULATIONS.

During the progress of the festivities the telegraph office was kept busy, Messrs. Laemmle, Powers and Bernstein receiving telegrams of congratulation from every part of the world.

As an interesting incident of the day, Maurice Fleckles bought a horse belonging to the ranch and descended from the famous "Lucky" Baldwin breeds.

TODAY'S FESTIVITIES.

The festivities continued today with Mr. Stits doing an aeroplane battle, spectacular leaps from "The Wall of Lucknow," by Mr. Polo and company; some horse races for the Cochrane trophy, a rodeo and a dinner and dance at Nat Goodwin's cafe, Santa Monica.

NO HOLIDAY FOR VENICE ROAD RACE.

Mayor Edward A. Gersty of Venice, accompanied by Thomas W. Prior, chairman of the Grand Prix Committee; C. D. Perkins, O. D. Radinsky of the Santa Monica Elks lodge; Andrew S. Lee, president of the Venice Chamber of Commerce, and Thornton Kinney of the Abbot Kinney Company, visited the Mayor's office yesterday and asked Mayor Rose to declare a legal holiday for tomorrow in honor of the Grand Prix.

While the Mayor is in full sympathy with the Venice boosters, he stated that he was powerless to declare the holiday, but would gladly co-operate in any other way possible. He expressed the hope that as many Los Angeles people as can do so will make this affair a holiday and visit Venice.

MAXWELL, DODGE IN CLIMBING DUEL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, March 15.—A hill-climbing duel between a Maxwell "25" and a Dodge is to be fought out on a steep hillside above El Modena tomorrow. Charles Barker will drive the Maxwell for C. E. Lush's garage at Orange, and H. A. Des Granges will drive the Dodge, for which he is agent at Orange. The question is: which car will go farthest up the hillside? In places the grade is 40 per cent. Each machine will carry four passengers. A big crowd will see the contest, which is scheduled for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

TURNVEREIN TO ENTERTAIN.

GYMNASTS TO SHOW THEIR TRICKS.

Team to be Sent to Panama-Pacific Exposition to Compete in the National A.A.U. Gymnastic Championships, March 26, 27—Local Team Best in America.

The Turnverein Germania will give a gymnastic entertainment at their gymnasium at No. 1345 South Figueroa street, on Friday night. The purpose of the entertainment is to raise money to send a team to the exposition to compete in the national A.A.U. gymnastic championships on March 26 and 27.

Material for this team will more than likely be made up of members of the team from the Los Angeles Turnverein, which won the golden wreath at the meet held by the North American Gymnastic Union in Denver in 1913, winning first place against the best amateur gymnasts in the United States.

A very enjoyable programme has been arranged, consisting of work on the flying rings by the national champions, tumbling, boxing, wrestling, apparatus work and a dance given by the advanced women's class of the Turnverein Germania. This class also won the first prize in Denver in 1913. A small admission will be charged.

JUDGE TO THINK FED CASE OVER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 15.—After listening to final arguments today by attorneys for both sides of the fight between the Federal League and the Kansas City club over the transfer of the Kansas City franchise to Newark, N. J., Judge J. A. Baldwin in the United States Circuit Court announced that he would take the case under advisement until Wednesday morning, when he would render a decision.

VENICE BOXING CARD TOMORROW.

The boxers who are to appear in Gilmore's show at Venice tomorrow night were announced yesterday. Ralph Lincoln and Jimmy O'Laverty are to meet at 120 pounds; Red Held and Jack Lowe are matched at 128 pounds; Billy Carroll and Paddy Gibbons will go at 142 pounds; Buck O'Laverty and Roy Gibbs will meet in the wind-up event at 122 pounds.

Annandale.

FRENCH AND WRIGHT TIE IN QUALIFYING ROUND.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE Annandale Country Club championship started yesterday. A. A. French and E. N. Wright tied for best score in the qualifying round with 75, French winning in the play-off with a 76. Craney Gartz had a 76, Armstrong, 79; N. P. Mears, 84.

There were several defaults in the match play in the afternoon and all the matches that were played were won by large, discouraging margins.

French beat Ralph Harris 6 and 5. W. K. Jewett won from E. B. Rathburn by default. Kleinberger beat Eric Kobbe 7 and 6. Gartz won from Frank Tatum by default. Armstrong won from Joseph Ball by default. G. H. Warner won from Dr. Brem by default. N. P. Mears beat E. N. Makey 7 up and 6. E. N. Wright beat Henry Newby 5 up and 4.

Today's matches are between French and Jewett, Kleinberger and Gartz, Armstrong and Warner, Mears and Wright.

The women's Southern California championship opens with an eighteen-hole qualifying round on the Los Angeles course today at 1 p.m.

What Unleashed the Dogs of War?

As Viewed from Neutral Italy.

By Dr. Guglielmo Ferrero.

In this article, the great Italian scholar and historian, writing for THE NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE from Turin, Italy, goes straight to the source and causes of the War and incidentally reveals the attitude of neutral Italy toward the fighting powers. His charges and conclusions are not only statesmanly, but make this probably the most important and illuminative analysis of the European problem that has yet come from a neutral source. This article was secured by our NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE by cable from the author in Italy.

Once in a Blue Moon

Novelette—By Harold MacGrath.

Pictures by Neal Truslow.

Corrigan, the ex-fighter and stoker, having befriended Arthur Cathew, the shanghaied scion of millions, the former is in turn befriended by Cathew in a time of desperate need. How begins this adventurous partnership to recover jewels of fabulous value, the location of which, in the body of a Javanese idol, is known to Corrigan. They agree to split the gems 50-50. Deserting their ship, after a thrilling journey through the jungle they finally reach the spot where the treasure is located. The sight that greets them at the hands of an temple in Java is one to test the most desperate courage.

Why Governors Cannot Govern

Editorial.

By Ex-Gov. E. M. Ammons, of Colorado.

Gov. Ammons was both applauded and censured as Colorado's chief executive in his recent industrial conflict in the Rocky Mountain coal fields. Some weeks before his term of office expired Gov. Ammons wrote for the NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE why and how he was hampered in performing his duty and how and why other State executives are powerless to live up to the name of Governor.

Made of Strong Clay

Story—By Emerson Taylor.

Pictures by Alexander Popini.

Told in diary form is this charming and original love story, in which a poet and millionaire come to dagger points over a girl who is supposedly worth fighting for, by the way. Odd enough it is the Beast who wins the Beauty and who somehow wins the sympathy of the reader also. The charm of the story is cleverly reflected in the illustrations by Popini.

Good Fortunes of the Stars

Article—By Robert Grau.

Are the golden days of opera stars at an end financially? Several operatic top-liners face big salary reductions next season, in view of which this article by Mr. Grau is timely, besides being a record of surprising facts, figures and gossip of vocal origin. Who is the highest paid artist that ever lived? Patti, Caruso, Paderewski, or who do you think? The author gives away many interesting secrets.

Then, among the other features, is a consignment of COUNTRY TOWN SAYINGS by Ed Howe, the wise and witty sage of Atchison, Kan., A TANGO LESSON, in verse, by Minna Irving, and the cover design, in colors, by C. B. Rochat that has both the hue and cry of Spring in it, amusingly depicted.

will be given to the candidates who secure, and bring or send to the Campaign Office, within the ten days ending March 20, a club of bona-fide new subscriptions to the Daily Times, with a total value of $45.00.

A half club, aggregating subscriptions amounting to $22.50, will entitle the candidate to 37,500 extra votes.

The subscriptions must be to the Daily Times, and may run one month or longer.

The special ballots gained on these clubs may be withheld by the candidate and voted at any future time during the campaign.

Only Five Days Remain of Big Special Offer

To take every advantage of this liberal offer may be the deciding factor in the final outcome of the "Times Automobile Circulation Campaign," on April 10, when the big prizes are awarded. Candidates are now enabled to add many thousands of votes to their standing, or to create a surplus fund of votes that will prove invaluable later on. The gold, offered as an extra incentive, is a prize worth months of effort, yet candidates can win it in the short space of five more days. Determine this minute that you will be the one to get the gold, and an automobile or exposition tour. Time is valuable, and the reward is great.

THIS SPECIAL OFFER POSITIVELY ENDS SATURDAY, MARCH 20, AT 9 P. M.

$700 In Gold

Given absolutely free to the candidates who produce the biggest results in subscription gathering during the ten days ending March 20. This sum will be divided into eight big prizes, as follows: First prize, $250; second prize, $150; third prize, $100; fourth prize, $75; fifth prize, $50; sixth prize, $35; seventh prize, $25; eighth prize, $15.

The highest sum will be awarded to the candidate turning in the highest sum of bona fide new subscription payments to the Daily Times, and the remaining prizes will be distributed to the next highest in the order they stand.

Candidates Realize Importance of Special Offer and Forge Ahead in Every District.

PLEASURE TO BE IN THIS GRAND, BIG RACE.

Candidates for Free Automobiles and Exposition Tours are the Talk of the Southland and There is Rejoicing in Many Homes as the Names of the Leaders are Mentioned.

THE standing of candidates is once more presented today to readers of The Times, and it will be noticed there are many important changes in the positions of candidates. Throughout Los Angeles and Southern California generally, the big "Times Automobile Circulation Campaign," with its handsome prize array, and its latest grand bonus-vote and free-gold offer, is the theme of conversation in thousands of homes. Everywhere you go you hear this campaign energetically discussed, thus proving the intense interest in its success and in the earnest young women who are entered as candidates.

Uppermost in the minds of all the contestants is the special offer which comes to a close Saturday night. With only five days more in which to receive the benefits thereof, interest is increasing daily, and bids fair to make this without a doubt the banner week of the campaign. There's a feeling in the air that something is going to happen ere the clock strikes 9 on Saturday night; it is noted in the letters that candidates are writing daily to the Campaign Manager, and the many callers each day seem to carry with them an air of mystery that will not come to light until the proper moment arrives.

Another thing that is attracting the attention of readers of The Times, and the candidates and their friends is the number of young women who have entered the campaign since this special offer was announced five days ago. These late starters are going to it with a vim, their lips form a determined line, and it is quite evident that they mean business.

Hence it behooves all the older candidates to look well to their laurels, else the vote standings are liable to appear to them as a big surprise. None of the young women want to be low in the list; it is well to deposit enough votes to keep near the top, for their friends will know they are active. Also, it is a good idea to reserve some votes for a rainy day. Everyone appreciates the fact that with these extra-vote ballots, that can be won by subscription clubs, go the best chances for victory, and each has made up her mind to do her utmost while the offer lasts. To try now and become the recipient of some of these extra-vote ballots means an excellent opportunity of winning at the conclusion of the campaign on April 10.

The lowest candidate in the list now has an opportunity, even though she has done but little thus far to place herself on an even footing with the topmost leaders. There is always room at the top for those who strive, and real effort never goes unrewarded. That's the way candidates are reasoning, and their judgment is daily proving sound.

It is worth every bit of a young woman's time for months to become the owner of a magnificent automobile. Yet, in The Times campaign, some of the handsomest machines on the market can be had by working only a few weeks. For, with the possession of any one of the twelve luxurious automobiles, any young woman's cup of happiness and joy would be filled to overflowing, and they would be transported to the seventh heaven of happiness. It is going to be real effort, but those who have not yet started have their whole field to cover. There is virgin soil, never having been worked, that will reap a rich harvest of votes and subscriptions for new candidates if assiduously cultivated during the next few days.

Future subscriptions prove a prolific source of votes for candidates. The majority of people do not care to have two papers coming to them at one time, therefore, where candidates find some other paper is being subscribed to, they can secure a subscription to The Times and it will be held for future delivery. In order that contestants may secure every subscription possible and thereby boost themselves up the percentage ladder, the Campaign Manager has arranged to accept all such subscriptions, and hold them, delivery to start at any future date designated by the subscriber.

Another source that is proving fruitful is that of "second payments." In many cases a subscriber may have given a candidate one month's subscription, during the beginning of this campaign, and would be glad to help the candidate further as well as to insure the continuance of The Times. By securing the balance of the amount and extending the subscription to one year, it will give the candidate the additional votes that count on a new subscription. Always mark such remittances "second payment."

Under no circumstances, though, should an old subscriber be turned in as new. Make sure you are right before marking the stub one or the other, for where an old subscriber is turned in as new, the votes will be forfeited. The complete address should also be given—the full name, street and number, and city or town.

The standings appearing today, tabulated on the Burroughs adding machine, include all votes cast up to 4 o'clock yesterday.

With But a Single Thought.

These, and the other candidates, hope to ride around in their own car after April 10. The automobile shown above is the Chandler Light Six, third highest in value in the prize list. It is completely equipped, of five-passenger capacity, and has electric starter. It's a car to be proud of, and ordinarily costs $1445.

PASADENA HOME OF LITERATURE.

Eastern Publisher Seeking to Locate Authors.

Three Churches Combine to Install Laundry.

Another Betrothal Announced to Select Circle.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, March 16.—If the plans of John A. Sleicher, eastern editor and publisher, are fulfilled Pasadena will become the literary center of the United States.

Sleicher, who was in Pasadena yesterday with his art director, Grant E. Hamilton, visiting at the Oak Knoll home of Mr. Hamilton's brother, has gone to San Francisco.

"We came out here, Mr. Hamilton and I, to establish a colony of artists and authors in California," said Mr. Sleicher.

"In New York there are at least fifty literary persons of note who want to come to California to live in a colony, and it is not at all improbable that Pasadena will be the spot chosen.

"If the plan materializes, land will be purchased and improved and a clubhouse will be built. No more ideal place could be found for such a thing, as Pasadena is a paradise of summer and flowers the year 'round."

After a visit to the exposition in the northern city Mr. Sleicher and Mr. Hamilton will return to New York to tell of their investigations to interested literary folk.

CHURCH LAUNDRY.

With a desire of helping to solve the greatest of all problems which at present confront Pasadena, that of her unemployed, three churches are behind a movement to start a co-operative laundry.

The churches making these plans are the First Methodist, the Lake-avenue Methodist and the Mexican Methodist. Employment will be given to Mexican women out of work.

Yesterday a deal was closed whereby this novel laundry, which will be housed in a four-room cottage at No. 170 Hitzman street, is expected to be in operation in several weeks.

Rev. Francisco Olazabal, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Church, was the originator of the idea, which, after investigation by a committee from the three churches, was approved.

This institution is not to enter into active competition with other laundries, and there will be no rate-cutting.

ANNOUNCE BETROTHAL.

When Miss Ora Ordway asked a number of her friends over to her Altadena home yesterday to a function in honor of Mrs. Lysle Pickering, who, until a few days ago, was Miss Gladys Byram, they were delighted with the pleasant anticipation.

They were not prepared, however, for the great surprise in store for them, especially coming in the form it did. One romance a week in one's immediate circle is enough to keep friends talking for months.

The announcement of the engagement of the hostess to Leroy Wolfe therefore came as a surprise, which startled her guests. The secret was learned by working out an intricate and interesting "rebus."

About twenty guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Wolfe to-be.

NOTED SURGEON.

Dr. John Benjamin Murphy of Chicago, with his wife and daughter, arrived in Pasadena Sunday. Reaching the city just in time for church, they attended mass before going to the Huntington, where they will be domiciled for the rest of the season.

Dr. Murphy is chief surgeon to Mercy Hospital and is attending surgeon to West Side Hospital. He was first lieutenant in the U.S.A. Medical Reserve Corps in 1908 and in 1902 he received the Laetare medal from Notre Dame University. He is a member of several medical associations. He attended Theodore Roosevelt when he was shot, during his campaign for President.

INVESTIGATE WRECK.

Members of the State Railroad Commission yesterday investigated the cause of the Mt. Lowe wreck, which occurred shortly before 8 o'clock Saturday night at Mariposa avenue and North Lake avenue. No decision will be given until Thursday or Friday.

RESERVE BANK GETS THE COIN.

Irrigation District Funds Put at Government's Disposal.

Angeleno Bankers to Supply Money for Repairs.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, March 15.—Following a conference today between Gen. W. L. Marshall, consulting engineer to the Department of the Interior, and C. R. Rockwood, chief engineer and general manager of the Imperial Irrigation District, the board of directors of the district directed President Hamilton and Secretary Berry to give the district's note for $100,000 and transfer the loan to be received on it from Los Angeles bankers to the subtreasury at San Francisco, where it will be subject to Gen. Marshall's order. They left for Los Angeles tonight.

This means fulfillment of the conditions of the Congressional appropriation of $100,000 for levee protection work against the June floods of the Colorado, which were that the district turn over a like amount to be expended under government supervision.

The district already has more than 200 teams of four horses each on scraper work raising, strengthening and extending the Volcano Lake and Salz levees.

ALL IS HARMONY.

Reports from the East were to the effect that the government engineers did not favor the expenditure of money according to the plans of the district and it was thought the government appropriation would be refused on account of its conditions. However, the conference was one of harmony.

The work will proceed under Engineer Rockwood's supervision. Gen. Marshall will oversee the amounting and rock revetment work along the Colorado near Hanlon's Heading. With additional funds at his disposal, Mr. Rockwood will reinforce the two and a half-mile levee between Dominguez Slough and Bowker Gate, recognized as a treacherous unit in the levee system by both Gen. Marshall and Mr. Rockwood.

Gen. Marshall, out of the $200,000, will pay for practically all the work done in the delta country and the district will have an additional $100,000 for an emergency fund.

HEAR CUSS-WORDS.

Civics may be a perfectly proper study for young misses in the classroom, much safer than modern literature, but first hand study of applied civics is well, shocking. At least that is the verdict of a bevy of girls from the Central Union High School, under the chaperonage of their teacher, after hearing a part of a murder trial this afternoon.

The case was that of J. L. Llaino, a ranch hand, accused of striking his employer, W. R. O'Grin, a Calexico rancher, over the head with a shovel, causing his death. Unfortunately, the chaperonage did not extend to the testimony.

"Both Llaino and O'Grin used vile language in my hearing one day when they quarreled, but the honors were fifty-fifty," testified a neighboring ranchman named Palmer.

"State the exact language," directed Deputy District Attorney Simons. The witness looked at the girls in light dresses and straw hats of summer sitting in the rear of the room, and then cast an appealing look at Attorney D. V. Noland, sitting as judge pro tem.

"Do so," said the court. He did.

The language would have done credit to an off-shore sailor. The girls cast their eyes down and blushed. Then one got up and quit the courtroom, several followed and a few of the hardy remained for additional study of civics.

TWENTY VOTE BOND ISSUE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MARIAN, March 15.—Twenty voters, male and female, were able today to unanimously provide $55,000 bonds for a grammar school. The twenty votes does not mean, however, that only that many persons live here. There are perhaps 100 voters, but so new is the district that only twenty registered in time for this election.

These 100 have enough children to start a good-sized school, and from the way the new residents have been coming in there will be nearly enough to fill the building when it is completed. The richness of the holdings makes the matter of $55,000 bonds for school purposes alone easy to carry.

JITNEY DRIVERS DENIED LICENSES.

VENICE TRUSTEES TAKE ACTION TO PREVENT INTERURBAN AUTO TRAFFIC.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, March 15.—The Los Angeles-to-Venice jitney wagons today met with another bump when they tried to get licenses for their cars to operate between the city and the sea. Three applicants were present when the Board of Trustees convened and the three requests for granting of licenses were quickly denied. Trustee Carlos Smart, after the men had formally applied, moved that the requests be denied, his motion being seconded by Trustee Pinkerton.

Some hesitancy prevailed when the bus men failed to present their bonds for indemnity, but after some argument it was decided to take immediate action on the jitney drivers' requests, with the resulting action. The board today clearly and decisively demonstrated where it stood on the bus question by denying the three applicants.

Already several drivers have been apprehended for trying to get passengers for return trips to the city, and they were immediately arrested. Chief Frank Watson has explicit instructions to arrest any driver who tries to obtain passengers for trips either in or out of Venice, towards Los Angeles.

LAPS ARE BARRED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, March 15.—Sitting on laps will be prohibited in jitney busses operating in this city if an ordinance now under consideration is passed by the City Council at its next meeting. The body today passed up the proposition to a meeting of the committee of the whole tomorrow night.

One clause which has aroused the nickel wagon men is that which will stop people from sitting in other people's laps while riding in the little busses. If a man goes to the movie show with his wife and the jitney which picks them up is crowded, and there is but one seat, he will have to let his wife go on ahead and wait for another bus.

Heretofore the man would have stepped in first, and his wife would have gotten in and sat on his lap, thus both would have seen the first reel of the feature picture at the show. The bus drivers are the ones who are most strenuously objecting to the ordinance, and especially this clause which relates to sitting on laps.

SON KILLS RANCHMAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, March 15.—Otto F. Wagner, a well-known rancher of Muscatel, six miles north of this city, was killed this forenoon by his son, Roy, aged 20 years, who later came to this city and notified the Sheriff. The young man explained that he was cleaning a rifle which accidentally exploded, the bullet striking the father in the back of the head. The inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon.

GAS EXPLOSION AT DYE WORKS.

SIDE OF BUILDING BLOWN OUT; THREE ARE INJURED.

Three Mysterious Fires of Incendiary Origin Threaten Amusement Houses—Missing Woman Located at Friend's Home—Congressional Party Going to Visit Long Beach.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, March 15.—Many persons were endangered this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, when an explosion wrecked a portion of the Sunset Dye Works at No. 1117 West Ocean avenue. Harry Clage, chemist for the company, was blown out of the building into a pool of water, but suffered only slight bruises.

Gases, generated in the machine for the extraction of gasoline from clothes that are cleaned, exploded, wrecking the dry cleaning department and causing a loss of about $500. Though several persons were working in the room where the explosion occurred but three who were close to the drying wheel were injured, and their hurts were not serious enough to warrant their laying off work.

The explosion blew out one side of the frame building and opened up a large hole in the roof. The fire and police departments quickly extinguished the flames.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES.

Three fires of apparently incendiary origin, which threatened Pike buildings last night, kept the fire department busy. At the west end of the Campbell pier actors in the Boston Theater saw a fire kindled from a pile of paper. Ten minutes later O. B. Hayden, No. 433 South Hill street, Los Angeles, discovered another fire in the door of the Joyland Theater. The third fire was found by employees of the Columbia Theater in a dry goods box in the rear of that building.

The theory that a fanatic, who believes that the amusement houses in Long Beach should not be allowed to exist, set the fires is being considered by the police and Fire Chief Shrewsbury. More than a dozen incendiary fires have been set on Sunday within the last few months, factories and amusement houses being attacked.

WOMAN LOCATED.

Friends of Mrs. Mary E. Busick, No. 514 East Twenty-first street, after searching for her since yesterday found her at the home of Mrs. F. Mead, Hill and American avenues.

Mrs. Busick wept hysterically on her husband's grave at Signal Hill yesterday, and, as she did not return home, the theory that she had thrown herself in the reservoir near the cemetery was formed.

CITY CANDIDATES.

The candidacy of James Williams for Commissioner of Public Safety and of Harry Riley, City Clerk, for Commissioner of Finance, in the election under the new charter, was announced today.

The following additional candidates for members of the Board of Education have also shied their castors in the ring: Dr. F. L. Rogers, Dr. G. H. Galbraith and W. M. Peek. C. J. Curtis has been urged to enter the race.

CONGRESSMEN COMING.

Word was received today that the Congressional delegation, over which the chambers of commerce of Los Angeles and San Bernardino are having such a to-do, will include this city in their itinerary. Secretary D. B. Livingstone of the chamber here obtained an acceptance of his invitation to visit the Queen of the Beaches after a week's hard work.

The visitors will be here for several hours Thursday or Friday afternoon. The balmy weather and the desire of the easterners to take a plunge in the ocean is responsible for their intention to visit this city.

CROP REPORTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, March 15.—Unusual success is attending the operation of the city sewer farm, located about five miles southwest of the city limits, and this year an additional eighty acres has been leased to farm by city operatives. This will make about 200 acres controlled by the municipality, counting the 100 acres owned outright by the city and the fifteen acres or more which have been leased for some seasons.

There are about eighty hogs on the farm, which are fed on corn grown on the land, and the hogs bring the highest prices. The eighty acres just leased have been seeded to grain and the farm grows most of the hay for the horses of the city street department.

There are also some fine walnut trees on the acreage which are beginning to bring in good profit. The farm is operated wholly by two employees, so that the expense is reduced to a minimum.

Both of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange packing-houses here and the Indian Hill Citrus Association house at North Pomona are running to capacity getting out shipments of oranges. The fruit is of good quality and the crop is averaging up well. A number of tourists are visiting the packing-houses daily, watching the operation of the packing and handling of the golden fruit.

DAIRIES IN FAVOR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, March 15.—Dairying as an industry in Orange county has had a rapid return to favor in the last six or eight months. Eight years ago dairying was one of the big industries of the county. At that time there was but one sugar factory in the county. Since then four others have been established and thousands of acres of land that used to be devoted to pasturage were turned to sugar beets. In the last year the sugar beet business has been placed upon a less stable basis than ever before.

Ranchers are afraid of the effect of free sugar. A large number of them have decided to use their land for growing lima beans. Lima bean straw is an excellent cattle food, and that is one reason for the return of dairying to favor. Milk has gone up in price and land that was considered a little too valuable for growing cow feed can now be made to bring a return on the investment.

Four or five years ago many carloads of fine dairy cows were shipped to San Joaquin and Imperial valleys from this county. In the last few weeks cows have been brought back. Some of the dairymen fear that the business is being overdone, or will be overdone, if the present tide toward milkers continues.

BETTER CROPS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN JACINTO, March 15.—Bigger and better crops of both fruit and grain can be the only logical outcome of the present season's unusual hard and long rains. The grain, which is only a few inches or a foot high, on an average, throughout the valley, will be greatly benefitted by the recent rains, while the moisture, which sank deep into the ground, insures bigger and jucier fruit to those who follow that industry.

The unusual amount of wetness absorbed by the earth insures the fruit growers that there will be plenty of moisture to last through the dryest kind of a summer season, and the fact that there will be plenty of it means that the fruit will be more juicy than usual. This means a higher grade of fruit.

THINNING BEETS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 15.—The early-planted beets are ready for the thinning process and there is much activity in the fields. The season is favorable and the beet acreage will be considerably larger than in any previous year, and the crop damage by rains has been less than last year. Probably 30 per cent. of the acreage was planted prior to the beginning of the rainy season.

The rainfall has been of much greater value to farmers than last year, as not so much of the season's supply fell at one time as was the case last year.

LEMON RECEIPTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIMAS, March 15.—The receipts for the first week of March by the San Dimas Lemon Association were about 21,000 picking boxes. By the present indications, the association will receive during the month of March about 100,000 picking boxes, which is equivalent to the largest month in the history of the association—April, 1912. The fruit in the various groves is growing rapidly and most groves are picking heavier than ever before.

PIONEERS PASS FROM RIVERSIDE.

LAST, BUT ONE, OF ORIGINAL SETTLERS DIED YESTERDAY IN THE VALLEY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, March 15.—With the death yesterday of A. J. Twogood and the demise of his cousin, D. C. Twogood, less than a month ago, there passed away the last members of the original colony of pioneers, with one exception. L. C. Waite, a capitalist, is the only survivor of the sturdy group of men, lead by Judge John G. North and Dr. Greves, who settled in the Riverside Valley in 1870 and planted its first vineyards and orange groves.

In the year 1871 A. J. Twogood helped to raise the first crop of wheat sown in the valley, and two years later, with others, planted the first almond and walnut orchards, and lime and orange groves, the latter soon superceding the almond and walnut ventures.

In 1886 Twogood, with former Gov. Merrill of Iowa and S. H. Herrick, formed the East Riverside Land Company, of which he was president-manager up to the time of his death.

The only living member of the family is Fred W. Twogood, a business man of this city. The funeral will be held at the late residence on Tuesday afternoon.

BLAMES DEMOCRATS.

Edward W. Ingalls, one of the publishers of the Bankers' Magazine of New York, who is at the Glenwood Mission Inn, attributes the present condition of business in this country to the administration. The President's Cabinet, he declares, is not of a character to inspire confidence in the business world.

"Whereas war ought to make business good, it was bad before the war began and continues so," remarked the publisher. "Conditions will prove as long as business confidence and wrest only change in tariff policy."

LATE SENATOR BARD'S WILL DISPOSES OF ONLY A PART

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, March 15.—The will of the late Senator Thomas R. Bard, drawn just two weeks ago, was filed for probate in Superior Court here today. It was a long one, containing many words, and was written entirely by the Senator.

It disposed of but $175,000 and two shares of the stock of the Bard-wood Investment Company, a family corporation formed some time ago and which handled principally the lands belonging to the late Senator. These lands are among the choicest spots of the vast property which Senator Bard owned in the county and embrace some 10,000 acres, with a valuation well over a million dollars.

The money disposed of by will is given out to relatives in various sums from $1000 to $30,000. The two shares of stock in the Bard-wood Investment Company are willed to the widow.

Of the insurance money, Otto Gerberding, brother-in-law of the late Senator Bard and confidential man, is left $30,000, the California Theater $5000, the Elizabeth Bard Hospital in this city, $10,000, Mary E. Bard, widow, and Beryl Bard, daughter, are made executors without bonds, and Otto Gerberding will have general charge of the late Senator's business affairs.

CHARGE DROPPED ON SETTLEMENT

ANGELENO ATTORNEY IN SANTA ANA COURT.

Excuse of Constable by Officials—Delegation to Sacramento to Back Bill—Stolen Horse Recovered Near China After Long Chase.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, March 15.—Joseph P. Keogh of Los Angeles squared up his land charge here today and left with charge against him dropped.

Keogh, who is 28 years old, was accused of giving a worthless check for $15 to County Clerk Williams for fees in connection with a marriage annulment between Beth Mann Rose and Harry Rose. He also gave a check for $2.75 to R. B. Stanley, constable, for $2.75. Saturday a warrant was issued for him. Today he came to the county with his father, Sheriff Smith of Los Angeles.

The attorney asked that the charge be dropped, and after conference with Dist.-Attys. L. A. Lee and W. H. Thomas, the latter was asked that the action be dropped, so far as he was concerned, as officials agreed that the evidence in Keogh's explanation of the case failed to make good the charge of carelessness.

HARBOR BILL.

Attorney Clyde Jones, City Attorney of Newport, leaves tomorrow morning for Sacramento to meet a delegation from the county interested in the bill providing for the creation of harbor districts. The bill is to be introduced at the present session, and Bishop has proposed amendments. The bill would want the bill passed so that Newport could improve a harbor of refuge.

"DAN" IS LOST.

A pacing horse belonging to M. Finley's ranch near Orange a few weeks ago was recovered by Deputy Sheriff Fuller or Constable Tebo of Santa Ana, who telephoned to Sheriff Jamison of Santa Ana that he had seen a man driving an animal answering the description of the missing horse.

Miss Finley went to Santa Ana with Deputy Sheriff Jamison and Constable Tebo of Los Angeles, and found that the horse was not the animal they were looking for. The horse was found in the possession of some hay, peas in a corral, and a set of wheels and cushion were found in the house.

Arcadia was selected as the next meeting place of the Southern California Editorial Association.

ORDER BONDS FOR ROAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, March 15.—The San Diego County Supervisors today authorized a referendum to the people to vote $250,000 in bonds with county aid for the Ramona road. The election will be held on the first Tuesday in April, the purchase of these bonds to facilitate the construction of the Julian-Banner Highway to the Arizona line. The highway is a fit motor car road from the coast to the desert this fall to the Panama-California Exposition.

Huntington Park.

TAKES PLENTIFUL TOLL FROM MOTHER EARTH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON PARK, March 15.—A bachelor lady, Miss Elisabeth Erkmann of No. 236 South Seville street, is making a small fortune on a plot of ground eighteen feet wide and fifty feet long.

April 27, last year, she planted the first seed. Every one came up. In spare time evenings and mornings (Miss Erkmann was employed during the day) she hoed and spaded and kept the ground moist. Then she began to harvest.

From seven hills she dug twenty-seven pounds of Irish potatoes. Twenty-one pounds of bunch beans came next. Twenty-one heads of cabbage matured to solid excellence and fifty pounds of beets grew red and sweet. Tomatoes were not satisfied with one crop, but produced the second—four bushels the first and three the next. There were eleven pounds of fresh green peas, forty bunches of radishes, a dozen in each. For Freckled, Rough or Spotty Complexions
The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.
Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz. dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.

Legislature Delves into the Question of Oranges.

One Bill Takes a Rap at Expert Testimony.

Time Loafs Along with the Calendar Crowded.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—As a result of conferences which were concluded today important amendments were made to two bills by Senator Irving regulating the shipment of oranges, immature navel oranges and other citrus fruits. The amendments will be presented to the Committee on Agriculture tomorrow morning and it is expected they will be passed without dispute.

The Kline bill, relating to frosted orange fruits, which originally prohibited the shipment of any citrus fruit containing more than 20 per cent. of decay, has been amended to conform to the standard set by the United States government. Under this amendment the bill would make it unlawful to ship citrus fruit if 15 per cent. or more of the fruit in any given box showed a mark of drying in the form of decay, or more exposed pulp. As originally drawn the bill fixed no other bill in its original form fixed an elastic standard of [illegible] parts of solids to one part of water in navel oranges, but has been changed so that different standards may be established in various sections of the state by a board to consist of the dean of the pure food and drug department of the University of California, the dean of the department of agriculture and the director of the agricultural experiment station of the university. They are empowered to establish standards "as may" seem [illegible].

"I like these amendments," said Senator King, "I feel sure that there will be no objection to the frosted fruit and that it will be enacted into law. There may be some complaint on the other bill."

Coarse Work.

SMOOTH TRICK IS EXPOSED.

Progressives Try to Fool the People on Expenses.

When Found Out They Lay it on the Printer.

Inaccurate Records Used to Boost Their "Cause."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 14.—"Just a typographical error due to a rush of work in the State Printing Office at the opening of the Legislature."

Such is the explanation of State Controller Chambers concerning that financial statement in his biennial report that the budget increase contemplated this year is only "one-tenth of 1 per cent."

CONVIENT ERROR.

This "typographical error" is a very convenient one for the administration as it conceals an increase of $1,600,000. The increase of 10 per cent., which the budget actually shows, is just 100 times as great as the "tenth of 1 per cent" which is named in the administration's biennial report.

And this "typographical error" has gone to the Congressional library and to the State libraries of forty-eight commonwealths to carry the message of economy of our wonderful "progressive" administration.

It has formed the basis for laudatory articles on the first page of all the subsidized "Progressive" papers in California, and of many independent journals as well. It was a fair record of stewardship on the part of the administration as it was the basis for a statement of "the smallest biennial increase in the history of the State."

NO HURRY TO CORRECT IT.

But it turns out to have been a "typographical error" which overlooks a small item of $1,600,000. "It is a mistake and should have been corrected," says the State Controller. But more than a week has elapsed since it was called to his attention, and the administration press bureau has been too busy buying railroads and perfecting direct legislation to send out even a five-line bulletin telling that the budget increase is just 100 times that given in the biennial report of the State Controller.

Here are the totals of the last two State budgets: 1913, $18,057,628.79; 1915, $19,839,626.74. The difference is practically 10 per cent. and not "practically one-tenth of 1 per cent." as stated in line 2, page 64 of the biennial report of the State Controller.

Error flies on the wings of the morning, truth follows with leaden heels, is an adage of Athens in the days of Alexander. Error's speed has not lessened with the passing of the centuries, but truth will not set out on her track at all, not if she waits for the administration to give the word. The readers of the press that is not subsidized, will be advised of the true worth of these press agent statements of "Progressive economy:" but those who bind their faith to the "Progressive" press will continue to boast of the strict economy of the Johnson administration, which has only increased the State expense this year "practically one-tenth of 1 per cent." They know it because they read it in "my paper that don't lie."

BURNHAM COE ARRESTED.

Man Accused of Sending Threatening Letters to Merchant in Weed Where Several Fires Have Occurred.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—A warrant chargine fraudulent use of the mails was sworn out here today against Burnham L. Coe, who is in custody at Weed, Cal., by Chief Postoffice Inspector George A. Leonard. It is alleged that Coe wrote a letter to C. E. Evans at Weed demanding that $500 be placed at a designated point near there today and intimating that failure to do so would result in more fires at Weed.

Yard No. 3 of the Weed Lumber Company burned March 4, with a loss estimated at $300,000.

The entire town was threatened for a time.

THOMPSON FOUND DEAD.

Man Who Killed His Wife and an Employee, is Believed to Have Committed Suicide.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) March 15.—The body of Samuel Thompson, a prominent rancher of this county, who shot and killed his wife and Hugh Boyd, an employee, at the Thompson home near Lynnden last night, was found about half a mile from the house this morning. There was evidence which seemed to show that Thompson had killed himself with the shotgun with which he had slain the others, pulling the trigger with his foot.

A telephone operator at Custer, whom Mrs. Thompson was trying to call when she was shot, heard the words: "You will get a divorce, d—— you!" just as the gun was fired.

STATE TURNIP INSPECTOR.

BUREAU RECOMMENDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—Assemblyman McPherson's bill creating a State Commission Bureau designed to aid growers to market their produce cheaper than can be accomplished through private commission markets, was recommended for passage today by the Assembly Committee on Agriculture. The bill was amended by McPherson to conform with suggestions of the State Board of Control. Instead of a board of three commissioners, the bill now provides for only one commissioner at a salary of $5000.

The original appropriation to establish the bureau was reduced from $150,000 to $25,000. The bill was referred to the House Ways and Means Committee.

Assemblyman Avey's bill creating a new State Department of Agriculture, which will co-ordinate the various departments, commissions and bureaus now operating as independent units, will be given a public hearing by the Agriculture Committee late this week.

BENEFITS THE CHURCHES.

BILL REPORTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—The Assembly Constitutional Amendment Committee passed out favorably today Rominger's proposed amendment to permit churches to conduct entertainments, for which an admission is charged, and remain exempt from taxation. The Constitution now restricts church buildings under the Exemption Act to solely religious worship.

Arguments were advanced in committee that the law was too severe in this respect and worked a hardship on churches which attempt to solicit financial aid by means of entertainments. There also was objection in committee to the proposed amendment.

TIOGA ROAD AS A GIFT.

SOMEBODY HAS PRESENTED IT TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Highway Built by Eastern Cash to Reach a Mine that has Since been Abandoned is Acquired as a Result of the Efforts Now Making to Popularize Parks.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Stephen T. Mather, assistant to the Secretary of the Interior, who has been attending the conference of national park superintendents and supervisors here and at Berkeley, announced tonight that the Interior Department's efforts to popularize national parks in a "see-America-first" movement had resulted in the private purchase and donation to the government of the old Tioga road, running from Mono Lake, Cal., to Yosemite National Park.

The Tioga road, which is about thirty-five miles long, is said to afford views of some of the most beautiful scenery in the government park. It offers a much shorter route through the park for automobiles and makes possible several new trips in automobile tours north and south.

The old Tioga road was built in 1880 by eastern capital to reach a mine now abandoned. Mr. Mather was assisted in raising the funds for its purchase by Pacific Coast automobile clubs.

Don't Be Misled if You Have Tuberculosis

No specific has been discovered for Tuberculosis, but Eckman's Alterative has been successful in many cases. Read of this case:—

12 Thompson St., New York.

"Gentlemen:—Five years ago last August I was taken to St. Francis' Hospital to be treated for bronchitis and congested lungs. After several weeks' treatment I was advised by the doctor to go to a convalescent sanitarium, but could not be admitted because the doctor at the hospital, after a thorough examination, declared my case Tubercular, and gave me a certificate to that effect. I showed the certificate to Father Stark, and he advised me to take Eckman's Alterative. I took it faithfully, and soon found myself free from night sweats and fever. I have not taken the Alterative now for two years, and can truthfully say I am well. I feel better and am stronger than before my sickness."

(Abbreviated.)

(Affidavit) MARY KORHAMER.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size, $1; regular size, $2. Sold by leading druggists. Write for booklet of recoveries.

Dramatic Reviews

cook and the sprightly young headbaker.

Dr. Carver's horse again thrills Hip audiences with its dive.

A speedy, snappy musical number is presented by Bill Bailey and Ned Cowan. "The Banjoker and the Songster." The banjoker handles his instrument in a way to make your lips pucker in spite of you.

Calvin and Thornton sing and joke a little, but their shuffling is better than their patter. The scarecrow dance is their feature.

De Vere Brothers are two knockabout acrobatic comiques; Edwells, the mysterious trickster, does sleight-of-hand tricks, while he instructs the orchestra leader; Lenore Simonson and Victor Pinet are grand opera singers and three reels of movies close a good bill.

Mason.

"The Follies" is drawing as great as ever at the Mason. The fascinating and spectacular revue gets over with the zip of all the Ziegfeld "Follies," and Bert Williams, Vera Michelena, Leon Errol, Ed Wynne and the others are adding more to their laurels every day. The "Follies" will be followed by "Potash and Perlmutter," with Alex Carr, Barney Bernard and the original New York cast.

Republic.

Bert Levey's offering at his Main-street house this week bids fair to eclipse all attendance records. "Neptune's Daughter," starring Annette Kellerman, so far proves to be an even greater magnet than at the former presentation.

In conjunction with this attraction Manager Watson offers a vaudeville bill that spells "class" from start to finish. Especial mention is due McConnell and Austin in the break-away. Their "Study on Wheels" is a clean, mirth-provoking example of grace and skill. The lady in the act is a close competitor of Annette Kellerman as to a perfect figure.

Powers and Joyce needed no handicap with their quiet comedy and graceful soft-shoe dancing. Karl Karey, Kelly and Rowe and the De Rossi Duo complete the entertaining bill.

Mozart.

"California," with its countless beauty spots, is being pictured on the screen at the Mozart this week in seven scenic reels. The film has an unusual appeal not alone for the tourist in the city, but the Angeleno who would know his State.

From the Mexican line to the Oregon border, every bit of attractiveness has been crowded into the several hundred feet of film. The orange industry, olive-growing and packing, the lemon and grapefruit ranches are shown, while every scenic spot is well represented.

The Yosemite Valley is pictured in all its grandeur, the local beaches, the famous old Franciscan missions, the big trees, the ostrich, alligator and pigeon farms all appear pictorially. The State society picnics in Eastlake Park and Sycamore Grove are shown, the Native Sons' parades, and a score of other interesting functions. The opening of the Owens River aqueduct is perhaps one of the most interesting spectacles for Angelenos. Special nights for various societies and organizations are being arranged.

Tally's Broadway.

"The Caprices of Kitty," a delicious Elsie Janis comedy in five acts of motion pictures which afford this clever little actress numerous opportunities to display those rare charms of her's, began a week's engagement at Tally's Broadway Theater last night, and she charmed large and delighted audiences at every performance.

"The Caprices of Kitty" is a comedy romance written by Miss Janis herself. She is every bit as clever as she was on the stage, and the charm of her naturalness will win her thousands of admirers among photoplay audiences.

Woodley.

Mary Pickford is seen in a variety of different characters this week at the Woodley Theater. A creation of Manager Seth D. Perkins, "A Mary Pickford Revue," is being exhibited.

The revue shows the pictures in which "the darling of the movies" made her reputation. They were all produced under the direction of D. W. Griffith, and Miss Pickford is supported by an all-star cast.

Mack Sennett, now director of Keystone films; Blanche Sweet, now with the Lasky studios; the Gish sisters, Lottie Pickford of "House of Bondage" fame, and numerous others appear in the revue.

Quinn's Superba.

Robert Hilliard, the well-known actor, has created a splendid photo-drama in "The Avalanche," which is the attraction at Quinn's Superba this week. The picture features Catherine Countiss and her work in "The Avalanche" is without doubt one of the best bits of acting she has ever done.

The story of "The Avalanche" is a thrilling one. The main figure is John Malvin Grey, member of the New York Stock Exchange, and storm center of the affections of two beautiful women. Marrying one of them, he finds himself relentlessly pursued by the other, who meantime has married an aged money king, and who, by means of the unlimited fortune at her command, endeavors to bring about the financial ruin of Grey that she may offer to retrieve his wrecked fortunes and thus gain both his gratitude and his love.

Mr. Hilliard has made full use of the opportunities of this plot, and has produced a drama replete with tense situations and thrilling scenes. As an added feature, Quinn's Superba is offering this week an authentic picture of the Vanderbilt Cup race, which recently took place at San Francisco, in which several of the drivers nearly lost their lives.

Women's Clubs.

Amateur Players will enjoy a programme of readings by Mrs. Horace Wing and James Foley.

Tomorrow night a really notable affair is to be given under the auspices of the Players. The Misses Dorothy, Rosalind and Cynthia Fuller of Dorset, Eng., will appear at the Hancock Banning ballroom, Thirty-first and Hoover streets, in an interpretation of high-spirited songs of old England. These talented artists come highly recommended from the eastern centers, where they have repeatedly appeared before critical audiences, and are authoritive interpreters of their exquisite folk songs.

Guest Day.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in room 202 of Trinity Auditorium, will be celebrated guest day, at the Southern California Woman's Press Club. An especially attractive and entertaining programme has been arranged. Otheman Stevens is to be the principal speaker, his topic, "Experiences of a Newspaper Man." A large audience is expected, as Mr. Stevens has the reputation of being an original and interesting speaker.

Reports from the district convention at Long Beach will be given by the delegates.

After the programme tea will be served by Mrs. Fletcher Howard and others.

Reception-recital.

Mrs. Henry Putnam Flint and Mrs. Edwin James Vawter, Jr., have issued invitations for a reception - recital which will be a pleasant event of Friday evening, at Ebell Clubhouse. Miss Mabel Gertrude Channell and Miss Frances Lippincott Flint are the artists who will appear.

Mothers Make This Home Made Cough Syrup

The good, tender, thoughtful mother can make a full pint of the quickest acting, permanent result-giving cough syrup which can be used by the whole family for coughs and colds, thus preventing pneumonia, sore throat, diphtheria and other fatal maladies. Just obtain a concentrated fluid known as Essence Mentho-Laxene—a 3½ oz. bottle, and empty it into a pint jar or bottle. Then take a pint of granulated sugar and pour over it a half pint of boiling water; stir, cool and fill up the bottle with the syrup. Full directions for making and using are contained on each package. All good druggists sell it, or it can readily be obtained of their wholesaler. Thousands of families are using this because of its cheapness and thoroughness.

THE SAVER MAKES THE SPENDTHRIFT BREAKS

Makes, breaks what? Why everything desirable—stronger resolution, future comfort, permanent satisfaction, happiness for the wife and children, proper training and education for the children, which mean their life happiness and success; success for self, and independence in old age—all these are governed by the habit of saving or of spending. A man's habits in handling his income affect his life and the welfare of his family, both now and for the future; his children are served or compelled to suffer because of these habits.

Are your habits destructive or constructive? Which are you doing—making or breaking?

PUBLIC KEEPS OFF MARKET.

MODERATE REACTION OCCURS IN THE SPECIALTY LIST.

Price Changes are Narrow and Dealings Very Light—All Important Shares are Characterized by Firmness—More Gold Comes in from Canada.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—Extreme apathy characterized today's market session, dealings being very light, and the price movement unusually narrow. In the main, however, important shares reflected firmness, holdings fractionally over, last week's close. Specialties were again subjected to pool manipulation, but the utter failure to enlist public interest in these issues was followed by a moderate reaction.

The several markets for foreign exchange were comparatively dull. Remittances on London were inclined to harden until a large amount of commercial bills came into the market. Private sales of the new German war notes imparted a firmer tendency to marks. Conservative estimates of the amount of these taken by American investors range from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Another gold engagement of $2,500,000 from Canada was reported, and more of the metal is expected from the same source in the course of the week. Rumors of additional loans to foreign interests, including Brazil, were current.

Publication of the British order designed to restrict German commerce occasioned some comment, because of its possible effect on this country's foreign trade.

There were further infallible indications of a pause in western business, such as a decline in tonnage movements, and a falling off in purchases of general merchandise. Banks in the West are unusually strong in their reserve holdings, and no change from present easy rates is expected before the end of the first quarter of the year.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 129,500 shares. Bonds were irregular on more future selling, chiefly of Central Pacific firsts and Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific issues. Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,750,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

With the increasing arrival of butter grading up to the highest standard since the heavy rains, the market on creamery extras dropped yesterday to 22 cents, which means that the retail dealer can now buy butter of this grade for 25 to 28 cents, and that the consumer should not be paying above 30 cents at the outside. As a matter of fact, some of the butter producer-to-consumer stores in the downtown district are selling their product as low as 25 cents. Naturally the reduction of the best grade resulted in lower prices for other varieties. Receipts for the day were 44,640 pounds.

The market on eggs went up ¼ cent to 20 cents on case count, owing to the good demand. Receipts for Remedy Proposed.

HOW ONE GROWER WOULD SELL ORANGES FOR MORE.

Suggests Broadening of Scope of Exchange, Establishing of Depots in Large Cities with View to Bringing the Producer and Consumer in Closer Touch and Eliminating Competition of Brokers.

BY GEORGE R. STEWART,
An Orange Grower and Exchange Member.

IT IS quite easy to see why some products sell below a fair price or do not sell at all. Either they are inferior in quality or too great in quantity. As for instance, the apple crop of 1914 was greater than could be consumed, and for much of the citrus stock now in the nurseries there is no demand, and if sold at all, it must be at a very low price. Such conditions have been brought about by causes over which we appear to have no control, but which are only temporary and will cure themselves.

But how about the orange growers getting little or nothing for their product? Is it because the fruit is inferior? Surely not. Never has finer or better fruit gone east than our packing-houses are sending now.

Never was better or even as great attention paid to the picking and packing of oranges than is being done this season, special care being taken to send nothing but clean, sound and ripe fruit to the market. There can be no complaint from the buyers on this score, nor is there any.

NO OVER-PRODUCTION.

It is not because the fruit is poor or shipped in poor condition that it does not command a good price at auction in the East, neither is it because there is an over-production of fruit. All oranges sent east, or anywhere else for that matter, find ready sale. The markets take all. As many as forty carloads were sold in New York in one day and almost as many more the next day. Are these oranges bought by the brokers just for fun and then "dumped"? Not by any means. They sell all at their own price to the retailers, who in turn sell to the consumers at a large profit.

Last Monday twenty-eight cars of oranges were sold in New York at an average of about $1.80 per box, netting the grower at the packing-house thirty cents per box. It costs forty cents per box to raise oranges. So in the above instance the grower actually loses ten cents a box and gets no interest on his investment.

These oranges will be sold to consumers at an average of $4.50 per box, perhaps more. The broker and retailer receive $2.70 per box for a little time and trouble while the grower, for a year's work, gets only thirty cents. If conditions were every season as they now are, we growers would soon find some other use for our land. But happily present conditions are not normal. Usually the orange business pays fairly well and, in many instances, handsomely. Let us not be discouraged.

METHODS OF SELLING.

In the early days of the citrus industry in California, before the California Fruit Exchange was organized, oranges were sold through commission houses. For a while that method was satisfactory, the grower receiving a small profit. But this was not long continued. Conditions grew worse and worse until finally the returns showed loss instead of profit. There seems to have been no accounting for the change except that the commission men were unfaithful to their clients or up against a demoralized market.

It was evident to all the growers that something else would have to be done. Some other method employed to market their fruit or the orchards would have to be cut down. Individually the growers were helpless, so they decided to abandon the commission men and to organize a selling company known as "The California Fruit Growers Exchange" and market their own fruit through it. The policy of this organization was, and still is, to sell through the auctions in eastern cities. This plan has for the most part worked successfully, but recently it is not bringing the returns it should. Something is wrong, but just what and how to remedy no one seems to know. Some think the brokers are browbeating the market and keeping down the auction prices. The brokers know that the fruit in New York must be sold—cannot be held—and taking advantage of that fact they may agree to fix among themselves the price at which the fruit shall sell. And if that is true in the New York market it may also be true in all cities where fruit is sold at auction.

Be that as it may, we know they pay very little for oranges at the auction market and the retailer gets a fine price from the consumer, and, as shown above, the broker and retailer between them get nine times as much as the grower gets.

The virtue of our present system is being sapped from year to year and to some it seems clear it must be abandoned and some new plan adopted to take its place.

REMEDY PROPOSED.

To cure the evil several plans have been suggested. Some would advise selling all the oranges at auction here in Los Angeles. There are some advantages to be seen in this plan. It would save the expense of all eastern agents, loss in transit and yield more prompt returns.

I believe if we had the grit to stand back of that plan it would work all right for a while, but sooner or later we would fall into the hands of the buyers, upon whom we would be wholly dependent.

If we make any change let it be towards independence. Others would have us establish a chain of stores and sell to the consumer, as do the Standard Oil, big tobacco firms and others. This seems too great a step and would involve both time and money.

For my part, I would rather retain our organization as it is, and in place of selling through city auctions, establish depots in all large cities and sell all our fruit from them. The expense of additional agents (which need be very few, as I will show,) employees and storage depots, will be much more than met by the larger returns from our fruit, and the saving of auction charges, even though we did not charge the retailer any more than he now pays.

It would be our privilege to do as the broker now does—set a price on our product which could be changed as the market demanded. We would not be helpless as we now are and have to sell at a price fixed by the buyer.

The objection made to the above plan by Mr. Powell, manager of the exchange, is that it will be too expensive to operate. He says we would not only need an agent at the center of the district, but many sub-agents to keep drumming up the retailers all over the district, just like the brokers now do. In this I think he is mistaken.

BROKERS COMPETE.

Why do brokers send out agents to see the retailers? Because brokers are competitors, and every broker wants to get as many of the retailers to buy from him as he can and not from the other fellow. And, again, brokers need to recommend their goods, which are legion, and some of them being new, must be personally recommended to the buyer or he would never buy them.

The exchange would have no competitors. If this system should once get under way so many of the growers now outside the exchange would flock into it that there would be no fruit for a competitor with which he could build up a trade.

It would be the duty and necessary for the central agent to acquaint the retail dealers in his district that oranges could be had at his depot and every retailer should be kept in touch with and notified every week by postal card or otherwise, by mail, as to prices, delivery, etc. This would be a small expense. As to drayage, I would follow ordinary rule. To show how this plan would work out, even though the district should be 100 miles or more from center to circumference, I will cite an instance. The town in which I lived in Pennsylvania was located seventy-five miles from Pittsburgh and 150 miles from Baltimore. When our groceryman wanted a tub of oysters or a barrel of sweet potatoes, he wired to Baltimore for them and they were set down at his door the following morning. If he wanted oranges he 'phoned to Pittsburgh and oranges were promptly delivered. Distance had very little to do with it. He might have gotten his oranges about as conveniently from Chicago, 600 miles west.

All the retailer wants to know is where he can buy and at what price. He would rather never see an agent. We don't need agents, in my opinion, to work up a trade in oranges. Every town, village and cross roads in the country wants oranges and they will get them. I would like to emphasize what I said in a former article, that it is not because of poor markets when oranges are being sold to consumers, that we get so little for our fruit. Neither is it because of hard times. To these causes several persons who spoke at the exchange attributed our trouble. If one will only stop for a moment to think, he will see that all our fruit finds a ready retail market at a fair price. The consumer is buying it all and paying as much for it as we could wish. Why should we complain? If this is the case, then why should we spend our money and energy trying to broaden the market and multiply the number of consumers, when there is nothing left for them to consume? I can see no trouble except somewhere between the grower and the consumer. The grower is all right; the consumer is all right. What's wrong? And how can we right the wrong?

LONDON STOCK MARKET AFFECTED BY THE WAR.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, March 5.—With the view of determining the extent and character of German trading and financial operations in England, a committee was formed some weeks ago under the chairmanship of Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer of the last Conservative government. Through information gathered confidentially, certain regulations already have been adopted which restricted the activities of the Germans in the money and other markets.

The financial district is interested in the number of transactions in German, Austrian and Hungarian bonds on the Stock Exchange daily. One explanation is that as the quotation for German 3, per cent. bonds in Berlin is 70, international houses are selling them in Berlin and buying here at 54, leaving the balance in Germany till after the war when the exchange rate rights itself.

Following is the decline on the London market since the outbreak of hostilities, in bonds of nations with which Great Britain is at war:

Austria 4½s, 91 to 61, or 32.9 per cent.; German 3s, 74 to 54, or 27 per cent; Hungarian 4½s, 79½ to 57, or 28.3 per cent.; Prussian 3½s, 83 to 59, or 28.9 per cent.

THE FLAXSEED MARKET.
MINNEAPOLIS QUOTATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MINNEAPOLIS, March 15.—Flaxseed market for today was as follows: Buyers reduced their comparative bids on account of the sharp advance in the futures. No. 1 seed sold at 1@5 cents under Duluth May price for spot and to arrive. No. 1 seed closed at 2.02@2.06 for spot, and 2.02@2.05½ to arrive. At Duluth flaxseed went up in big chunks on scrambling for it by crushers, and because of light supplies available. May flax closed 5 up, July 5½ up, and September 5¾ up.

DULUTH QUOTATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DULUTH, March 15.—Flaxseed continued its advance with crushers scrambling for supplies from the outset today, the light elevator stock available and expectations that seeding of flax will show an enormous increase this spring has brought about a bullish situation in the market. Today's market: May, opening, 2.02 bid; high, 2.07; low, 2.02 bid; close, 2.07; close yesterday, 2.02 bid; close year ago, 1.40 bid. July, opening, 2.05; high, 2.09; low, 2.05; close, 2.09 bid; close yesterday, 2.03½ bid; close year ago, 1.63¾. September, opening, 2.02½; high, 2.07; low, 2.02½; close, 2.07; close yesterday, 2.02¼.

FORM NEW CHAMBER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, March 15.—The old Santa Monica Bay Chamber of Commerce died today, and in its stead was born the new Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce with a board of directors from the amusement district of this city. G. M. Jones, one of the most heavily interested men on the beach, was made one of the board of directors, and he will probably accept the honor of being its first president. The board includes R. J. Peck, C. J. Lick, Les Henry, E. W. Arnold, J. A. Morton, P. J. Dudley, Dr. H. W. Levengood, S. D. Weil, A. L. Manahan and J. W. Hughes. The election of officers will be held Friday evening.

Motion Picture Progress as Displayed by Opening of Splendid Studios Causes Renewed Financial Interest in the "Aladdin's Lamp," of the Twentieth Century.

Among the thousands who are attending the public opening of Southern California's magnificent new studios are many who desire information of the newest great industry.

This desire for information has caused the Major Film Manufacturing Company to inaugurate a series of unique excursions to their one hundred acre studio site in beautiful Laurel Canyon. Amid these charming surroundings the guests of the newest big organization for the production and sale of Motion Pictures will be told the truth about the film industry. They will be given an insight into the future as seen by well-known film authorities. Guests will be invited to inspect and investigate the purpose and property of the Major Film Manufacturing Company with the view of taking an ownership in the project. However, this latter consideration is not the prime factor in the conducting of these excursions of education. It is the desire of the officials that all should become acquainted with the remarkable opportunities afforded investors at this time when the entire film industry is on the verge of a reformation. Automobiles leave from 308 Security Bldg., Broadway at 10:30 a.m.

Blood Troubles Can not Remain If Properly Treated.

There is in S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, a property that absolutely compels harmful influences to distinguish and lose their identity. No matter what they are called nor how destructive they are there is in S. S. S. a powerful, searching counter influence to annihilate the most eruptive germ, cause the mucous linings to convert it into an inert substance that is quickly thrown out of the blood and out of the body by the skin, lungs, kidneys, bowels, and destroyed in the liver. There is not a single advance in medicine today that in any sense is an improvement over S. S. S. Surgery is a wonderful, masterful science, but when it comes to purifying the blood S. S. S. stands alone. Thousands of doctors have prescribed it. Their patients do not always know it is S. S. S., because they leave the treatment to the doctor implicitly. But fair-minded doctors long ago realized that in the vegetable nature of S. S. S. were certain ingredients that to the blood in sickness were just as essential as the food-building elements of the grains, meats, fats and sugars of our daily food. The average doctor is humane and of trained intelligence. He has seen the recoveries from worst cases of blood trouble by the use of S. S. S. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Accept no substitute. And if you wish proper advice on any form of blood trouble, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 102 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is worth while doing so.

ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS FOR ALL PAIN

"The efficiency of any drug" says Dr. C. P. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all diseases is pain, and this is what the patient most often applies to us for, i. e. something to relieve his pain. If we can arrest this promptly, the patient is most liable to trust us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-kamnia Tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have put them to the test on many occasions, and have never been disappointed. I found them especially valuable for headaches of malarial origin, where quinine was being taken. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Anti-kamnia Tablets are also excellent for the headaches from improper digestion; also for headaches of a neuralgic origin, and especially for women subject to pains at certain times. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets give prompt relief, and in a short time the patient is able to go about as usual." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

RELAX RULE FOR SOCIAL CLUBS.

MINORS MAY VISIT PORTIONS THAT ARE KEPT "DRY."

This Much Conceded by Public Welfare Committee of Council, but It Stands Pat on All Other Regulatory Provisions for Organizations Holding Liquor Permits.

Because of the vigorous protest made by the Los Angeles Athletic Club against the rules for the regulation of social clubs holding liquor permits, the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council decided yesterday to recommend a modification in regard to minors at such clubs. There were other points of issue raised, but on only this one point will there be any letting down of the bars. On all other phases of the rules recently approved by the Council the committee will stand pat.

The particular rule to be changed provides:

"No minors shall be eligible to membership in any social club, and under no circumstances shall any minor be permitted in any portion of the quarters of said club wherein liquors may be served to its members."

The protesting club sets forth that it has a large membership of minors, from seven years upwards, who are given physical training and make daily use of the gymnasium and baths, and that the application of this rule would work a serious hardship on the organization.

This the committee is willing to concede and yesterday it recommended that a change be made, whereby minors may be allowed membership and may frequent such portions of the club headquarters wherein liquors are not sold or served.

The Athletic Club also protested against the rule that reads:

"All liquor sold shall be consumed on the premises, and no liquor shall be taken away from the premises at any time."

The club declares that many of its members order liquors and cigars sent to their homes, and that the enforcement of this rule would cause a "great hardship"—to which the Council Committee replies "Bosh!"

Other rules for the regulation of the social clubs holding liquor permits include the provisions that every social club shall serve at least two bona fide meals per day to any of its members wishing or desiring the same; that they must provide reading and lounging quarters, fully equipped with tables, desks, chairs and reading matter, wherein members may at all times have the privilege of meeting for social intercourse; that every club must have a register for visitors and each and every person visiting the club shall register his name and his address; that visiting cards can be issued only to non-resident visitors; that every social club shall have at least one pool table; that gambling shall be absolutely prohibited, and that dice-shaking shall be prohibited in any portion of the clubrooms.

NO PROTESTS.

LIBRARY SITE ASSESSMENT.

The time for filing protests against the assessment for acquiring land at Santa Monica boulevard and Madison avenue for a branch public library site will, close next Saturday. So far, no protests have been filed. The total sum to be raised is $7916.15, and this is spread upon 2885 parcels of land.

The building to be erected on this site will be from funds donated by Andrew Carnegie for the erection of a series of branch libraries throughout the city. Two of these are now in use. Proceedings have been practically completed for others at First and Chicago streets, Boyle Heights, and at Fifty-fifth street and Central avenue.

MAY DAY PLANS.

INTER-PLAYGROUND DOINGS.

Supt. Raitt of the public playgrounds is busy preparing plans for an inter-playground celebration of May Day at the Hazard Playground. All eight of the municipal playgrounds will join in this event, which will be the most elaborate the playground department has yet undertaken.

Because of the municipal events that are to occur on that date this celebration will occur either on the Saturday before or the Saturday following the first of May, probably on May 8.

Because of the entangled conditions in European nations, and no prospect for any outcome for a long time ahead, the playground commission has practically given over any further attempt to secure the international Olympic games for 1916.

FOR SUMMER CAMP.

TO BUILD TWENTY CABINS.

Requisitions were filed with the purchasing department of the city yesterday by the playground commission for material with which to construct twenty cabins at the municipal summer camp on Seeley Flat, in the San Bernardino Mountains. These cabins will have board floors, wainscotting and shingle roofs, with portions of the sides canvassed. Numerous improvements are to be made at the camp before the opening of the season, and it will be more attractive than ever. Then commission had hoped to be able to erect a general assembly hall, for use on cool nights, but will have to content itself with the open campfire, amidst the big pines, because of shortage of funds, unless a donation is made for the hall.

AUTHORIZED

BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

Los Angeles must again go through the agony of charter making. The City Council yesterday formally adopted the resolution, declaring its intention to call an election for the selection of a board of freeholders for this purpose, as provided for in the charter.

Candidates for membership on this board may now take out their nominating petitions, the same as other municipal candidates. They will be voted upon at the primaries, and the thirty receiving the highest number of votes will go on the ticket at the general election, at which time the board of fifteen members will be elected.

READY TO START

LOWERING TUNNEL FLOOR.

The long anticipated lowering of the floor to the Broadway tunnel is at hand. Lynn S. Atkinson, the contractor, notified the Board of Public Works yesterday that he is prepared to start at once on this work. The contract provides that the work must be started before March 29.

Mr. Atkinson wants to place a steam shovel on the work at once, but finds that inside the tunnel are located the mains of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Economic Gas Company, and the Home Telephone lines, while outside the tunnel, on streets that must be excavated to meet the new grade, are these public utilities and the city sewers and water mains. The Board of Public Works yesterday instructed the City Engineer to issue orders for their immediate removal. The tunnel will be closed within a few days to public traffic, and the blockade will be in force until the leveling of the floor is completed.

Cows May Remain.

Petitions have been before the City Council for the extension of the cow limits so as to include the territory lying between Vermont avenue, Crenshaw boulevard, Adams and Pico streets. The Public Welfare Committee had the petitioners before it yesterday, but there were also presented protests against the inclusion of this territory within the limits of a greater number of signatures that the committee decided the cows may remain for the present.

Tree-Planting Plans.

The City Council, Park Commission and others who are especially interested in the plan for extensive tree planting on city streets and highways leading directly into the city will go on an inspection trip tomorrow afternoon to view the streets proposed for such adornment in a tree-planting plan recently submitted by Meyer Lissner.

MUNICIPADOGRAMS.

DAY'S LESSER DOINGS.

Three more candidates for city offices took out their petitions yesterday. They were W. A. Roberts, incumbent, for City Council; W. G. Finch of No. 210 West Twenty-second street, for Council, and Ida I. Bellows of No. 1422 Gramercy place, for member of the Board of Education.

The City Council yesterday granted the request of the Fire Commission for the transfer of $1650 from the salary to the outlay fund for the purchase of additional fire apparatus.

The City Engineer was instructed by the Council yesterday to withhold the presentation of any ordinances of intention for the improvement of Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth streets from Gaffey to Meyler streets, San Pedro, until January 1, 1916, and to include at such time sanitary sewers where they have not already been constructed.

The Council yesterday set 9 o'clock of Wednesday, March 24, as the time for hearing protests against the proposed improvement of Western avenue, from Wilshire boulevard to Washington street, and against the proposed improvement of Thirty-fifth street, from Grand avenue to Hope street.

The assessment for the opening and widening of Sunset boulevard, from Fountain avenue to Hollywood boulevard, was confirmed by the City Council yesterday.

The Board of Public Works will advertise for bids on a "rubbish salvage" concession. The specifications were submitted to the board yesterday by the City Engineer. This concession will give the holders first opportunity to garner from the noncombustible rubbish all usable articles, tin cans for solder, bottles, etc.

Charles Gyger of No. 172 East Thirty-sixth place has petitioned the City Council to make it a penal offense for agents or solicitors to ring door bells at residences where the sign "No agents" is posted. The Public Welfare Committee yesterday filed the petition.

The Public Welfare Committee yesterday recommended that lunch wagons be prohibited on Third street from the west portal of the tunnel to Figueroa street.

The Board of Supervisors notified the Council yesterday that it has received the formal consent of the Federal authorities to maintain a public road through the northwestern portion of the military reservation at San Pedro. This road is an extension of Pacific avenue.

COUNTER-CHARGE THEIR ANSWER.

COMPANY SAYS PLAINTIFF IS SEEKING TO HARASS ITS AFFAIRS.

The return of George E. Yarnell, secretary; Adolph Schleicher, president, and the Federal Mortgage and Bond Company to the alternative writ of mandate asked for by W. F. Poor, a stockholder of the corporation, was filed yesterday by W. J. Ford, counsel for the corporation and one of the defendants, alleging on information and belief that Mr. Poor's purpose in obtaining a copy of the list of stockholders and their addresses is to injure and harass the Federal company in its business and affairs.

Mr. Poor complained that he was refused a copy of this list and the addresses and made other sensational charges. The defendants say he was never refused permission to inspect a list of stockholders or to take a copy of it. A complete record is kept by the corporation which is open to inspection by any director, member, stockholder or creditor.

His allegation that the corporation keeps such a record as he alleged is denied, but it is set out that the board of directors caused to be compiled for their own use such a list more or less correct, but not as a record of the corporation. Mr. Poor was refused permission to inspect this list "for the reason on information and belief, that plaintiff desires the list for no purpose beneficiary to the corporation but, on the contrary, for the purpose of injuring and harassing the corporation in its business and affairs and for the purpose of sending out to the stockholders of said corporation certain false, malicious, scandalous and libelous letters and papers concerning said corporation and the defendants herein."

It is further alleged on information and belief that Mr. Poor "has heretofore conspired with one H. R. Taylor and C. A. Mittleberger to send, and in furtherance of said conspiracy has sent certain false, malicious, scandalous and libelous letters of and concerning said corporation and their officers to some of the stockholders thereof with the intent and purpose on their part to injure said corporation, stockholders and directors."

The refusal on the part of the defendants is for the protection, it is alleged, of the Federal Mortgage and Bond Company and its stockholders. The defendants' demurrer to the complaint was argued before Judge Shenk by Mr. Ford yesterday and submitted.

FIRST ROUND IS LOST TO HER.

SUES DE BAKER ESTATE HEIRS ON MILLION CLAIM.

Grand-niece of Wealthy Woman and Her Companion in Late Years Seeks Share of Laguna Ranch on Promise Basis—Defendants Carry Demurrer Point.

Ysidora Scott Kurtz, grand niece of Arcadia B. de Baker, who brought suit against the De Baker heirs, lost the first round in her fight to obtain 750 acres of the Laguna ranch, worth approximately $1,000,000, when Judge Myers yesterday sustained the demurrer to her complaint with leave to amend. The basis for this claim is a verbal promise made by Mrs. De Baker that if she would become her companion she would give her part of the Laguna ranch.

Attorneys Hunsaker and Macdonald, counsel for the De Baker heirs, contended that there was not adequate consideration for this valuable gift and that the complaint did not state a cause of action. The court took this view.

Mrs. Kurtz in 1894 resided with her parents in San Diego. She sets out in her complaint that her father, Chalmers Scott, ranked as colonel on the staff of Gov. Irwin. Both Colonel and Mrs. Scott, she says, moved in military circles and the best society. There were seven in the family. Miss Ysidora studied music and art. As she grew into young womanhood she became an adept at tennis and an expert horsewoman. She became a member of a leading tennis club and was a favorite of the younger social set.

At 18 years of age Miss Scott gave up this life of pleasure to become companion to Mrs. De Baker. Her mother was a sister of Mrs. De Baker and when the latter visited her home and urged her to come to Los Angeles because her wealthy grand aunt lived only with a servant in the Baker Block, Miss Scott consented and for three years, she says, she was as a daughter to her.

Miss Scott resided with Mrs. De Baker until her marriage, December 8, 1897. Mrs. De Baker died without a will, and the De Baker and Bandini heirs had a lively scrap in the Probate Court to determine whether she was the widow of Abel Sterns, the first husband, or of Col. R. S. Baker. The court decided she was the widow of Col. Baker. The De Baker heirs succeeded to the estate. Mrs. Kurtz is of the Bandini branch and she filed suit for her legacy through Attorney R. L. Horton.

UNWELCOME ADVICE.

LETTERS TO COURT INSULTING.

Mrs. M. W. McDaniel of No. 2103½ South Main street learned yesterday that courts do not take kindly to unasked-for advice. Furthermore, that when this advice concerns the handling of court actions it is regarded as insulting. She was rebuked by Judge Monroe, who said he did not intend to fine her, but that he wanted to inform her that the people expect judges to be fair and impartial and to decide cases on the evidence submitted before them.

"I am constantly getting letters about cases in divorce department," said the court. "Many of them are anonymous, and those I destroy. Others I file with the cases they refer to. If there is another case of this kind," he warned Mrs. McDaniel, "it will not be treated so leniently."

The letter in part to which the court took exception was couched in the following language:

"Here I am again to bother you and I don't want you to get mad and scold me, but I can't keep still when I hear that Dr. Parker is scheming to leave Mrs. Parker without support. He told untruths in the other trial and he will do so again. Mrs. Parker isn't able to do one thing towards a living. There isn't anything she can do; besides, she is a physical wreck, is 54 years old, and has had five severe operations performed. She is a good, industrious woman, as all her neighbors can testify. While Dr. Parker can keep up such an expensive office and have a fine automobile, why can't he cut on that instead of her?"

The Dr. Parker referred to is Dr. Francis M. Parker, a dentist, whose wife, Mrs. Wille O. Parker, is asking for alimony. A week ago he was brought into court to explain why he had not paid his wife the monthly sum ordered by the court.

STARTS FIGHT.

"REV." OSCAR HAAS.

"Rev." Oscar Haas, who was convicted a week ago by a jury in Judge Houser's court for obtaining money under false representations, made a fight yesterday by attacking the complaint on which he was arrested and tried. Judge Houser denied his motion for a new trial, argued by Attorney Paul Schenck, and then heard Mr. Schenck's argument for an arrest of judgment. He charged that the testimony was not sufficient to support the verdict of the jury and that the jurors were swayed by things other than the evidence produced.

Deputy District Attorney Keetch, who prosecuted Mr. Haas, asked for time in which to reply to Mr. Schenck's argument, and the matter was continued until Friday morning.

During the argument Mr. Haas sat with his hand in the hand of his wife. If the attack on the complaint is not sustained, his maximum punishment for alleged fleecing Mrs. Pearl Flynn is ten years.

OFF TO JAIL.

TO CONSIDER MARRIAGE.

Scott Johnson, a foreman of plumbers, who has also boxed on the side, was taken to the County Jail yesterday because he had failed to comply with an order of Judge Monroe to pay his wife $10 a week for six weeks. Mr. Johnson, meantime, will turn over in his mind whether or not he will marry Mrs. Johnson, who seems to have married him before she obtained a final decree from a former husband.

Mrs. Johnson filed a suit for separate maintenance, and Mr. Johnson asked for an annulment. A child was born of their alliance, and for the sake of the child the court told Mr. Johnson that he ought to marry Mrs. Johnson. The latter admitted that she had gone to Yuma and married Mr. Johnson after having consulted an attorney to know if it was legal.

This brought a rebuke from the court, who said he was surprised to know there was a member of the bar who would give that kind of advice. This advice, it seemed, consisted of quotations from statutes bearing on residence, and did not bind the woman to a marriage in another State while intending to make her home in California.

REPORT CONFIRMED.

LUMMIS-DE KALB SUIT.

The partition suit of Mrs. Eva F. de Kalb against Charles F. Lummis, her former husband, came before Judge Hewitt yesterday on a motion to confirm the report of the referees. The court discovered that the parties to the suit could not agree on the division of the property, and he confirmed the report.

The referees were Prof. Hector Alliot, president of the Southwestern Museum of Archeology, named by Mr. Lummis; W. F. Jeffries of the W. F. Jeffries Company, named by Mrs. De Kalb, and Robert M. Allen, appointed by the court. They gave Mrs. De Kalb five lots and Mr. Lummis the Lummis home place, which is destined at the death of Mr. Lummis for the Southwestern Museum.

Mr. Lummis was fourteen years in building his home on the Arroyo Seco. Many sentimental features are embodied in it. A great padlock guards the front door, which is not to be opened until the house is completed and dedicated. The ashes of his younger son repose over the mantel place.

The boulders which compose the building were taken from the Arroyo by hand and hauled on an Indian sled.

FRAUD CHARGES.

IN THE CHAMBERS CASE?

Mrs. Rosslyn Chambers, the divorced wife of Dr. James C. Chambers, is fighting in Judge Taft's court for $100 a month from him for the support of their infant son, Jimmy, who has been the leading actor in the domestic difficulties of this family for months.

Dr. Chambers opposes the demand and points to an agreement they signed under which Mrs. Chambers received property worth $16,000 and was to maintain Jimmy until he reached 15 years of age.

During the trial yesterday it was intimated by Mrs. Chambers's counsel that he proposed to attack the divorce decree obtained by Dr. Chambers at Goldfield on the ground of fraud and also the agreement. This may be done in later proceedings. Mrs. Chambers has sold her property and is receiving, in addition to some cash, $50 a month in payments. The court took the matter under submission.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

TRIES NEW WAY. Defeated in har endeavor to obtain in the alimony court yesterday an order similar to the one granted her in New York, Mrs. Theodore Roberts instructed Attorney Pacht to push a suit against Theodore Roberts, the actor, to collect arrparages of alimony now said to be two years old. In denying her motion for an order Judge Monroe declared that he had no power to grant temporary alimony on a judgment in another State.

SEEK REDUCTION. A motion to retax costs in the sensational Armfield-Howard breach-of-promise suit, recently tried before a jury in Judge Wilbur's court, was filed by former Judges Britt and Vermilyea, counsel for Bryant Howard, yesterday. They ask that they be reduced $362.10. Owing to the discovery of new evidence, a motion for a new trial was filed.

HALTS DIVORCE FOR TESTIMONY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 15.—The statement of a servant, Miss Margaret Covington, given as testimony today halted the divorce suit filed by Attorney H. H. Chase against his wife, Myrtle Chase. Miss Covington declared that Mrs. Chase is still living with her husband and Judge J. W. Curtis ordered a continuance of four weeks at the end of which time Mrs. Chase must appear in court.

The court urged that meanwhile Chase make every possible effort for a complete reconciliation.

The filing of the action in court two weeks ago caused a considerable riffle of comment on the surface of society. Mrs. Louise Bodkin, a nurse, testified that at one time the wife hurled a chair at her husband and the latter did not retaliate.

A week ago the case was halted when Chase attempted to put his two children on the stand, refusing to [illegible]
